GET NORTHWEST HWY. PLAN

Some Parking Will Be Lost

A state proposal to resurface and improve Northwest Highway through Arlington Heights got the verbal nods from the Arlington Heights village board Monday, though the price may be six of the downtown area's valued parking stalls.

Representatives of the Illinois Highway Department submitted a standard resolution setting forth conditions under which the improvement would be carried forth. One of the conditions was prohibition of parking.

But Al Sifrer, one of three state engineers who appeared before the board, was quick to explain he would accept a compromise between no parking and the diagonal parking which now exists on a single block between Dunton and Evergreen avenues.

He said it is unrealistic to expect total prohibition of parking along the length of the proposed improvement, which runs not only through Arlington Heights but also through Des Plaines and Mount Prospect.

INSTEAD, THE state is willing to accept parallel parking where it is clearly removed from traffic lanes existing or to be completed in the improvement.

In addition to resurfacing, the state work would provide left turn bays at Arlington Heights Road, Wilke Road and Euclid Avenue through the village.

Another turn bay was originally included in the state plans for Evergreen Avenue, but Sifrer accepted traffic surveys prepared by Village Engineer Norman Toberman as proof that there is no present need.

Had the Evergreen turn lanes been included in plans, all parking in the Evergreen-Dunton block would have had to be removed.

AS THE PROPOSAL stood, with compromise, merchants whose shops face the block of metered diagonal parking — 18 spaces — registered their complaints that a change to parallel parking with resulting decrease of six spaces would decrease their business volume.

Sifrer said the primary reason for requesting the change from diagonal to parallel parking was safety, since diagonally parked cars would be required to pull out backwards into a moving traffic lane to leave the spaces.

But the merchants insisted that the difficulty of parallel parking would cause more of a traffic hindrance in the block than the existing diagonal use, adding that turnover is faster when less time need be spent parking.

Sifrer then clarified at the request of board members that his opposition to diagonal parking was unalterable, and that he would recommend rejection of the entire project if the village would not agree to the parallel parking.

VILLAGE PRES. John G. Woods asked if an exception could be made of the single block involved, but the engineers pointed out that both Mount Prospect and Des Plaines have considerable diagonal parking.

Trustees William Moore and Bud Beacham both stated they did not feel the removal of six parking places was an issue worth putting the whole project in jeopardy.

The state proposal was supported by Toberman, who described it as an experimental plan far superior to normal maintenace work.

"They're going to give us something which will make this highway livable for the next 15 years or so," he said. "With only resurfacing, we're going to be rushed in five years."

TOBERMAN also explained, as did Sifrer, that the eventual alternate to state improvement of the highway would be federal improvement, and that under the federal system lanes would be wider and parking would be prohibited entirely.

Sifrer said plans for the entire stretch from River Road to Rohlwing Road have been completed, and that they would be sent out for letting of contracts as soon as villages agree to the conditions.

He added that, if one or more villages refuse to agree, a reaction which appears likely from Mount Prospect, other sections could be separated and proceed on schedule.

The plans and requested resolution were referred to the board's public safety committee for study and a report back at the next regular meeting, but each board member left no doubt that he favored the proposal.

The question to be answered is whether the state engineers or higher officials would allow a single block of diagonal parking to remain.

PARKING IN jeopardy along Northwest Highway between Dunton and Evergreen avenues yields convenience to shoppers and merchants, but state engineers claim difficulty in backing out into traffic lanes justifies change to parallel parking or none at all. (Staff Photo)

'Downtown' Law Drafted

Draft of a central business district zoning ordinance for Arlington Heights was deferred for study by the village board Monday, though the majority was in favor of pasing it on to the plan commission for hearings.

Village Atty. Jack Siegel had prepared the ordinance at the request of the board to get something on the village books in case a development proposal should come up before extensive planning and committee work were completed.

Given two weeks, he produced a two-page ordinance setting maximum height of buildings at 90 feet, and providing for office, apartment, commercial or hotel use in the central district.

Also in the proposed ordinance, lot area requirements for apartments have been put on a sliding scale according to the number of bedrooms—varying from 450 square feet per efficiency unit to 1,500 square feet for a three-bedroom unit.

Deferral was forced by Trustees Bud Beacham and John White, making the two votes necessary under the board's rules of order. Beacham explained that he would not send out for hearings anything he had not read.

Siegel passed out the proposed ordinance in the latter part of Monday's meeting as the matter was being brought up.

VILLAGE PRES. John G. Woods and Trustee Jack Walsh both reasoned that the ordinance must come back to the board anyway after plan commission hearings and that a week could be saved in the adoption schedule by sending it to the planners immediately.

Norval Stephens added that the special downtown apartment committee composed of trustees and plan commission members would be coming up with its own recommendations soon, and the committee could act also as a channel of thought between the two bodies on the new ordinance.

Siegel emphasized when he undertook the draft that it would be subject to revision based on the accumulated knowledge of several committees working on the downtown problem, though their results are not firmed yet.

The apartment committee had been discussing six to eight stories as a maximum building height, and a generally larger lot area per dwelling unit for apartments.

Industrial Park Annexed As Zoning Details Agreed

All but the formalities and the first industry were wound up Monday in estiblishment of Arlington Heights' first industrial park.

In a matter of minutes the village board voted to approve more than 20 amendments to the M-1A zoning ordinance under which the 400-acre park is to be developed.

With those aside, the board took only a few more minutes to approve an annexation agreement with Kenroy, Inc., Realtors developing the property and to annex the area.

Both the zoning amendments and the annexation agreement had been the subject of several previous formal and informal board meetings.

Biggest impasse had been a section of the annexation agreement designed to assure adequate supply of water to users in the industrial area.

AFTER struggling to reach agreement on language to be used in the section, both Kenroy and the village agreed to "go on the good faith of the village."

Trustee Bud Beacham, presenting the committee report which proposed dropping the entire section, said, "There has not been a case in the history of the village in which it was not far ahead of water needs. I suggest we let the record stand."

Another provision on water storage facilities to be provided by heavy users was deleted from the agreement to be handled through an addition to the village building code.

The agreement generally covers responsibility and standards for improvements such as streets, sewers, sidewalks, lighting and utilities during development of the park.

OTHER SECTIONS had been approved in rough form at previous hearings.

Single addition made Monday was that, though applicability of existing zoning ordinances is guaranteed in the agreement, performance standards may be amended and uses denied which prove to be nuisances.

In approved amendments to the M-1A class, now titled research, development and manufacturing district, several requirements were dropped which would have tended to limit the district simply to research and development.

Among them was a provision that not more than 50 per cent of the area could be devoted strictly to manufacturing. The zoning class as amended would allow manufacturing use throughout.

BUSINESS USES were liberalized to include cocktail lounges, and a section rephrased to provide for their establishment at any point on an acre of ground fronting on a primary or secondary thoroughfare.

The primary thoroughfare under consideration within the park is Dundee Road, and the secondary a proposed extension of Kennicott Avenue. The new annexation includes land from Wilke to Arlington Heights Roads, north from old village limits to Dundee Road.

A 79-acre section stretches north of Dundee at Wilke. Buffalo Grove officials had protested that the annexation would jeopardise the smaller village's orderly development, but none was present at the annexation.

THE MAJORITY of other amendments to the zoning class involved either expanded uses for the area or clarification of confusing wordage which had slipped through when the zone was originally established.

The annexation agreement must be signed by all parties to the development before it becomes official, and amendments to the zoning class must be put into ordinance form for passage next week.

Ken Tucker, president of Kenroy, Inc., has indicated plans to begin subdivision of the industrial area immediately, though no occupants have been announced.

Elks Club Is Looted

The Arlington Heights Elks Club, 2323 N. Wilke Rd., was looted overnight Sunday of change, cigarettes, a large quantity of liquor, and a television set.

According to police report, the building's front door and several interior doors and almost every room in the club was ransacked.

Three white men and a Negro were charged with aggravated battery last week after police were called late Wednesday to break up a gun fight at Jimmy's Place, 642 W. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

Calvin Glasby, a Chicago resident who works in Arlington Heights, was charged with aggravated battery and unlawful use of weapons, and released on $500 bond pending appearance in Evanston court June 8.

Facing the single charge are Michael E. Banks, Frank Ralph Revette, and James Michael Kent, all of 409 S. Elmhurst Mount Prospect. Revette and Kent were released on $5,000 bond, and Banks on $2,500 bond.

Arlington Heights police were called by James L. Stevens, proprietor of the hot dog stand, when the fight reportedly involving Glasby, Kent, and Revette was in progress.

Banks was found in a car at the scene, according to the police report.

When officers arrived, the report said, Glasby's small calibre automatic pistol had been taken away from him and Revette was beating him on the head with it.

In the fray before police arrived, Glasby had reportedly fired four shots toward the floor and wonded Kent in the ankle. Kent later refused treatment at Northwest Community Hospital, and Glasby was admitted with bruises.

Stories differ on how the fight started, and whether there had been a previous ruckus in the small eating place, and police are sifting a number of statements and seeking more witnesses.

Liquor Dealer to Face Sale Charge

Willard Heimsoth, owner of Lee-Willard Liquors, Inc., 1010 S. State Rd., Arlington Heights, will face both village and court appearances June 10 on the charge of selling alcoholic beverage to a minor May 24.

Heimsoth is scheduled for a day-time appearance in the Arlington Heights branch, District Two, Circuit Court; and for an evening appearance before Village Pres. John G. Woods acting as liquor commissioner.

THE EVENING hearing will be to determine the status of the package store's license, which may be either revoked or suspended if the charge is proved.

The matter arose from a midnight drinking spree involving five soldiers and four young women.

Pvt. Robert V. Murdock Jr. admitted buying liquor at the Lee-Willard establishment, and told police he was not required to show identification though he is under 21.

MEMORIAL TRIBUTE, "Star Spangled Banner," is sung by Dawne Nebel at Memorial Day ceremonies Saturday in Arlington Heights. Small Memorial Park was jammed with marching units and spectators after a 56-unit parade through the heart of the village.

Chamber Discusses Highway Project

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting Tuesday to discuss with Village Engineer Norman Toberman plans for improvement of Northwest Highway.

Specific attention was devoted to a stretch between Evergreen and Dunton Avenues in which the state engineers handling proposed improvements request that parking be changed from diagonal to parallel.

Toberman explained the state's attitude as it had been set forth at Monday's village board meeting, and at previous meetings on engineering details.

THOUGH NO formal action was taken, Chamber president Donald F. Morton assured affected merchants in the northern downtown area that every attempt would be made to express their reasons for opposing the parking change.

He added his conclusion that the project would be favorable to the village as a whole, and that the Chamber would work within bounds which would not jeopardize completion of the project.

Motorcycle Policeman Hurt in Crash

Officer Francis "Bud" Bischoffer of the Arlington Heights police department suffered arm and leg bruises Friday night when the two-wheel motorcycle he was riding was struck by an auto on Northwest Highway.

Wiliam L. Jorgenson, Bennsenville, was charged with crossing the yellow line and damage to village property. He told police he was forced into oncoming traffic as he was trying to pass another car.

Park Manor Obstacle

$15,000 Offered for House Set in Street

Final stumbling blocks in the way of special assessment improvements in Arlington Heights Park Manor subdivision were removed Monday by the Arlington Heights village board — hopefully.

The trustees approved payment of $15,$$$ to Mrs. Lorraine Larsen for removal of her house from existing right-of-way for Cleveland Avenue in the subdivision.

In return, the village is expecting that Mrs. Larsen's objections to the million-dollar combined street and sewer project would be dropped, as well as any claim she might have to the right-of-way.

The house has been situated directly on the right-of-way for more than 30 years since the area was subdivided.

Village Atty. Jack Siegel theorized that the then-owner had planned to tear the house down in development of the subdivision, but never completed his plans.

THE SETTLEMENT is to be paid from the village's general corporate fund, rather than by assessment spread over Park Manor property owners.

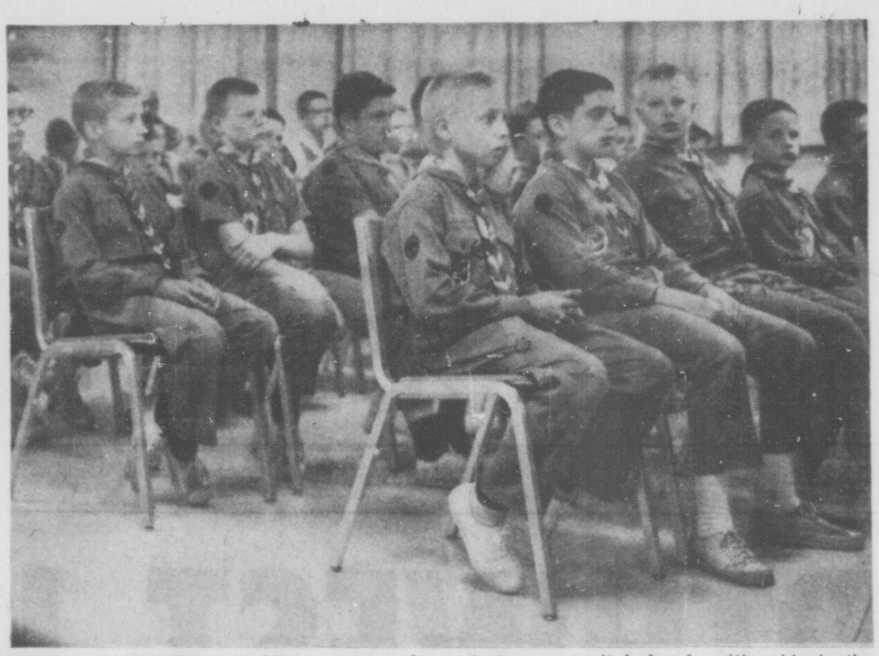
Though Siegel told the board the village might have eventually won the suit against Mrs. Larsen and had the house removed from public right-of-way without cost, chances were that the cost of the legal battle would have ranged as high as the proposed settlement.

He added that the one pending suit was holding up objections to the special assessment, and that improvements would be stalled until the matter was settled.

THE VILLAGE board also acted on 22 separate ordinances Monday, vacating as many sections of streets and alleys in the Park Manor area, subject to payment for some of the segments.

The majority of the vacations were outlined in original plans for the area which changed single-family residential uses to apartment and commercial.

The assessment project has been seen by village officials as the key to development in the area, which has been stagnated by the lack of improvements.



TROOP 57 SCOUTS seem intent on proceedings as they visit Arlington Heights village board meeting Monday. The half-hour visit of 27 youths and three adult leaders was part of a scheduled "Citizenship Night" session, and a start on a merit badge for citizenship in the community. The troop, led by Scoutmaster Chet Gawlik, is sponsored by the South Junior High School PTA. (A

Clabaugh Denies Okaying Leaflets

School Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh Monday said that leaflets urging passing of the junior college referendum were distributed at several Arlington Heights elementary schools without his knowledge.

He told the school board that he would not say now whether he would have approved passing out of the literature or not.

The leaflets were passed out at some of the schools in the district May 22, the day before the referendum. The proposal to set up a junior college district was defeated.

Clabaugh was on vacation the day the leaflets were passed out.

He told the board that he had favored the issue and had told people supporting the referendum that he'd be willing to help them.

THIS IS apparently why the leaflets were allowed to be distributed by officials of the schools without his approval, which should have been sought, he said.

The school board's rules leave it up to the discretion of the superintendent as to what literature can be passed out at the schools for children to take home to their parents.

Board president Victor Myer said he didn't think such a leaflet as was distributed before the referendum should be passed out at district schools.

Myer added he thinks the present regulation is adequate, but the communications seem to have broken down at the individual school level.

LAUGHING, he said he didn't consider the matter of the leaflet distribution of significance.

Clabaugh assured the board that, while it is up to him to decide what should be handed out at the schools, when literature that might be questionable is proposed for distribution, he'll bring it up to the board for consideration. (AF

Radio Club Offers Community Service

Have you ever noticed those unusual shapes and sizes of antennas on the roofs, trunks or bumpers of automobiles of some of your neighbors?

Chances are your neighbor is the owner and operator of his own two-way radio communications system, operating under license from the Federal Communications Commission, as a citizens band radio station.

A large number of these neighbors are also members of a group called the Northwest Five Watters Radio Club and probably are part of the club's new mobile community service network.

The Northwest Five Watters has its social aspects, as do most clubs, but has primary goals of interest to every citizen in the Northwest suburbs.

The Five Watters have developed a mobile communications network that can, within minutes, furnish radio-equipped vehicles to assist in any emergency, to aid in crowd control, traffic supervision and generally perform much-needed community services of all types. They have practice alerts on a regular basis and stand ready to serve their fellow citizens whenever and wherever they are needed and called upon.

Officers of the Five Watters are Eva Farberg of Carpenterville, president; Dick Pletz of Rolling Meadows, vice president; John Tirrell of Mount Prospect, treasurer, and Lois Yates of Arlington Heights, secretary.

Schools to Study Custodian Wages

Arlington Heights elementary school board Monday authorized the administration to undertake a study to set up guidelines for future "relations" with the district's maintenance employes.

The study will put emphasis on the workers' salary schedule.

Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh suggested the study so that when maintenance workers' wages and benefits come up again next year more thought will have been given to the matters.

He said that in the course of the study, the administration would contact the workers' union representative and the men themselves.

BOARD PRESIDENT Victor Myer noted that each year the union seems to "react" to the board's salary and benefit authorizations, but that this year the reaction was stronger than usual.

This might mean the board might have difficulty with the men in the future, he said.

The workers' union, the Building Service Employes International, has said that the $200 a year salary increase recently granted to the men is a good one, but objected to the length of time, five years, it takes them to get to the top of the salary schedule.

School Board Sticks To Boundary Decision

Arlington Heights school board Monday stood pat on the junior high school attendance areas it adopted recently.

Parents of several children who live on the south side of town, but who will go to Thomas Junior High School north of Chicago and North Western railway tracks next fall had protested at the last board meeting. They wanted the children to stay at South Junior High School.

Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh noted that the area from which children are being drawn for Thomas is both farthest from South and nearest Thomas.

He also argued against a suggestion by some parents that the Scarsdale area children be shifted to Miner Junior High School by noting that the area served by Miner will eventually have to be reduced rather than expanded as the population around Miner grows.

PARENTS OF some of the to-be-transferred students said that their children could walk a mile or less to South, but would have to take a bus about 2½ miles to Thomas.

Clabaugh also talked down somewhat a suggestion that the district run "late buses" so that students who are carried long distances to school and who want to participate in after-school activities could get a ride home.

He noted that then the schools would have to tailor their activities to the bus schedule.

Voters League Has Capital Guidebook

First copies of a new kind of vacation guidebook, "When You Come to Washington," have been received by Mrs. W. Keith Atkins of Elk Grove Village, publications chairman of the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights.

Subtitled "How to Take a Look at the Federal Government," the League's first tourist-type booklet gives the Washington, D. C., visitor a short orientation in congressional operations while showing the "when, where and how" of federal government sightseeing.

Emphasizing how best to see the legislative branch, the booklet urges visitors to attend Congressional committee hearings.

"IF YOU MUST choose one thing to do while you are in Washington, attendance at a hearing is strongly recommended as that thing. Committee hearings give the general public its best opportunity to see Congress at work," the booklet reads.

"When You Come to Washington" also gives tips on when and how to see the Supreme Court and to tour the White House.

The booklet sells for 35 cents. Copies are available by calling Mrs. Atkins at HE 7-4385 or by contacting the national League headquarters in Washington.

SOUTH ARLINGTON

Eight Cadettes from Troop 131 and 23 Junior Scouts from Troop 66 spent a weekend of tent camping at Happy Hollow, Wis., May 15-17. Leaders Mrs. Christopherson, Mrs. J. Pretto, Mrs. J. Nerlinger and Mrs. Keoneke, and mothers Mrs. C. Sauers and Mrs. C. Burkitt, accompanied the girls.

Activities included a rope hike and a wide game planned by the Cadettes. Troop 131 hoisted the colors, and Troop 66 held the flag retreat. The troops held their campfires together Friday and Saturday nights. Troop 66 had a Scouts' Own, and Troop 131 worked on first aid badges. Junior Scouts felt they learned a great deal from the Cadettes.

Brownie Troop 18 cooked out and hiked in Busse Woods, May 27, accompanied by leaders Mrs. G. Hafer and Mrs. C. Bjerkness, and mothers Mrs. Henrich and Mrs. J. Verdico.

Eleven Brownies of Troop 18 have been attending meetings of Troop 43 Junior Scouts to learn the patrol system, the promise and laws. Troop 18 and sister Troop 43 are planning a Mothers' Tea for June 4 when a combination fly-up ceremony, rededication and Court of Awards will be held at Dunton School.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Members of Junior Troop 124 presented the colors at Fairview School's PTA meeting May 19. Barbara Mann gave the orders; Carol Holm was flag bearer, with Donna Piehl and Cynthia Halas color guards. Mrs. G. Halas supervised the girls.

May 23, a chartered bus provided transportation for Juniors from Troops 124 and 370 to the Morton Aboretum. With leaders, Mrs. G. Halas, Mrs. J. J. Gafford and Mrs. T. Jahnke, the girls hiked over the trails. As a community service project, Troop 370 established a fire scar at Meadows Park. Their work done, the girls built the first fire, and toasted marshmallows.

North Mount Prospect Brownie and Junior Troops and their leaders participated in a fly-up ceremony held out-of-doors at Camp Pine May 28, directed by Mrs. Donald Rogers. Six members of Junior Troop 370 performed the color ceremony. Parents and friends were greeted, and then 50 third-graders from Troops 140, 151, 152, 203 and 442 were received by their Junior sisters in Troops 124, 293, 370 and 520.

Fly-ups from each Brownie troop performed a short skit based on two of the ten Girl Scout Laws. After receiving her wings from her Brownie Leader, each girl crossed a "bridge" to be met by two Juniors and presented to her Junior leader, who gave her the Girl Scout pin. Refreshments were served, and the event closed with the singing of "Taps."

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Fathers of Junior Troop 802 were guests at a father-daughter picnic May 16 at Deer Grove. The troop held a flag ceremony, prepared lunch, and spent the afternoon hiking and playing softball.

Parents were present last week when Junior Troop 876 held its last meeting of the year and conducted a Court of Awards. The troop attended the fly-up ceremony of Brownie Troop 534 last week and welcomed several of the new Juniors into 876.

Fly-up ceremonies for Brownie Troop 53 were held recently at the Country Club. Wings were pinned on the 15 Scouts by next year's leaders, Mrs. James Hays and Mrs. Jack Roberts.

Cadette Troops 212 and 401 traveled to Springfield and New Salem last weekend, accompanied by leaders Mrs. E. Gallup, Mrs. W. Martin, Mrs. J. Clark and Mrs. A. W. Mundt. The Scouts visited the capitol and Lincoln's home and tomb in Springfield, then toured New Salem. The trip was made in connection with the My Government badge and Active Citizenship Challenge.

Junior Troop 708 spent May 23-24 tenting at Happy Hollow. At a Scouts' Own and Court of Awards, the girls received the Sign of the Arrow and several badges. Cadette Troop 597, camping there on a 2-nighter, invited Troop 708 to its campfire, welcomed the girls into Cadette Scouting and presented a program of skits. Camping with Troop 597 were five Juniors of Troop 802.

NORTHEAST ARLINGTON

Junior Troop 285 recently had a cookout with Brownie Troop 63 in Deer Grove where the Scouts also participated in a nature walk.

Troop 285 held a Court of Awards tea where the girls received 101 proficiency badges earned this year. Six Signs of the Arrow and six Signs of the Star were awarded. Mrs. Richard Walker, leader of Cadette Troop 638, presented cockades to 9 Juniors who will be joining her troop in the fall. Sandy Johnson, President of the Senior Planning Board, was another guest at the tea.

To close the year, leaders and committee chairmen of Northeast Arlington lunched at Nielsen's.

Troop 294 held its Court of Awards on the lawn of leader Mrs. John Shelley. Songs and skits were presented for the parents. Co-leader Mrs. Robert Novy presented Hostess, Dressmaker, Sports, Child Care and Games Leader badges as well as the pin for the Challenge of Social Dependability which was earned by the 16 Cadettes.

SENIOR SCOUT NEWS

Mariner Troop 65 held an International Dinner last week at the Community Presbyterian Church, Mount Prospect. A buffet, consisting of foods of 15 countries was prepared and served by the Scouts.

Honored guests for the evening were Lailian Andres, Argentina exchange student, and Kjell Erland Von Aurenden of Colombia, both of whom attend Prospect High School this year. Johanna Boswell and Judith Odom, both of whom are graduating from high school, were presented with a corsage and gift.

Mrs. Regis Balkey, leader of Troop 65, has recently completed working with two Palatine Scouts who will receive the Marian Award, the highest Catholic award in Girl Scouting.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

Troop 943, Rupley School, toured Northwest Community Hospital April 22, guided by the hospital's Director of Volunteers. Highlights of the tour included visits to the X-ray and emergency rooms, the pharmacy and the cafeteria. The girls also observed the preparation of dinner trays in the diet kitchen. Accompanying the leaders and girls were mothers Mrs. Kinnard and Mrs. Snow.

Brownie Troop 579, Clearmont School, held a back yard picnic at the home of leader Mrs. J. Spasari May 19. Eleven girls of the troop "flew up" in a special ceremony. The occasion was marked with a cake decorated with appropriate wings and emblems. The girls were Janet Baker Sharon Bowlds, Linda Clary, Debbie DePhillips, Donna Graham, Vicki Jacobsen, Cynthia Mayer, Linda Pesat, Christine Rohm, Annette Serges and Christine Spasari. All 11 girls of the troop received their one-year star.

May 21 Brownie Troop 335, Clearmont School, toured McDonald's Hamburgers. Biggest thrill for the girls was the gift of a free sample.

Brownies of Troop 647, Clearmont School, visited Junior Troop 860 and were entertained with a play, songs and refreshments. (B9

Lawyer Talks to Democratic Women

The Regular Women's Democratic Organization of Wheeling Township heard Donald Norman, attorney, lecture on the 1964 election and the Democratic political platform May 27 at Democratic Headquarters, 111 E. Davis St., Arlington Heights.

According to Norman, the promises of the 1960 platform, "The Rights of Man," have been largely fulfilled in the past four years.

NORMAN touched on the Cuban crisis, a balanced budget, the Alliance for Progress, the current railroad settlement, and pending civil rights legislation as examples of platform planks transformed into action.

Mrs. W. C. Thiele, president, presided over a brief business meeting. Refreshments were served during a social hour following the formal agenda.

Further information regarding future activities or volunteer work may be obtained by calling Mrs. Richard Kerwin, 537-0203. (ACM

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Q. Just what does "bowing" mean for a woman?

A. Not the deep, formal bow of yesteryear. It is a pleasant nod and smile, accompanied by a slight bend forward from the waist. Bowing is a friendly gesture, not a stiff one. You would use it in greeting friends across a room, and some naturally graceful women combine it pleasantly with shaking hands.

Pools in Schools? New Study Begins

The question of swimming facilities for students in High School District 214 has been put back in the hands of a citizens committee after a previous rejection.

The new committee's consideration, which were officially launched with election of officers and appointment of committees last week, will be devoted to the possibility of pools alone.

Past rejection was by a citizens committee studying the need for new school sites and buildings. Consideration of a pool or pools in the district was tossed out of the building referendum later passed.

At the third and most recent of the new committee's meetings last Tuesday, members were assigned to four working subcommittees to cover statistics, cost, publicity and finance.

THE COMMITTEES will unite their findings and eventually present to the district's board of education an opinion on the advisability of swimming pools in, or in connection with, the high schools.

The fact-finding group is working under the general chairmanship of Wilbur Inman of Arlington Heights. Melvin Kurtz and R. A. Erickson, both of Arlington Heights, are co-chairmen.

William Griffith of Arlington Heights was appointed chairman of the statistical sub-committee, Lowell Ackman of Mount Prospect will chair the cost group, Rudy Buczek of Mount Prospect will head the publicity subcommittee, and Don Larson of Arlington Heights is chairman of the finance study group.

Other members of the lay committee are Wilford Brown of Des Plaines; Richard Cashmore, Glen Gauper and Joseph Pagenkopf of Prospect Heights; Mrs. Paul Christianson of Wheeling; Shirley Lewis, George Riess, Jack Costello and Ralph Perkins of Mount Prospect.

ALSO SERVING are Joseph Schneller and George Wesler of Arlington Heights; James Gillon of Buffalo Grove replacing Alan Thorud of that village; Jack Pahl and Thomas Tyrrell representing Elk Grove Village, and Charles Brown and R. L. Pettersen Jr. from Rolling Meadows.

Stated objectives of the Lay Citizens' Swimming Committee are the following:

1. To study the district's present swimming program and make recommendations for its future.

2. To study the educational values of a swimming program for all students.

3. To recommend the kind and number of facilities, if swimming is to be part of the future program.

4. To recommend the governmental body such as school district or park district, which should construct the swimming facilities, if swimming programs are recommended.

5. To study the benefits which the community may derive from indoor pools.

Include Annexation

Schedule 3 Days of Public Hearings for Old Orchard

Public hearings on the proposed development at Old Orchard Country Club and on annexation of the property to Mount Prospect are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. June 5, 8, and 11 at the Mount Prospect village hall.

The development, which is to include a 20-story lodge hotel, as well as high-rise multiple dwelling units and atrium town houses, will be governed by a planned open space district ordinance, as prepared by M. Eugene Baughman, village planner.

The public hearings will concern the proposed district ordinance as well as the annexation.

THE ORDINANCE, according to Baughman, is designed to assure open space on the country club property for at least 10 years.

Originally the village sought to obtain the air rights over the property as assurance no additional development would be added to the property at anytime.

According to Edward C. Hofert, village attorney, the developers, Frank Aldrich and Albert Newman, have balked at deeding the air rights to the village.

However, according to Robert Heinrich, administrative assistant to Village Manager Harold Appleby, the planned open space district ordinance will still guarantee "green space."

BAUGHMAN, in a statement of purpose concerning the 31 page proposal, said "It permits planned development with clustering of buildings and vertical rather than horizontal arrangement of living units."

Two requirements for the establishment of such a district would be the tract of land shall have at least 100 acres under single ownership or unified control and a use and zoning plat must be approved by the village board in accordance with the ordinance.

The plat shall designate the land to be built upon, the land to be preserved and the uses permitted for specific land.

At least 60 per cent of the tract must be open space. Baughman said this must be computed as being in addition to any residual area remaining open in any building lot due to restrictions.

BUILDING heights will be controlled, according to the ordinance on the basis of a line at an angle of 45 degrees from the middle of section line or half section line roads toward the property.

The ordinance calls for a minimum of 700 square feet of floor area per one-bedroom unit; 850 per two-bedroom unit and 1,000 square feet per three-bedroom unit.

The distance between buildings must be 60 per cent of the height of the taller building.

The ordinance also provides for parking areas. It specifies how much parking shall be made available for banquets, apartments, theatres, etc.

In the ordinance commercial heliports are allowed under special uses. Also in that category, radio and televison studios, stations and towers, transmitting and receiving, are authorized.

Ask Bus Riders To Register Now

Summer school students in High School District 214 who will need bus transportation are asked to register immediately with Cook County School Bus Inc., Arlington Heights.

Grayce Sazma, dispatcher for the transportation firm, said registration should be made no later than Friday, June 12, so that routings can be made and published in the newspapers the following Thursday.

Summer school is cheduled to begin Monday, June 22.

IT'S AN IDEA — HOME DECORATIONS

A new concept in pantryware storage — wedge-shaped canisters — are said to be the answer to the problem of making the most out of kitchen counter space for storing food staples.

These stylish canisters may be stacked, if desired, or arranged in some "just fit" counter areas that heretofore were not usable.

They are available in chrome with handsome identifying black and gold monograms, and in satin finish stainless steel (to match stainless steel appliances) with black and silver monograms.

Units provide compact storage for 7 pounds of sugar, 2 pounds of coffee, 6 pounds of flour and 96 tea bags. A fifth unit — a matching canister for 2½ pounds of cookies — may also be purchased.

Hopes Brighten for Acquiring Utility

Arlington Heights appears to be heading again Citizens' Utility Co. on acquisition of the water and sewer system serving Arlington Heights Garden Homesites.

After failure in an attempt to get residents' agreement on cash outlay for the system with private financing, village trustees proposed a lease-purchase agreement.

Under the alternate system, approval of the homeowners is not necessary. The village would take over operation and maintenance of the Citizens' system and pay for it over an eight-year period with revenue from the system.

According to Village Atty. Jack Siegel, who has been negotiating with Citizens' on the acquisition, rates which would pay for the system in eight years should be about the same as new rates being requested by the private utility.

SIEGEL DESCRIBED the system to be used for acquisition as similar to that used to for improvements an dadditions in the regular municipal system.

The private utility would be operated as a separate unit until paid for, then mains would be incorporated in the village system and the well would perhaps be put out of service.

Anticipated water shortages during summer months would be handled for the eight years through purchase of water on a temporary basis from the municipal system.

Not Cheaper But Less Costly

The overall performance of your TV set can be no better than the performance of the smallest tube or electronic part. Place an inferior tube or part in a thousand dollar set and you'll have a poorer performance than from the cheapest set.

This is why we use only first line quality tubes and parts in our servicing work. LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights guarantees this, and our steady growth proves that our customers enjoy it.

Our service cost is not as low as the cheapest TV servicers, but you will pay less over a period of time for the better kind of TV viewing. Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 next time and let us prove it.

Seek Registrants For Summer Course

Five additional registrations are needed in a college - credit elementary drawing workshop to assure that it will be offered by Township High School District 214 as part of its adult education summer fare.

The announcement came from W. L. Randle, director of adult education for the district.

The art workshop, which is to be offered by the University of Illinois if additional registrations come in, is scheduled to meet at Forest View High School for two weeks, starting at 9 a.m. Monday, June 15.

THE COURSE, Art E107, will carry two semester hours of undergraduate credit and will be confined to practical problems in elementary drawing in sketching and rendering still life and landscape subjects.

Teachers who have had the course previously may repeat it for an additional two hours credit.

Tuition fee for the course is $22.00 and will carry a small additional charge for supplies.

TEN TEACHERS have preregistered for the course, but they are all from Elk Grove Village Elementary District 59 and Arlington Elementary District 25, Randle said.

A call to the Adult Education office at CL 3-1700 will assure a place in the class and if five such calls are made will assure teachers in the area that the work shop will be held. (AME

Busy May Was Nearly Run Over Impatient June

May went out in a social blaze of glory, barely getting out of the way in time to avoid being run over by an impatient June. As the two months crossed paths, May was heard puffing, "What a weekend . . . never thought I'd make it!" And June mumbled, "What a schedule . . . I'll never make it." Although May and June seem a bit flustered, Arlington Heighters are taking the hectic season in stride, relaxing when they can and hustling when they must.

The William Pomerhn family, 615 S. Ridge, had an easy-going weekend, camping in Starved Rock State Park and enjoying its scenic pleasures. They left Thursday and came home early Sunday, handily avoiding most holiday traffic.

The Harold Littles came home to 2007 S. Arlington Heights Road Monday morning after a happy weekend in Escanaba, Mich. where their infant daughter, Julie Marie, was christened and lots of family members celebrated the occasion. Escanaba is the "ole home town" to both Mr. and Mrs. Little, and the weekend was much too short for all the friendship - renewing and family - visiting there was to do.

Julie Marie's christening in Christ the King Lutheran Church of Escanaba was the main reason for the trip, however, and that was accomplished with Grandpa and Grandma Little in proud attendance. Serving as the baby's godparents were her uncle and aunt, Robert and Sandra Stasewich.

A "CO-OP" block party Sunday in the back yard of the Paul Vander - Hoevens, 402 N. Belmont, climaxed a round of recent farewell parties given for the Charles Rehfeldts, 315 N. Pine, who will leave next week for Hollywood, Calif. Ten families enjoyed the occasion but wished there was a happier reason for the get-together.

The same happy - sad mood prevailed in the Rehfeldts' "old" neighborhood, the 1000 block of N. Patton, where the departing couple was honored a week ago Sunday at a dinner party in the Arthur Shogren home. The farewell was hosted jointly by all the couples of the block where the Rehfeldts made their home for 17 years before moving to Pine Street.

Fourteen other local friends said their goodbyes to Mrs. Rehfeldt last Wednesday afternoon at a festive and nostalgic luncheon given by Mrs. Sinclair McCoy, 635 N. Chestnut. Although the future Hollywoodites will leave many long-time friends here, they're looking forward to being near their daughter and her husband, the Lloyd Sawyers of Los Angeles.

AMONG June's first brides is Miss Lorraine Longosz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Longosz, 1009 N. Pine, who will be married Saturday morning in St. James Catholic Church to Thomas Howell of Mount Prospect. She was honored Tuesday evening by co-workers at Carson Pirie Scott in Randhurst shopping center at an after-hours celebration in the center's Tree Top Restaurant.

Miss Longosz' bridesmaids - elect, Miss Ailene Anderson of Roselle and Miss Mary Lou Mierzwa of Chicago, were co-hostesses April 19 at a miscellaneous shower held in the Party House in Chicago, where more than 50 friends and family members gathered to honor the bride-to-be. Planned as a surprise, the party's most surprising moment came before April 19 when a final check with Party House revealed a mix-up in dates.

Some frantic re - arranging plus the good fortune that smiles on all wedding plans and parties made a success of the shower after all. Later Miss Longosz admitted to having had some suspicions about the original party date, but none at all on the night she strolled into Party House and half a hundred people shouted, "Surprise!"

GREGORY MONTI, son of the LeRoy Montis, 1012 N. Highland, was among St. Viator's "firsts" last night as the boy's high school held its first commencement exercises. Here from Bay City, Mich. for the occasion and for the baccalaureate mass celebrated Sunday were Greg's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Foley.

Saturday was commencement for Barbara Rothers and fellow seniors in St. Patrick's Academy for Girls in Des Plaines. Barbara and the rest of the family at 710 S. Walnut celebrated her diploma event with a festive dinner out immediately following the graduation exercises. She plans a teaching career after studying at Western Illinois College in Macomb where she'll enroll this fall.

Twenty-two Chicago and local friends celebrated the holiday Saturday evening at a party in the Carl Bowen home, 115 W. Central.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Donnell were honor guests Saturday night at a farewell party given by the Martin Quades, 801 S. Mitchell, where 17 neighborhood couples wished it was a holiday party instead of a goodby session. The O'Donnells will be soon leaving the home at 722 S. Mitchell for a new one in Columbus, Ohio, and getting special care in the packing will be their local friends' gift of remembrance, a silver casserole dish.

PROOF THAT Ohio isn't too far away for a return visit was the Zeno "Bud" Sutters' surprise arrival here last Thursday evening. Former N. Dunton Street residents, now of Toledo, the Sutters called on ex-across-the-street neighbors, the Richard Weidners, 1131 N. Dunton, who promptly made a few "come on over, the Sutters are back" phone calls. A get-together got together in a hurry.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dalton, 522 S. Dunton, celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary Saturday with a dinner out and overnight stay in the Sahara Inn. Neighbors, the Marion Hogates, gave the day a gala start by hosting a luncheon for the Dalton family Saturday afternoon.

Another anniversary couple, the Lyle Huntleys, 421 N. Wilshire, found a surprise party awaiting them when they returned last Thursday evening from a 4-day vacation in Iowa. They had been visiting friends and relatives in Eldora while their daughters, Pam and Sandra, were co-plotting the surprise with friends and relatives here. Thursday was the Huntleys' 25th wedding anniversary.

Two of the local pre-prom parties planned as outdoor events Friday evening went inside as the temperature skidded below comfort level. Although there was probably enough excitement in the air to ward off any chills, hostess-mothers took no chances, and so it was inside at 730 S. Dunton that 60 young people enjoyed punch and hors d'oeuvres as guests of Nancy Heilig and her parents.

JIM HALLETT'S pre-prom open house came inside, too, and 30 fellow prom-trotting friends sipped their punch and nibbled the snacks in the warmth and hospitality at 726 N. Chicago.

The upcoming weekend will be a busy one for Jim, too. Tomorrow night he'll attend a prom in Sterling, and Saturday he's to be installed as next year's state chaplain at the Children of the American Revolution convention in Dixon.

The Lewis Browns, 509 S. Chestnut, returned early last week from a 3-week business-and-pleasure tour of the south, coming home via the Cumberland, Smoky and Blue Ridge Mountains, all extra-colorful this year with a bumper crop of flowers. They toured Georgia, and in Brunswick were entertained by the mayor and his wife, the Joseph Mercers, then went on to western Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi. Throughout the south, shrubs and trees are at the peak of their early summer flowering, and the Browns report that the air is a mixed essence of azalea, camellia, bougainvilla, wisteria and oleander.

Their customary stay on the Golden Isles off the coast of Georgia coincided for the first time with the going out of the shrimp fleet, a traditionally ceremonial occasion. Religious services, decorations on every craft and a general air of excitement are all necessary parts of the custom.

MRS. ROBERT Koenig, co-leader of Troop 899, was honored a week ago Wednesday by her 18 young scouts and their mothers at a stork shower given in the Barker Davis home, 318 Drury. The girls decorated a baby buggy and this was piled high with gifts for the coming-soon little Koenig. Assisting Mrs. Davis with the party-planning and serving were Mrs. James Blaine, Mrs. Roy Kamin and 18 good scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Joan spent the holiday weekend in Minneapolis, their "home town" for 10 years before coming to Arlington Heights. For Joan, just 10½, it is truly home, and she had many happy reunions with school chums, teachers and former neighborhood friends. Like all such visits, it was lots of fun, much too short and a wee bit hectic.

Among the confirmands in the recent class at St. James Catholic Church was Sherrill Hofer, daughter of the Erwin Hofers, 905 N. Pine. A dinner-out celebration of the occasion included Sherrill's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bianchi of Chicago, and her sponsor, Miss Kathleen Schaeffer of Arlington Heights.

Gene Dougherty's confirmation party following the service in St. James Catholic Church did not include his mother, but Gene hardly minded at all. She came home to 1212 N. Dunton next day, bringing with her the baby brother Gene wanted and needed to help him upset the balance of power previously held by three sisters.

CLARENCE Loechl, 1213 N. Dunton, was another St. James confirmand, and there were lots of Chicago and suburban relatives here for the day to help him celebrate the big event.

Cathy Phillis, 12-year-old sister of two ribbon-winning equestriennes who made news last week, was in the Cotillion contest at O'Hare Inn Sunday and came home with a trophy. One can almost hear the "so there" that went with her announcement to the horsey set at 203 N. Dwyer. Cathy and her partner, Terry Marshman, were among 25 couples who qualified for the semi-finals Sunday, and they ended up in the top trophy-winning five.

Saturday marked the end of the shortest two weeks in Riley family history, as the Earl Rileys' daughter, Mrs. Thomas Gore and her son, Bobby, enplaned for their return to Los Angeles. Sharing the where-did-the-time-go feeling was Bobby's great - grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Riley; she and Bobby had a love at first sight experience which made the time go even faster.

With Mrs. Gore and Bobby was a Pasadena friend, Mrs. Paul Johnson, who flew here with them to spend a week with relatives in Madison. The second week Mrs. Johnson was part of the Riley family-all-together at their Oconomowoc home on Lac LaBelle in Wisconsin.

THE JOHN O'Berrys, 733 S. Mitchell, are looking forward to the arrival Sunday of Mrs. O'Berry's daughter, Susan Isham, from Fort Collins, Colo. where she was a freshman in Colorado State University.

Local friends of the vacationing W. H. Rolands, 1218 Mayfair Road, were notified last Thursday that the Rolands and Mount Prospect friends, the Howard Browers, were injured in an auto accident in French Lick, Ind. All were hospitalized. The report Monday was that the Browers were expected home this week and that Roland, too, had been released from the hospital after emergency treatment.

However, Mrs. Roland was more seriously injured, suffering fractures and facial lacerations, and will be in the hospital at least two weeks. She is in Orange County Hospital, Paoli, Ind. where mail service is fine and a bumper crop of greetings from local friends can help speed her recovery.

Friends and neighbors of Rev. and Mrs. George Kincheloe, 730 S. Highland, was sorry to hear of the death two weeks ago of Mr. Kincheloe's brother, Lee Otis Kincheloe, 69, in Fayetteville, Ohio. The pastor and his wife were vacationing in Ohio at the time and were especially grateful for the pleasant visit they had with Lee and his wife earlier in the week.

Word of his death reached them when they were with friends in nearby Georgetown. They immediately returned to Fayetteville to be with the family and remained with them through the weekend, returning here early last week.

THE EDWIN Starbucks, 506 S. Evergreen, flew to Philadelphia last Wednesday evening to spend the long holiday weekend with their daughter and her family, the George H. Nofers of Huntington Valley, Pa. The "and family" includes the Starbucks' newest grandchild, Ellen Ruth, born April 10 and christened Sunday morning with Grandpa and Grandma Starbuck in attendance.

Ellen has a sister Jane, 6, and a 3-year-old brother Paul. Following a family celebration of the christening the Starbucks returned here.

Donna Lee Trad, 539 W. Euclid, had two co-workers from Needham Louis & Brorby Advertising Inc. as weekend guests: Elaine Brinkman and Dorothy Delaney, both of Chicago.

Friends of Eldon N. Just, 621 Ironwood Drive, will be sorry to learn of the death of his mother, Mrs. Ella P. Just of Chicago, who died May 29 in the Illinois Masonic Hospital at the age of 80. Sympathies are extended to the family.

HOMER W. McCOY arrived from Bradenton Fla., last week to visit his daughter and family, the Ronald W. Schecks, 512 Banbury, and to be present at the graduation of his grandson, Gregg, from South School, June 11.

There has been a round of parties for Miss Judy Norman, daughter of the Stanley Normans, 634 S. Dryden, who will marry Bruce Fahlberg June 14 in Faith Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights.

Her classmates at Gustavus Adolphus gave a miscellaneous shower May 16, and a party and bridal shower were given for her in Hector, Minn., by friends of her fiance's parents, the Douglas Fahlbergs. Upon returning home, Miss Norman was feted at another bridal shower given by Mrs. Robert Bradle, long-time friend and Scarsdale neighbor of the Norman family.

Former Arlington Heights residents, the D. E. Kemps, are looking forward to seeing many of their old friends when they arrive here Friday from Denver. They will bring their five children, and be house guests of the Robert Bradles, 606 S. the first visit in 20 years be-Dryden.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Heintz, 888 Bristol, last week were her niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William the midwest for the Stevens and Nancy. It was a first visit to their daughters, Mitzi Jane and tweeen Mrs. Heintz and her Steven of San Francisco, and niece.

REV. AND MRS. Daniel Baumann and their two children, Steven and Lynette, were here from Boston, Mass., for a 2-week visit with his parents, the Roy Baumanns, 421 E. Orchard. Part of their visit was spent house hunting in St. Paul, where they plan to move in August. Rev. Baumann has taken a position there and will be on the faculty of the Bethel Seminary, a Baptist General Conference School.

The Baumanns' visit was a quiet but happy one. Their baby daughter is well again after a serious illness which kept her hospitalized for several weeks. Young Mrs. Baumann's parents, the Maurice Joneses came from Johnston, Ill., and stayed for a 4-day visit. He is publisher of the Johnston City Progress, and Mrs. Baumann's sister, Mrs. Gust Carlson, was here from Sister Bay, Wis.

Adding more joy to the Baumann home was news that they became grandparents again with the arrival of Cherilyn Ann, born May 21, to their youngest son and daughter-in-law the Clayton Baumanns of Rolling Meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pearce, 905 E. Davis, were hosts at a dinner party Tuesday to celebrate the June birthdays of both their daughter and son-in-law, the Gerald Sinclairs of Chicago.

MISS MARILYN Colburn returned home Sunday after a 2-week vacation in Mexico. It was her first visit there, and she and an Arlington Heights friend, Miss Be-Ann Bradshaw, flew down May 16. Their first stop was Mexico City, where they attended the ballet and then Xochimilco to see a bullfight. They traveled by car, visiting many points of interest, including the Shrine of Guadalupe, the Pyramids of Teotihuacan, Queretoro, Guana Juato, Morelia, Taxco and Acapulco, where they stayed for three days resting, sightseeing, sailing and swimming. Before ending their stay in Mexico, they visited Cuernavaca.

While Miss Colburn was in Mexico, her parents, the Harry W. Colburns, 535 Burton, were called to Boston on account of the sudden death of Mr. Colburn's mother.

The Edward McGraths, 206 E. Rockwell, went to Ottumwa, Iowa, last week to attend the graduation of their daughter, Frances, from Ottumwa Heights College. During their stay, they were the house guests of Mrs. McGrath's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Swanson, whose son, Mark, graduated the following day from Walsh High School in Ottumwa.

Mrs. Joseph Simoneau, 805 E. Davis, entertained at a bridge and baby shower May 14 for Mrs. Kenneth Samuelson, whose third child will be born later this month. Co-hostess of the party was Mrs. James Demaree.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Chambers, 520 S. Pine, had as their house guests over the weekend, the former's parents and sister, the James D. Chambers and Mrs. Charles Dexter of Cincinnati.

MRS. ADOLPH Lindstrom, 214 S. Pine, celebrated her birthday Sunday at a family dinner party in the Arlington Heights home of her son, Howard, and his family. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kovacs and two nieces, the Misses Helen and Ruth Bergren of Chicago, and all the Lindstrom sons and daughters in this area.

Thomas Thackery and his bride, Kathleen, are now living in Chicago. They left early this week for Aberdeen, Md., to visit his sister and brother-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. Terry Sanderson, the former Diane Thackery, and the four will go to New York City to visit the Fair.

The Richard Deckers' new barbecue pit was initiated Saturday at a steak fry for 24 residents and former residents of the 400 block of S. Dryden.

The Charles E. Skinners, 721 S. Beverly, followed an annual custom of spending the Memorial holiday in Tecumseh, Mich., with Mr. Skinner's family. They attend Memorial services at the cemetery which is followed by a large family picnic.

Joining the Skinners for the family reunion were his sisters, Mrs. Mabel Miller of Chicago and Mrs. Nina Price of Jackson, Mich.

Kenneth Fairchild, a past commander of Trowel Post 160 of the American Legion, served as chairman of the Memorial Day services at Acacia Park cemetery in Chicago. Music for the service was furnished by St. Bernard's Commanding Band, and American flags were placed on the graves of 1,900 veterans buried in Acacia Park.

After the Memorial services, a smorgasbord luncheon was served by the ladies of the auxiliary in the Post Headquarters for 300 guests.

THE GEORGE W. Roses, 1300 Mayfair, drove to Tucson for the May 27 graduation of their daughter, Marilyn from the University of Arizona. She received a Bachelor of Science and a Registered Nurse degree in a graduation program held outdoors that evening in the stadium, which Mrs. Rose reported most impressive. Also attending the graduation were Miss Rose's aunt, Miss Dorothy Rose of San Bernadino, Calif., and her two sisters, the Misses Jean and Susan Rose. Following graduation, Mr. and Mrs. Rose were hosts at a supper party celebration.

The Roses returned home Sunday, bringing with them two of their daughters, Marilyn and Susan, Marilyn's roommate, Miss Jaqueline Stoddard of Arizona, and Miss Dorothy Rose of San Bernadino. Jean went on to California to spend a week attending a National Conference on Social Work in Los Angeles and a week of traveling. Miss Stoddard will visit here for two weeks before leaving for Copenhagen, Denmark where she will work and study during the summer, and Marilyn will spend the summer working as a nurse at the new Hull House Association Summer Camp near East Troy, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Henning Anderson of Allen Park, Mich. are spending a week in Arlington Heights, visiting their daughter and family, the Richard Skows, 210 S. Gibbons.

THE DAVIS Hartmans, 314 S. Drury, gave a dinner party Sunday following the christening of their infant son, Dean Racey, in St. John's Episcopal church of Mount Prospect.

Attending the christening and dinner party were the baby's brother and sisters, Davis, Lynn and Laura, the godparents, the Walter Dempseys of West Chicago, and Willis Adams of Chicago, the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Andreas of Prospect Heights and the Ezra M. Hartmans of Chicago, the Jack Parkers of Homewood, Mrs. Willis Adams, James Andreas and Miss Marge Brew of Northbrook.

Mrs. Howard S. Styron, 305 S. Windsor, left for Boston Wednesday to attend a reunion of her graduating class at Tufts University.

Last weekend the Styrons had as their houseguests, Mr. Styron's brother and sister-in-law, the Richard Styrons of Lexington, Ky., and their daughters, Lucinda and Candace.

Miss Barbara Stahnke and Miss Janet Reed were hostesses at a slumber party Friday in the Stahnke home, 110 S. Brighton, for 12 graduating classmates from Arlington and Prospect High Schools.

It was a combined graduation and farewell party for Miss Reed, who will leave the Stahnkes after graduation from Prospect High School to join her own family in New Provincetown, N. J.

It was a gay party, and only Miss Stahnke's parents welcomed the sound of taps on the bugle, at 2 a.m. as a signal for a few hours of slumber which came to an end at the crack of dawn with the sound of reveille by the same bugler, all too soon. (A

RUNAWAY GRADER'S path of destruction leading to garage of Jack Hamilton, 2014 Eastman Court, is silent proof of one youngster's power to make mischief. Gary Gerardi, 12, of 112 Prindle Ave., accidentally started a road grader on a sewer construction job on Prindle, then hopped off as the machine scraped its way more than a block over streets and lawns. Auto of Joseph Hendrix, 2008 Eastman, was damaged, as were Hamilton's car and sailboat in the smashed garage. (Staff Photo)

WHAT IS THE COLOR OF YOUR LUNGS?

It may surprise you to learn that a child has pink lungs an adult gray or black lungs and the city dweller exposed to industrial smoke or fog has darker lungs than those who live in the country. The average person breathes about 18 times a minute, which totals about 25,000 times each day.

Therefore, it is most important to take good care of your lungs. Have you had your physician check your lungs lately? It is a wise precaution to avoid future trouble.

and you'll buy gas

If you're about to look for a new range, you'll look at gas because you've always known gas ranges are the most dependable, most economical and easiest to use of any ranges.

Today's gas ranges are all this and a lot more.

For example: modern gas ranges offer the Burner-with-a-Brain for precise top-of-range cooking to end messy spill-overs. Programmed oven cooking roasts food to perfection, then keeps it serving-hot for hours, automatically. Infra-red broiling and rotisserie roasting are a few of the many other convenience features you'll find in today's gas ranges.

And don't forget, every gas range gives you instant control of the precise heat you want. No wonder women who cook modern say: "Nothing minds you like a modern gas range."

Asks Motorists to Cut Down Litter

Illinois' director of public works and buildings has appealed to motorists to help keep state highways clean especially with the advent of the summer vacation season.

Director Francis S. Lorenz, whose department is responsible for cleaning and maintaining 15,774 miles of paved highway, said:

"On one six-mile stretch of right-of-way, our maintenance crews removed six truckloads of beer cans alone, not to speak of the other kinds of debris thrown from moving vehicles. The automobile driver can be of real assistance by refraining from using our state highways as a dumping ground for all kinds of trash."

LORENZ SAID his department spent $2,889,331 downstate and $526,994 in Cook County to remove 6,100 tons of dirt, debris and storm damage in 1963. The total amount of $3,416,325 represented more than 10 per cent of the department's annual maintenance budget of $32 million.

In 1962, Lorenz observed his department spent 14 cents a ton to remove 1,800 tons of material. Since then, the removal cost has decreased to 10 cents a ton.

"But," Lorenz pointed out "roughly three-and-a-half times as much debris was picked up in 1963 over the previous year. Our concern is that even with all the publicity given to littering, we have a marked increase before us."

The department employs about 3,205 regular maintenance men.

LORENZ also asked all motorists to watch out for road crews now that the highway construction season is at hand throughout Illinois.

"Frequently, one lane of traffice has to be temporarily closed during repair work," Lorenz said. "As a safety measure, all of our flagmen on such jobs are required to wear orange vests to distinguish them from other construction crew members."

SHE WAS recently seen in VT's production, "The Little Foxes," in the lead role of Regina Giddens.

Ticket chairman Sarah Levin reports that children's organizations have already purchased large blocks of tickets, and urges that reservations be made early while there is still some choice of seats for all 5 performances.

The only evening performance will be on Friday, June 19, at 8 p.m. There will be three performances Saturday, June 20, at 10 a.m., 1 p.m., and 4 p.m.; and one performance Sunday at 1:30 p.m., June 21. Phone tickets requests to Sarah Levin at 894-3181.

Sharon Koppari and Iris Tompkins are assiting Kay Hawley as production manager and stage manager. (Bil

Junior College Planners Study Vote

A FACE IN THE CROWD is becoming increasingly more difficult to recognize as enrollments rise in high schools like Forest View, but few fail to see that some of these students may not get a chance for a college education. (Staff Photo).

May Propose New District

by HOWARD HARMENING
Staff Writer

The Citizens Community College Committee (CCCC) may follow Horace Greeley's advice to go west and include Barrington in its plan for a Northwest Suburban Community College that was vetoed by voters May 23.

Meeting Monday to start reorganization and briefly analyze the vote, the CCCC is considering a junior college district supported by residents in two high school districts instead of four.

"There's no reason why Arlington 214 and Palatine 211 can't do this alone," said M. Edward Smith, chairman of the CCCC's Arlington chapter, in an interview Tuesday morning.

"The CCCC also intends to invite Maine (204) and Barrington (224) to later meetings after a new steering committee is formed," added Smith.

BARRINGTON'S superintendent Robert M. Finley has already indicated interest in joining such a plan, but its high school board has taken no official stand on the venture.

"Basically, I believe the board would be very willing to see what would happen," Finley said. "We're quite anxous to be involved and would like to talk."

E. Erie Jones of Palatine and an important member of the CCCC also indicated "some educators in Maine Township and also Ela-Vernon" were interested in the junior college but declined to name the parties.

Smith, however, said he believed the next referendum "will eventually include just Arlington and Palatine. The site would be the same size to allow for expansion and annexations, but the size of the building would be cut down."

WITH INCREASES in assessed valuation in the two-district area and the decreased cost of the building, Smith also said he thought the next referendum could call for a similar total tax rate of 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The most obvious fact in the vote analysis was the overwhelming opposition to the plan in the two eastern high school districts, Glenbrook 225 and Niles 219.

The vote in Niles was 6,816 to 296 against the junior college, while in Glenbrook 4,500 voters cast negative ballots and 419 supporting the plan.

IN NILES, the Skokie Home Owners Council took the lead in opposing the referendum and organized a volunteer crew to distribute literature against the junior college to homes throughout the township.

Harvey Schwartz, the council's president, went on record to say that any further local taxation would get severe examination by home owners.

The Niles high school board, however, had supported the junior college by a 5-2 vote, while the elementary districts generally rejected the plan.

Schwartz, meanwhile, has indicated in other statements that the home owners group won't hide the problem of the closing college door behind the closed college door.

Admitting the problem of crowded colleges still exists, he's indicated in statements to the press that this drive to pry open the college door will follow the path of an examination of existing legislation for junior colleges establishment, which he said the council felt had serious shortcomings.

IN GLENBROOK, the referendum was opposed by the high school board and most of the elementary school districts on grounds similar to the tax protest of Niles.

On the Thursday before the election, opponents of the referendum placed a total of 240 column inches of newspaper advertisement in the Northbrook Star and the Glenview Announcements.

The referendum received a 3-1 favorable vote in Palatine with 1,375 for and 472 against, while Arlington gave it a 2-1 margin with 2,013 affirmative ballots and 1,128 negatives.

"We didn't go into any great analysis," said Smith, "but it generally showed a much closer vote in the older sections of Arlington where there are fewer children."

STRANGELY enough, one of the most ardent enthusiasts for the junior college turned out to be Dr. Norman Watson, superintendent of Glenbrook 225, who said he was "strongly in favor" of the plan.

Watson, in a telephone interview prior to the referendum, indicated that the board membership had changed, and he had been "told to stay out of it."

John J. White, a Glenbrook board member and prominent figure in suburban Democratic politics, indicated his sentiments against the district were shared by Watson and said the superintendent had stated this in a letter of farewell.

Although Watson denied he had ever written "such a letter," a plan for the future de-Schools was presented to the board April 6 under his name that said:

"We would urge this board to keep ever alert to the college situation of this district. The present superintendent never recommended more than a feasibility survey for the junior college which might or might not lead to a referendum."

Watson is leaving his post at the end of June.

PERHAPS THE most ironic part of the referendum defeat was that it came two days after the University of Illinois announced it would have to reject 2,800 applicants this fall.

What does the future hold for suburban students? The picture has to be viewed as part of the national scene, where an estimated 7,000,000 students will have to be accommodated in 1970.

In a recent report, Educational Facilities Laboratories, Inc., of the Ford Foundation indicated college and university expansion plans are falling short of the need while actual building lags.

"The over-all gap between construction and needs is running at about $700 million a year. In other words, the colleges are spending about $1.2 billion a year on construction instead of the $1.9 billion the experts say is required."

Remember that the verb RISE does not take an object, the verb RAISE does take an object. This: "The audience will RISE when he RAISES THE FLAG." Avoid "rise up" and "raise up."

Do not say, "He was with us throughout the whole week." Omit "whole" since "throughout" means from end to end, or in every part of.

Do not say, "I think the child done very good." Say, "I think the child DID (or, HAS DONE) very WELL."

Do not say, "We need your help badly." It is much better to say, "We need your help VERY MUCH."

FV Link Squad Splits

Forest View varsity golfers beat Glenbrook South early last week on the basis of their fifth score after tying 317-317 and then lost 292-287 Thursday to Deerfield over 16 holes.

The win against Glenbrook South came Forest View's way after Don Campbell shot an 84 as fifth man to beat out the Titan fifth man with 93.

Pacing the Falcons was Al Piehl with a 73, while Ward Sear turned in a 79. Russ Barger's 82 and Jim Junkunc's 83 round out the usual scoring.

Piehl again paced the Falcons Thursday with a 65 on 16 and was the only player to finish the course, shooting a 73 on 18.

Bob O'Keefe trailed with a 76, while Campbell and Sear tied for third low with 77's.

The frosh-soph lost 377-342 to the Titans and 320-292 to the Warriors with Doug Locke pacing the young Falcons in both defeats. Locke carded an 84 against the Titans and 72 in 16 holes Thursday.

Evangelical Crusade Like Precision Machine

by JIM CARNS
Photographs by TOM GRIEGER

Joe Blinco, wearing a conservative suit and carrying a briefcase, strode to the podium Sunday afternoon in the Prospect High School fieldhouse and the Northwest Area Crusade began.

In a bit less than two hours after its beginning, the bright-voiced British associate evangelist of the Billy Graham team was calling those in the large audience to come forth and make commitments to Christ.

But there are two views of the evangelical crusade which, this week, is expected to draw more than 50,000 persons to the fieldhouse and Billy Graham's Sunday appeal at Arlington Park racetrack.

The meetings are the climax of the crusade, by one view, rather than the beginning. The seven-day series is surrounded by preparation and follow-up work involving scores of clergy and laymen from the northwest suburbs as well as the Chicago and national crusade organization.

THE SUBURBAN meetings are actually the first trial of a new appeal with its roots in the 1962 Chicago Crusade.

Planning began locally for evangelistic meetings to be directed by one of the Graham associate evangelists but the program was expanded to include Billy Graham himself to test the reaction.

The crusades are not taken lightly, nor can they be. Each must be fit into a tight national schedule for Dr. Graham, directors, associate evangelists and musicians of the team.

The "team" also includes about 270 full-time employes at national headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn.

But the broadest base for the suburban effort — as well as other crusades — is local volunteer help. Responsibility for everything from individual counseling to the budget rests in their hands.

The budget alone is a good indication of the size of the undertaking. For the Northwest Area Crusade, the figure has been set at nearly $40,000.

According to crusade director John Dillon, less than half of the necessary amount was raised by contributions before the meetings began. The remainder must come from offerings, and Joe Blinco encouraged members of the audience Sunday to donate not only a dollar or two, but $100 or $500. Blank checks were provided.

LARGE ITEMS in the budget include procurement of meeting areas, maintenance during the campaign, and publicity necessary to draw people from not only the northwest area, but all Chicagoland.

Training for counselors — both clergy and laymen — began long before the first meeting. They are charged with offering individual help to the many who will step forward in this week's meetings to make their commitment.

A volunteer choir sings throughout the series, in addition to soloist George Beverly Shea, accompanied by Don Hustad and Cliff Barrows of the Graham organization.

Ushers by the score must be on hand to handle expected throngs at the Billy Graham meeting, in addition to those already caring for crowds at Prospect High School.

Special interpretation is provided for the deaf at all meetings.

After the series has ended, while Billy Graham, Joe Blinco and others of the team are on their ways to other tightly scheduled crusades, the local office at 1618 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, will continue to function.

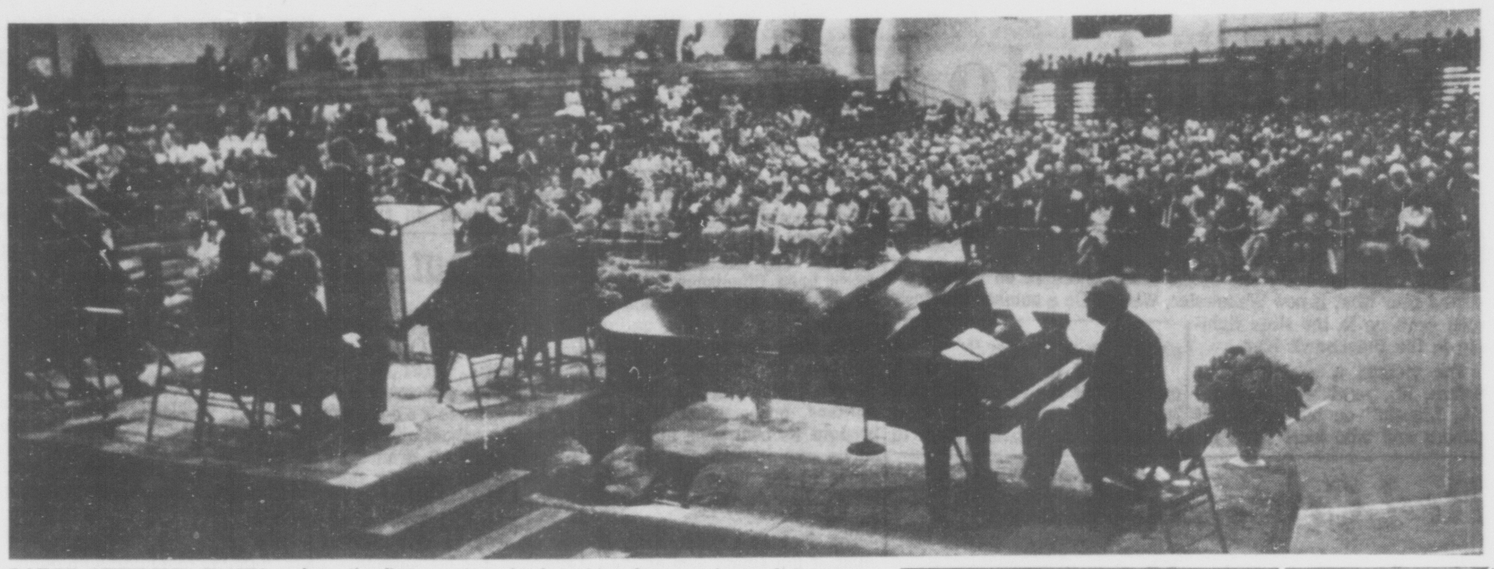
A double-checked system of referral to local ministers assures that those who have made their commitment will receive guidance, according to director Dillon.

The non-denomination crusade seeks to channel persons to the denomination in which they indicate preference, and checks to see that each has been contacted within weeks after the meetings end.

Bible lessons are also distributed, which may be completed and sent for grading to the Minneapolis headquarters. The distributed lesson will be followed by three more from the central office.

WHEN REV. Blinco took the floor Sunday afternoon and stated, "There are burdens here to be lifted," he pointed to the Gospel as the mover.

But the tool through which the Gospel moves may only be described as a precision machine designed strategically to reach as many people as possible, brought together in one place.



LARGE AUDIENCE WAITS to hear the first words of the Northwest Area Crusade in Prospect High School fieldhouse. Seating was not to capacity for the first meeting Sunday, but the school parking lot was jammed to overflowing. The nightly meetings at Prospect continue this week in preparation for the mass meeting Sunday at Arlington Park Racetrack.

FINAL BRIEFING IS given the Rev. Joe Blinco by the Rev. Harry L. Evans, general chairman of the Northwest Area Crusade, before the evangelist takes the stand. (A14

MOTHERS AND HOME

The love of home makes all the world akin. In Xenophon's Anabasis, which I once struggled through in Greek is told how the 10,000 Greeks under Xenophon who had followed Cyrus into the heart of Persia and, after his death in battle there, had fought their way back, the remnant of them, through terrible hardships and almost innumerable foes, went into transports of joy when they came within sight of the sea that would bear them home, crying, "the Sea, the Sea!"

And 'tis told how a homesick American turned away from the throngs of Paris and climbed to his garret and wrote the imperishable words of Home Sweet Home. Henry Van Dyke has written that it is "sweet to dream in Venice and it's great to study Rome, but when it comes to living there is no place like home."

And time would fail to note all that has been written in love and praise of Home. And home is where Mother is. And because she is there, we love home. It is not strange that the writer of the Proverbs writes of an idealized mother that her husband doth safly trust in her and that her children rise up and call her blessed.

And O mothers of today, daughters of the mothers of yesterday may you ever nurture your children near your heart.

Wisconsin to Make Good on Horse Stolen from Volunteer

by LANCE J. HERDEGEN
United Press International

EDGERTON, WIS., (UPI) — It's only 132 years late, but a group of Wisconsin residents is finally going to square things with Illinois for an 1832 horse theft.

The crime, probably one of the most successful on record, occurred near what is now Whitewater, Wis., while a number of Illinois men were up in the state fighting in the Blackhawk War.

The victim: a gangling New Salem, Ill., youth who scrawled "A. Lincoln" on his enlistment papers and who local folks regarded as a "comer."

ON JULY 11 of this year, members of the recently organized Southeastern Wisconsin Vacationland Association plan to turn over a horse to Illinois as a replacement for the animal stolen from the future president. The group hopes the action will remove any ill feeling that might keep Illinoisans from enjoying Wisconsin's vacation attractions.

The theft occurred while Lincoln was in Wisconsin with the Illinois volunteers, a rather unmilitary organization which brought its own guns and elected its own officers. Perhaps because of his fame as a storyteller, Lincoln was picked as captain.

The future commander-in-chief of the Union armies showed little military aptitude. It is recorded that when he gave his new command its first order, one lanky, whiskered volunteer in a rear rank told the young captain in explicit detail just where he could go.

LINCOLN, HOWEVER, also showed he possessed a quick mind. One time, as his company marched toward a small opening in a fence, he realized it couldn't get through the gate while in formation, so he turned and ordered: "Halt. Break ranks and re-form on the other side of the fence."

Lincoln's company was mustered out after three months and he joined, as a private, another organization being formed of men in similar circumstances.

The horse theft occurred the night of July 10, 1832, as Lincoln was being mustered out of the federal service without having heard a single gun being fired in anger and without seeing any of the fighting.

Historical documents mention briefly that the horses of Lincoln and a comrade, George Harrison, were missing on the morning of July 11 when the men prepared to break camp in the Cold Spring area near what is now Whitewater.

THE NAME OF the thief was never learned and the horse never recovered.

Lincoln had to walk most of the way home. Although sympathetic friends shared their mounts with him part of the way to Peoria, from there, he and Harrison floated down the Illinois River to Havana, and walked the rest of the way to New Salem.

The horse Wisconsin plans to give Illinois will be put to pasture near where Abe lived when he went off to fight the Indians — and had to walk home.

When the U. S. paymaster finally got around to paying off the volunteers sometime later, Lincoln received $125 dollars for his six months of duty. (A14

Skunk Gets in Jam over Jelly

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — A skunk got into a jam with a jelly jar and police came to its rescue recently.

The curious skunk had its head firmly lodged inside the jar, said Police Sgt. Gordon Lewis of suburban Bridgeton.

Lewis didn't waste time. He broke the jar with a garden tool and the skunk raced off into nearby woods. (A14

'K-12' Bill Sent To Gov. Romney

LANSING, MICH., (UPI) — The State Senate approved House amendments to reorganize Michigan school districts into units having all grades from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

The so-called K-12 bill is now on its way to Gov. George Rommey for his signature. (A14

Red Cross Advises Swimmers, Boaters

Drownings in boating and swimming accidents already this season have prompted the Red Cross to give advice on water safety.

Warren Bell, water safety chairman for north Cook county, pointed out that the "best defense against a drowning tragedy . . . is to know how to swim well." He also gives the following lifesaving "rules of the water":

1. Learn how to swim and become a strong swimmer.

2. Always swim with another person; never swim alone.

3. SWIM ONLY where lifeguards are on duty.

4. If you can't swim, don't rely on inflated tires, tubes or other flotation devices to keep you above the water.

When boating, he advised all occupants should wear life jackets. Infants and non-swimmers should be kept out of canoes, rowboats and other small, unstable craft, he added.

"The worst mistake a family can make is to overload a boat," said Bell. "Small family boats just aren't designed to carry more than four or five persons safely."

He said boat owners should note the warning load limit imprinted on the rear transom of most quality boats.

BELL WARNED that tragedy also can occur at neighborhood pools or in backyard wading pools. He cautioned parents who allow their children to "wade" in a pool to:

1. Agree that one older person will stay with them.

2. Remain alert, and look to see that each child is playing safely above the water.

3. Keep them from wading into water above their waist and be ready to help them if they fall. (B9

Club Backs Down Under Birch Attack

WHITEFISH BAY, WIS., (UPI) —The Lions Club of this Milwaukee suburb has changed its mind about its proposal to fly flags of United Nations countries on a village street.

The change came after the United Nations was described as communistic and socialist by audience members at a village board meeting.

The club had proposed last week that the American flag as well as flags from other countries which have Lions Clubs be flown on Silver Spring Drive light posts.

"I was surprised and shocked at a proposal of this type," said Mrs. John McEwan, Bayside, and a former village resident.

"I'VE MADE a long standing study of the UN . . . the only thing the UN can promote is socialism," she said. Mrs. McEwan said she is a John Birch Society member.

"Most members of the UN are communist and it would be out of place to fly communist flags on our streets," said Mrs. Teresa Williamson.

Whitefish Bay Attorney William Bo[illegible] said had to be "loyal to the United States or to flags are flown, there would be a tremendous policy conflict in the teaching of American citizenship in our schools," he said.

The club asked that the $1,000 it had donated to the board for the different flags be used for two new poles to fly the American flag.

Launch Drive Against Road Danger Spots

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner announced a program aimed at eliminating "high accident" locations on Illinois highways has been launched by the division of highways.

Engineers of the 10 districts of the Division of Highways have been asked to make an immediate review of all highways on which greater than normal hazards now exist, Kerner said. From the study, corrective action would be started.

The program is a nationwide campaign headed by President Lyndon B. Johnson aimed at reducing traffic accidents. (A14

State Board Discusses Junior College Reactions

CHICAGO, (UPI) — The Illinois State Board of Higher Education met Tuesday to discuss public reaction to its provisional master plan for expansion of higher educational opportunities.

Executive Director Richard G. Browne told board members most of the criticism centered on the board's plan to set up a state system of junior colleges, althought the general consensus was that junior colleges should be separated from the common school system and placed under a state college board of education.

Opposition was registered on proposed ways to finance the junior college program, some urging wholly state-financed institutions without the use of federal funds.

THE HIGHER education board favors the use of federal funds in aiding the program.

Browne also told the members that some expressed the view the board had an obligation to suggest where funds to finance the over-all higher education expansion program would come from.

The board estimates the minimum cost of building new colleges and universites and expanding present facilties to meet future educational needs through 1971 will be $285.6 million.

Lyman A. Glenny, associate director for planning for the higher education board, reviewed current changes in the proposed Higher Education Facilites Act.

ONE WOULD allow school district planning to create a junior college up to one year to raise matching funds for federal grants.

The board also authorized Southern Illinois University to accept two federal contracts.

One for $255,000 to train 100 Peace Corps volunteers to serve in Senegal and Nigeria and the other is a $1,044,000 Department of Labor contract for continuation of job retraining programs now being conducted by SIU.

Some Basic Answers on Carpet Care

Q. Tow often should I vacuum my carpet?

A. As often as necessary! Many homemakers vacuum carpets thoroughly once a week and use a carpet sweeper or light vacuuming for "pick-up" cleaning as needed. Your own schedule will depend on the amount of use your carpets get.

Q. I've noticed a lot of "shedding" from my new carpet. Does this mean I've bought an inferior quality?

A. Not at all. "Fluffing" or "shedding"—loose bits of pile on the surface—is a natural occurrence for new carpets and rugs. It does not affect the life or quality of your carpeting, and with use and vacuum-cleaning the fluff will soon disappear. Remember, your carpet is not disappearing—every tuft in the pile itself is still intact.

Q. I plan to use carpet in my living room, which has a large picture window. Will fading be a problem?

A. Good carpets do not fade easily. Just give them the normal protection from direct sunlight which you would give any colored fabric. Since you won't want anything in the room to fade quickly, you'll probably plan draperies which will help shade the room during the hours of the day when outside light is the strongest.

Q. My carpet looks "faded" but it's not exposed to any strong light. What's the problem?

A. Don't confuse fading with soiling. Atmospheric soil may eventually cause a dulling, or even a change of colors—for example, a light blue might appear to be a dull gray. The original carpet color is not lost, however. It is still there under the soil film, and a professional cleaning, or home cleaning with a surface brightener will restore the true hue. (SS

Mr. Alphonse Sinkus, Chicago, Ill.—"I like the style of the '64 Ford. It is so very comfortable. No trouble in parking. Now we're a two-Ford family and I'm happy about it."

Mrs. Erwin J. Schwab, Chicago, Ill.—"Nice car with enough room, and economy, too. From a woman's standpoint, the style is what I like. I like the way this car handles much better than my old Chevy."

Mr. Ronald Brown, Evanston, Ill.—"This is the first time I have owned a Ford. I compared and test-drove both a Chevy and a Ford. The Ford rides a lot better than the Chevy. I think the Cruise-O-Matic transmission is better than the Chevy transmission for economy and smoothness."

Mr. Richard Havlovic, Chicago, Ill.—"I had an Olds hardtop and wanted a convertible. The glasslike rear window in the Ford soft-top sold me on the car."

Mr. Robert Traxler, Chicago, Ill.—"My new Ford handles much better and rides much better than my old car. With the Ford, which has an 8-cylinder engine, we get much better gas mileage than we did with the 6-cylinder Chevy."

Mrs. Helen Zopf, Chicago, Ill.—"I like the size, especially in traffic and parking. The car seems very economical. It is much better than my Chevrolet. I find it very comfortable. My daughter Maureen drives, too, and the Falcon seems just right for her. I'd say it was the ideal family car . . . it seems to run forever on a dollar's worth of gas!"

4 Men Involved in Local Phone Management Switches

Illinois Bell Telephone has announced a four-way organization change of local management personnel in the northeastern suburban area. The change became effective June 1.

George W. Kaucher of 410 N. Patton St., Arlington Heights, manager in the Arlington Heights area since 1958, is transferred to the company's north shore division staff office in Chicago.

Succeeding him in Arlington Heights is Robert L. Berryhill of 102 S. Prairie St., Cary, formerly manager in the Barrington-Palatine area.

James S. Bell of Glenview, formerly on the north shore division staff, is transferred to the newly-created position of community relations manager in the northwestern suburban area. His responsibilities will include relations with news media, civic groups and municipal authorities.

Promoted to manager of the Barrington-Palatine area is Edward W. Hardy of 327 E. Lake St., Barrington, formerly assistant sales supervisor in Illinois Bell's special services section.

KAUCHER, born in Memphis, Tenn., attended high school in Chicago and Northwestern University and the University of Chicago. He is a veteran of 17 years of service with the phone company, having started in 1947 as a salesman in Oak Park.

After being assigned to the commercial assistant training program in 1951 he was promoted later that year to assistant staff supervisor in Chicago.

In 1955, Kaucher was promoted again, to assistant manager in Rockford, and, the following year, was promoted to manager in that city. He was transferred to Arlington Heights in 1958.

Kaucher has been active in community affairs while in Arlington Heights. He is a past president of the Arlington Heights Rotary Club, past vice president of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and the Arlington Heights United Fund and currently is vice president of the Northwest Industrial Council. Last year he served as campaign chairman of the Arlington Heights United Fund.

He and his wife, Jacqueline, have two sons, Chris, 14, and Stacy, 2½, and two daughters, Jo, 12, and Leslie, 11.

BERRYHILL, a native of Chicago, took his B.S. degree in economics from the University of Illinois in 1953, and graduated in the upper three per cent of his class. He was named to three different honor societies while in college and served on the Navy Pier "Illini" student newspaper.

He joined Illinois Bell in 1953 as a salesman in Champaign, and, after a two-year period in the 37th Infantry Division, returned to Illinois Bell in 1955, first in sales and later that year was promoted to commercial supervisor in the firm's public relations department. After a stint in the management training program he was transferred to Evanston in 1958 and in 1959 was promoted to assistant manager in Skokie. In April, 1961 he was transferred to Arlington Heights and helped set up the company's centralized mail remittance center there.

In August, 1961 he was named Barrington manager.

Berryhill is president of the Barrington Chamber of Commerce and a steward in the Cary Methodist Church. He has been active in the Barrington United Fund and is a past vice president of the Barrington Kiwanis Club. He and his wife, Alice Ann, have two sons, Stephen, 7, and Bruce, 18 months, and a daughter, Valerie, 5. Mrs. Berryhill was formerly a telephone operator with Illinois Bell.

BELL, A NATIVE of Jerseyville, Ill., attended high school there and Washington University in St. Louis.

He joined Illinois Bell in 1947 as a commercial representative in Decatur. The following year he was promoted to salesman in Alton and in 1949 was transferred to Champaign. In 1951 he returned to the sales staff in Alton and later that year was promoted to assistant staff supervisor in Springfield. In successive assignments he was transferred to Champaign, promoted to manager in Danville, transferred to manager of Evanston and then, in August, 1963, he was named to the north shore division staff in Chicago.

Bell served in a submarine detection group in the Navy from 1943 to 1946. He was a member of the board of the Evanston Chamber of Commerce and has served as chairman of the Congressional Action Committee in Evanston. He has been active in the Evanston Kiwanis Club and the Evanston United Fund.

Bell met his wife, Kathryn, while she was a district sales clerk with the phone company in Alton. The Bells have two youngsters, Jimmy, 11, and Cathy, 8.

HARDY, A NATIVE of Evanston, attended Libertyville High School and took his degree from Northwestern University, majoring in psychology. A member of the college's Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps, he was assigned to the USS Kearsage, an aircraft carrier, for two years in the Western Pasific. He is in lieutenant (senior grade) in the Naval Reserve.

Two friends in his college fraternity, Phi Kappa Sigma, suggested he apply to Illinois Bell and he started working for the phone company in 1960, assigned to the management assistant program. In 1961 he was transferred as business office supervisor in River Grove and in 1962 he was promoted to assistant manager in Maywood. In October of last year he was transferred as assistant sales supervisor in the company's special services bureau in Chicago.

Hardy served as an area chairman for the Elmhurst drive of the American Cancer Society. He's interested in many sports and plays basketball, tennis and golf. He and his wife, Dorothy, have two daughters, Christine, 3½, and Susan, 2.

Schlickman Keynoter At YR's Convention

Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, the first Wheeling Township resident ever to be slated as a candidate in a state-wide election, will deliver the keynote address tonight, Thursday, during a Mock National Convention at the regular meeting of the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club.

According to YR president Bruce Ladd, the convention is designed "to enhance our members' appreciation of the convention method of selecting candidates for President and Vice President."

GENE SCHLICKMAN

Ladd said Young Republicans and members of the Teen-Age Republican Club will be assigned to delegate votes of the 50 states, and that the convention program will then closely parallel that used in actual national conventions.

SITE OF THE convention will be the Williamsburg Room at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, 25 E. Campbell St., Arlington Heights. Starting time is 8 p.m.

Schlickman, a 34-year-old former member of the Arlington Heights Village Board, was nominated at the GOP convention Monday as one of 118 Republican candidates for State Representative.

He has a long record of activity in the Republican party, including service as a precinct captain, township area chairman, and member of the GOP committeeman's advisory staff. He is a member of the YR club.

A PRACTICING lawyer, Schlickman won the Arlington Heights Jaycees' "young Man of the Year" award in 1960 and was co-chairman of the Arlington Heights Committee for Judicial Reform in 1962.

Tonight's YR meeting will mark his first speaking engagement since his nomination for the House earlier this week in Springfield.

Ladd explained that, on the convention's first ballot, all votes will be cast according to the current, actual commitments of the various state delegations. Under this system, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona will enter the balloting with 310 delegate votes, a comfortable lead over his nearest competitor.

ON ALL succeeding ballots, Ladd pointed out, YR and TAR members will vote according to their personal preferences.

"This should be a spirited contest in which several roll calls will probably be necessary to nominate a candidate," Ladd said. "Nothing's 'for sure' in politics."

The YR president announced the election of Raymon Roach of Wheeling as a member of the club's board of directors to fill a vacancy, and the appointment of Douglas Johnson of Arlington Heights as club program chairman.

MEMBERSHIP in the club is open to all Wheeling Township residents between the ages of 18 and 36.

The club meets regularly the first Thursday evening of each month at the Colt Restaurant on Rand Road (Rt. 12), one-half miles northwest of Arlington Heights Road. (B9

A MORE PERMANENT HOME can be a dream come true—with all the attractive furnishings and accessories which have been planned and hoped for since the days of the first apartment. Here, wall-to-wall carpeting underscores the inviting atmosphere of the living room. It is practical in its sturdy construction, pretty with tone-on-tone coloring and a graceful design in the looped texture. The carpeting makes the room seem even more spacious and is the basis for the color scheme.

Style, Performance Guide Fiber Choice

You can choose from all of today's fiber names and types with more confidence if you remember this guide:

A carpet or rug is a finished product. Compare finished products—not just raw materials—for total satisfaction in style and performance. (SS

Wool? Nylon Acrylic? Which is the best carpet fiber?

As simple as this question may sound, there is no simple "pat" answer.

There are, however, some reliable guides for carpet shoppers who find the varieties of fibers baffling and the decisions difficult.

FIRST OF ALL, it's important to remember that fiber content alone is no guarantee of carpet quality or performance. Good cooks know that the most important "ingredient" in a recipe is skill in preparation—and reliable carpet manufacturers know that the quality of a finished product depends on more than just the raw materials used.

Second, it's helpful to realize that the varied choice in carpets and rugs can be a help, not a hurdle in shopping.

Today's supply of both natural and man-made fibers has made possible such a wide range of styles and qualities that you can make a selection best suited to your own taste—and your pocketbook.

The best way to answer the baffling "fiber question" is to evaluate what you expect from a carpet in appearance, durability and ecomony. Each fiber has its own properties affecting these points.

In styling—to name just two examples—resilient fibers such as wool and acrylic are especially suited to plush "velvety" textures. Clear, sharp colors may be found in wool, or more economically, in man-made fibers such as nylon, acrylics or polypropylene.

Established American manufacturers choose fibers most adaptable to desired color and texture effects. It's essential to select a carpet which looks and feels good to you—you'll want to enjoy its appearance and comfort for a long time.

But suppose you've found the right color and texture, and the carpet feels good. You're still not sure about the fiber—how will it wear?

PILE DENSITY is more important than fiber when it comes to durability. The vital key is: "The deeper, the denser, the better." Closely-packed surface tufts help to support each other and resist wear.

Some fibers are noted for abrasion - resistance, however. Nylon, acrylics and polypropylene offer good value in medium-priced carpets for heavy use. Or you might choose wool in a durable, high-quality carpet if you also prefer its styling characteristics.

As for cleaning, easy vacuuming is basic for all carpets—and frequency depends largely on how readily color and texture show soil, footprints or other signs of use.

However, if frequent spot-cleaning would be a major consideration in your home, you might decide on a stain-resistant fiber—such as nylon, acrylic or polypropylene—in addition to choosing a practical color and texture.

Is economy uppermost? A low-cost carpet of any fiber would be suitable for a light-traffic area or short-term use; or you might select a striking color or design economically produced in cotton or rayon.

Pointers In Choosing Area Rugs

Here are a few points to remember in choosing area rugs:

1. Consider furniture placement as related to the rug. If the rug has a handsome border or center motif, plan to show it to best advantage.

2. Consider shape as well as size of the rug—for instance, choose an oval rug to follow the lines of a table, or a square rug to place in the center of a furniture grouping.

3. Use a cushion or padding under most large rugs—cut to an inch less in length and width so that the rug slightly overlaps the pad.

4. Anchor small rugs on polished floors for safety's sake. Use tape, tacks or a non-slip powder preparation made for this purpose.

5. If you use a rug over carpet, remember to pick the rug up and vacuum the carpet underneath during regular cleaning. (SS

A CARPETED STAIRWAY is a decorative asset as well as an important factor in family safety and comfort. This extension of the carpeted room helps to relate living areas of the home and unify color schemes.

Eastwood Events

Individual gifts for her new home were given to Mrs. Robert Glader last Tuesday at a farewell party in the home of Mrs. Edna Harty. Carol and Bob and their two sons, Gary and Billy, who lived at 202 Brighton Place for the past seven years, moved into their new home at 407 N. Beverly Lane on Thursday.

All the ladies at the party were Brighton Place neighbors except Ellen Behrens and Lucille Tatge, who formerly lived on that street, but recently moved away.

Newcomers from Evanston now residing at 202 are Irene and Cecil Taylor and their two youngsters, Kenneth and Amy.

A late moving van and a case of measles for Mr. Taylor marred some of the joy of their arrival, which misfortunes, we hope, will be offset by many happy times in their new home and neighborhood.

OTHER FORMER Brighton Place residents, Mr. and Mrs. George Westby, were also weekend vistiors to the community. Now of Cresskill, N.J., the Westbys were here to see their first grandchild, John Russell, new son of Rusty and Ann Westby of Palatine. The baby has been named after Grandpa Dyer, who was known and loved by his neighbors before his death just a year ago. George and Alberta were Sunday dinner guests of Virginia and Ed Neas.

Mrs. Neas is entering Evanston hospital on Thursday with major surgery scheduled for Friday, that is if there is "space available." As Mrs. Neas puts it, you take a number and wait in line, even for surgery. All of our best wishes for a very speedy recovery are sent to Virginia.

The Neas' oldest daughter, Caroline, will return from classes at the University of Illinois next Wednesday, so will be home to lend a helping hand with household chores while her mother convalesces.

ALTHOUGH June 2 was Mark Tatge's offical eighth birthday, he entertained his pals on Monday with a "Rancho" birthday supper. Partying will again take place at the Tatges' Sunday when guest of honor at an open house will be older son, Paul, who graduated from St. Viator's High School Wednesday. He is planning to attend Loyola University in the fall. Mark and Paul are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tage of 814 N. Dryden.

Bishop Cletus O'Donnell bestowed the sacrament of confirmation upon several neighborhood young people a week ago Sunday at St. James Catholic Church. Among the group were Michael and Kathleen Harty, Claudia Scully and Keith Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crok of Glenview were sponsors for the Harty youngsters and later joined friends from Northbrook and Chicago at the John Harty home on Brighton for a party for both children.

Celebration of the event in the Scully home was curtailed due to the serious illness of Mr. Scully's grandmother, who has since died. Mrs. Scully's sister, Emily Ann of Cincinnati, was Claudia's sponsor by proxy.

Dinner at Hapsburg Inn followed by the movie "Lilies of the Field" was enjoyed as much by honoree Keith Anderson as it was by his mother and dad and brother and sister.

THIS PAST weekend Eileen and Jack Anderson and Keith, Brian and Norine drove in their new travel trailer to St. Louis where they met their daughter Dawne, who was on her way home for the summer from Oklahoma College for Women. The whole family spent Memorial Day weekend camping at Pere Marquette State Park and had a wonderful outdoor time — hiking, horseback riding, eating and sleeping. In fact, they were so busy enjoying the novelty of camping they didn't have time to visit friends in the area. Even their dog fit into the trailer which sleeps six.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Moodie of N. Douglas Avenue entertained for Sunday evening dessert before the recent Village Theatre play "Send Me No Flowers" in which Euclid Avenue resident, Red Pownall, had a major role as Doctor Morrissey, and Gladys Pownall served as assisant production manager.

Guests at the Moodies, and in the Pownall cheering section, were Village Theatre patrons of many years, the Bill Inmans, Joe Babs, Russ Walters, William Stuebers, Dick Bronwells, Harry Pearsons and Mildred Pearson.

The Walters' son, Rusty, returned home Sunday after finishing his first year at Miami Universtiy in Oxford, Ohio.

TWO DOUGLAS Avenue families, the Earl Fraziers and the George Pearsons, have enjoyed late spring vacations. Earl and June Frazier first vacationed in Washington, D.C. and then in Michigan, while the Pearsons spent the Memorial Day weekend in Wisconsin.

After three weeks in New York at the Fair, Bruce McBride of N. Brighton returned home Sunday. It wasn't all pleasure though for Mr. McBride, as he spent the time taking innumerable pictures and slides for Eastman Kodak Co., his employer.

Recently Peter Luedeking played host to his entire 7th grade class from Miner Junior High School at a party in his home at 746 N. Beverly Lane.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Alice Esthus entertained many of her neighbors at a luncheon. The Esthuses, who moved away and then came back again to their home on Lincoln Lane, have done considerable remodeling. Mrs. Esthuses' daughters, Sue and Dale from nearby suburbs, were also luncheon guests.

EARLY EVERY Friday morning the call of "Fore" is a familiar one for many localites, as a group of neighborhood ladies are members of the St. James Golf league which plays at Old Orchard. Betty Cockrell, Eileen Anderson, Barbara Hanna, Fran McKnight, Doris Gavin, Phips Scully and Jean Rogers make up several of the foursomes.

Old Orchard Country Club on Saturday night will also be the scene of Eastwood's annual bridge dinner and dance party at which time winners and scores for the past year will be announced. (A Engineer Reveals Plan for Northwest Hwy.

Expect Work to Begin Next Fall

by T. WILLIAM SWINFORD
Staff Writer

The old Northwest Highway is expected to look like new by the end of the 1965 construction year — if state plans for the road are carried out.

The plans, as explained by Al Sifer, highway designer with the Chicago office of the Illinois Division of Highways, call for resurfacing the road from Rohlwing Road in Palatine to River Road in Des Plaines.

The expected improvement, including "throat-widening" of Wilke Road, Euclid Avenue and Arlington Heights Road in Arlington Heights and Elmhurst Road, Central Road and Mount Prospect Road in Mount Prospect, will cost about $400,000 Sifrer said.

A "two-clo" traffic interchange where relocated Route 53 crosses the Northwest Highway, (Route 14), will cost an additional $2 million.

Land acquisition for that part of the project is not included in the cost and Sifrer said he did not have access to the figures involved.

THE STATE had to obtain all homes in the Blue-Bell Estates in the area of the cloverleaf, as well as the Turf Motel property, which will be relocated, Sifrer said.

In addition the state purchased additional right of way from several businesses along the highway.

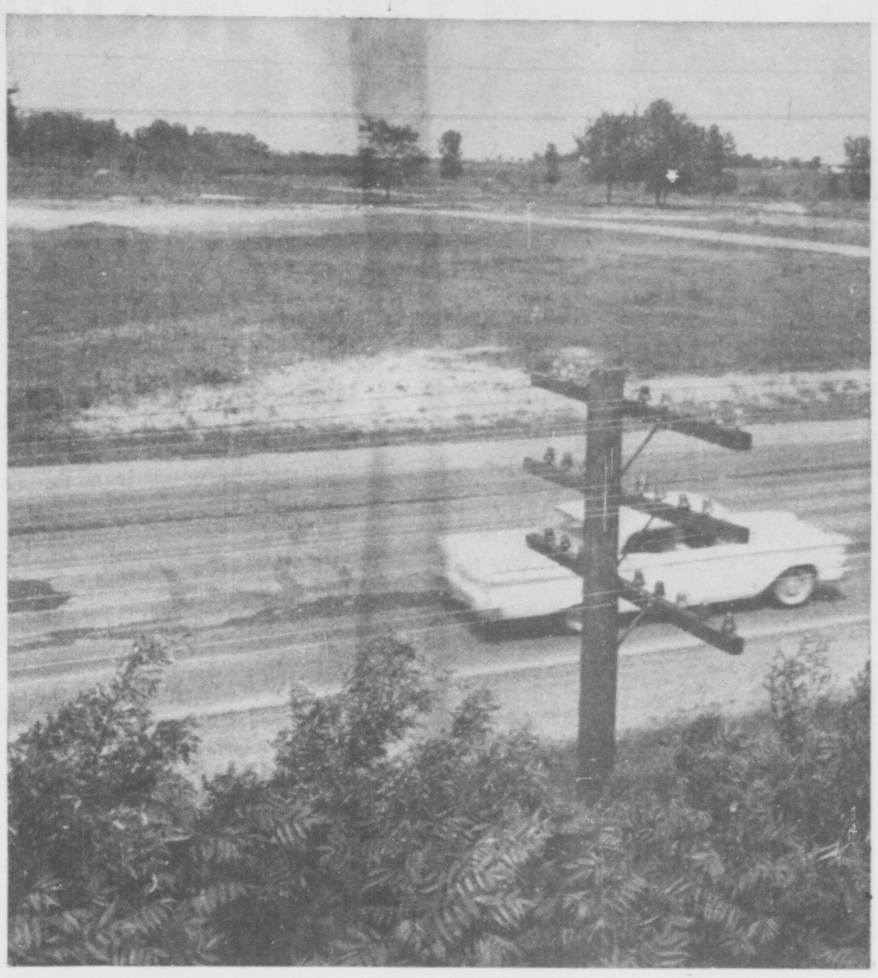
Sifrer said he did not believe any businesses, other than the motel, would close their doors.

However owners of the Hi-Way Recreation, a bowling alley, plan to vacate the premises. They contend they have no parking area to handle the cars they attract.

Several business people in the cloverleaf area have complained. Sifrer said, of the median strip, six-inches high, planned for the middle of Route 14.

He said the strip would inconvenience the businesses in that patrons would have to drive past the establishment, turn around and drive back on the other side of the road to patronize the business.

The interchange's two "leafs" will be on the northwest and northeast quadrants of the juncture of the roads.



TRAFFIC INTERCHANGE SITE—This photo looks north across the Northwest Highway along the path relocated Route 53 will cross the road. A traffic interchange is planned for this location and will cost $2 million. In addition to the interchange, some $400,000 is earmarked for other improvements to the Northwest Highway from Rohlwing Road in Palatine to River Road in Des Plaines. (Staff Photo).

Two intersections will be provided, one northwest of the overpass and one southeast of the overpass. Southeast bound traffic wishing to turn north onto Route 53, will have to go under the overpass, stop at an intersection, and cross northwest bound traffic.

DRIVERS seeking to go south on Route 53 who are traveling southeast on Route 14. will stop before the overpass and cross northwest bound traffic with a signal.

Southbound traffic on Route 53 will leave the expressway, cross northwest bound traffic on Route 14 and go southeast, if they desire.

A similar situation will prevail for northbound expressway traffic seeking to go to Arlington Heights or Mount Prospect or other locations southeast of the Junction.

Sifrer and two other designers last week explained the plan to an audience of nearly 100 people in Mount Prospect, which was antagonistic.

The plan calls for the elimination of parking where necessary to provide left turn bays at strategic intersections. It also calls for the removal of one block of parking on Elmhurst Road in Mount Prospect.

Sifrer said the usual method of explaining the plans is for him to meet with the village engineer in the various municipalities and see where the trouple spots exist.

The crew later meets with the village board, informally, to explain the plan to village officials. A public hearing is set still later to inform the public of the various facets of the plan.

Last week's appearance in Mount Prospect was to be the second stage with the board informally. Sifrer said the village engineer, Ben Hemmeter, failed to meet with the state people on the problem at all.

Members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce planned to attend a meeting this week between that village board and Sifrer and his crew.

HOWEVER, the merchants to be affected by any removal of parking, on the north side of the village, contend the state does not own the right of way where diagonal parking exists in Arlington Heights.

E. Charles Alft, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said the parking area is owned by the village. He said the land is part of the Morris Parkway. He said merchants were not overly incensed about the matter since they feel the existing roadway is all that is owned by the state and therefore will not affect the parking.

Sifrer said no additional right of way will be purchased for the resurfacing improvement along the roadway.

He said parking will be removed from the roadway where the state owns the right of way. By so doing, he said, the state will jump from four 10-foot lanes to five 10 foot lanes, which will give plenty of land for the left turn bays at intersections.

This proposal will mean that congested intersections will have a middle lane for left turns, a straight ahead lane and a right turn or straight ahead lane.

Bdsinessmen in Mount Prospect have long contended they will go out of business if parking is curtailed.

Especially worried and contentious about the proposal are those businessmen utilizing parking along Main Street, from Busse Avenue to the Northwest Highway.

Currently, diagonal parking is used on the east side of the street and parallel parking along the west side.

After his appearance in Mount Prospect, Sifrer, said he checked state records to find a permit to the village allowing the diagonal parking.

He said he could find no permit.

SIFRER said the state has not complained of municipalities using state right of way for parking, but has required permits for diagonal parking.

He said any parking on state right of way is illegal and could be policed, but said the state "didn't push the issue."

He also said the improvement program would likely be finished in Des Plaines and Arlington Heights with Mount Prospect ignored.

If this is the case, he said, a "thin surface will be put on the Northwest Highway through Mount Prospect to help keep the road from breaking up."

However, Sifrer said the highway is in such condition that if it is not resurfaced extensively and soon the entire road will have to be rebuilt.

He pointed out that Route 14 is a federal road. He said if the road is rebuilt, it will have to be to federal specifications, which require 12 - foot lane widths. This would necessitate condemming business property for the necessary 60-foot roadway and shoulders. A total of 80-feet of right of way would be needed.

Such condemnation procedures through Mount Prospect would take several feet from the front of many stores.

The state planned to include the project in a July 17 bid letting at Springfield. Sifrer said the interchange project could be let at that time, but said the remainder of the project will have to wait until the August bid letting.

THE STATE has 10 days following the receipt of bids, in which to award the contract. The contractor has 10-days after that in which to begin work.

Sifrer indicated the work would possibly begin about the middle of September. He said, depending on climactic conditions, the resurfacing would require about two months.

However, state specifications forbid the pouring of asphalt when the temperature drops below 40 degrees. He said the work would definitely be completed by the end of the 1965 construction season. (B9

'Both Are Creative Arts'

Athlete-Turned-Musician Winning Many Suburb Fans

by CHUCK HAYES
Staff Writer

A young man who is equally at home on a basketball court and on a piano bench is winning a large suburban following.

Jerry K, who entertains at the Embers Restaurant, Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, Arlington Heights, piano bar Thursday through Saturday and in the main lounge Tuesday and Wednesday, has an entertainment record rivaled only by his sports success.

But he sees no incongruity in his love for sports and his love of music.

"MUSIC AND athletics go together," he contends. "Both are creative arts."

A top athlete in student days, he possesses 22 trophies for basketball, softball, bowling, and baseball. He played on two CYO champion basketball teams and on city-wide champion teams in softball and football.

For two years he was Chicago city free throw champion.

JERRY K (he explains that his last name was too hard to spell, so he dropped it) abandoned a successful quartet several years ago and became a single.

His present "act" was developed only six months ago.

Since becoming a single he has played numerous clubs, lounges, and restaurants in Chicago and suburbs.

"I ENJOY working in the suburbs," he insists. "Suburbanites are more receptive and more appreciative of good entertainment."

A native of Chicago, Jerry is a graduate of DePaul Academy. He began studying music at the age of 12 and has been studying voice and piano ever since.

He studied classical music with Casper Oleszewski, popular music with Carroll LeFavor, piano with Carl Barwick at the American Conservatory of Music.

Currently he is studying jazz piano with Al Swain of Evanston, who has done some special arrangements for Jerry.

Jerry also plays the accordian, saxophone, and guitar.

His professional career began in high school when he joined a band which played dances, socials, and weddings. In his junior year he took over the band, which ranged from eight pieces with a girl singer down to four pieces.

HIS HIGHLY-individual piano arrangements reveal the breadth and range of his talent: from the delicacy and sensitivity of "I'll Remember April," "All the Things You Are," or "Love for Sale" to the bright beat of "Fly Me to the Moon," "West Side Story," or calypso tunes.

For delightful changes of pace, he swings into original improvisations and parodies which are exciting romps all the way.

In a pleasing bass baritone voice, Jerry's vocal selections display tenderness and emotional depth as well as spirited good humor.

THE BLOND pianist-singer doesn't fit the image of the hollow-chested night club musician. His strong build and ruddy complexion is proof of his penchant for physical fitness.

He keeps in shape by bowling (average 175).

But music is his true love. He has some favorites:

—Male vocalist, Sammy Davis Jr., "for his unusual tones and talent for doing everything differently."

—Female vocalist, "Ella Fitzgerald, of course."

—Jazz pianist, Oscar Peterson.

Jerry K has a Mrs. K, whom he married last year. They live in Chicago.

His continued popularity as pianist and baritone vocalist at The Embers may force a move to the suburbs.

Native Arlington Man, Bride Mark 50 Years

A native of Arlington Heights and his bride of 50 years ago will be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, June 6, with an open house for friends and relatives.

Born in Arlington Heights, Herman F. Hinz, lived with his seven brothers and sisters and his parents, the Carl Hinzes, at the southeast corner of Vail and Campbell. When still a small boy, Herman moved with his family to Chicago and the Hinz home was subsequently moved to a new location on Vail to make room for the store building now located on the busy corner.

IT WAS AT a Memorial Day outing of church young people where Herman first met Marguerite Ritter, who became his bride June 2, 1914. After their marriage, the couple lived in Chicago, moving back to Arlington Heights in 1931. The Hinzes now live at 213 MacArthur Drive in Mount Prospect.

Mr. Hinz, a former village treasurer of Mount Prospect, is now associated with Herman Hinz Printers on Central Road. The couple has one son, Herman F. Hinz, Jr., who resides in Inverness. (S

Doctors Concerned About Growth of Water Pollution

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

(This is the third of four articles on the reports on air and water pollution, and pesticide and radiation contamination delivered at the first national Congress on Environmental Health Problems sponsored by the American Medical Association May 1 and 2 in Chicago.)

Water pollution is an increasing rather than a decreasing problem, if two plus two still equals four.

Applying this principle of addition to what was said at a national medical symposium on "water supply and pollution" in Chicago May 1 and 2, it amounts to:

1—The problem of human domestic sewage that man is only beginning to cope with after centuries of water-borne plagues;

Plus 2—The problem of industrial wastes in an increasingly industrialized society, particularly chemical wastes, including "demonstrable quantities" of cancer causing agents;

Plus 3—Chemicals, a massive array of them, ranging from common household detergents and bleaches—to a galaxie of pesticides used on crops, lawns, against insects, weeds and fungi, sprayed into and from the air onto the soil and water, against the airborne mosquito to the burrowing Japanese beetle, everywhere a new contaminant upon which present methods of water treatment and pollution control have no effect, and its effect on the human organism is still "unknown."

Makes—water pollution "one of the most pressing social and economic issues of our time."

And could continue to add up to—"water, water everywhere nor any drop to drink."

Practically no remedies to water pollution were offered or discussed at the conference, save replacing some toxic compounds on the market with less toxic compounds.

Rather, the five speakers concentrated on alerting the assembly of physicians and public health officers to the magnitude and perils of water pollution and urged medical people to encourage and support public education and action to combat this pollution.

Riding throughout the presentations on water pollution was a ghost in the form of pesticides, not tastable or viewable, practically unknown in its total effect, and only a murky suspect when its presence becomes detected via extensive fish kills in rivers or streams-after the contaminated water has probably passed through a municipal water system.

The subject of pesticides, to which one afternoon had been devoted on the first day of the Congress on Environmental Health sponsored by the American Medical Association, hung heavy also during the talks on water pollution, and even invaded the section of the conference dealing with air pollution. In its insidiousness and longevity, it has been likened to radioactive fallout.

"Today. . .we must face the fact that households are discharging into sources of our drinking water vast quanitites of household chemicals, industry is polluting our rivers with its chemical wastes including demonstrable quantities of carcinogens, and agriculture is contaminating the soil and secondarily the water with huge quantities of synthetic pesticides, herbicides, and fungicides," said Gaylord W. Anderson, M.D., Mayo professor and director of the School of Public Health at the University of Minnesota.

"While we may correctly say that no one has yet demonstrated any pathological consequences of drinking water containing any of such an array of pollutants," he continued, "who can say that pathologic effects will not appear at a later date?

"None of these substances may be harmful in the minute quantites currently present, but can we be certin tht deleterious effects will not arise from the increased amounts of the future, or can we be assured that the continued ingestion of the present amounts may not ultimately lead to or be a factor in the development of human ailments? And what can we say of the still unknown pullutants of tomorrow?

"We cannot deny that we jre dealing, however minutely, with substances of known toxicity, and that the quantities are increasing. At what point do we exceed the critcal level, for there must be a critcal level, even though we do not know it today?

"We may well say with the psalmist, 'How long, oh Lord, how long?' "

Man is introducing environmental "hazards which might well have staggered the fertile imagination of Jules Verne," Anderson said, and man is "almost completely devoid of knowledge as to the removal. . .of chemical contaminanats."

With the huge and still rapidly increasing demand on our water supply, how many human metabolism and industrial processes might one molecule of water pas on its way down streams and rivers before it reaches the se, Anderson said he has often wondered.

Although man has been successful in elimnating waterborne disease of a bacterial cuase, such as typhoid, cholera and dysentery, he is "grossly lacking knowledge" on ridding waer of viruses causing internal disease, such as infectious hepatitus, said both Anderson and C. L. Wilbar Jr., M.D., Pennsylvania secretary of health.

As an example of hazards of water pollutants, Wilbar said that in India it has been observed that goiter is more frequent in downstream villages than those situated on the higher reaches of water course.

And he warned of the "chronic effects" on humans of nitrates from chemical fertilizers, and that nitrates and phosphates from these fertilizers can severely reduce the recreational desiarbility of a body of water, causing green algae scums and chemical changes tht will make blue waters like Lake Tahoe turn gray.

A study of families camping in the midwest showed that 75 per cent of them were "there because of family problems they hoped to wash away through this outdoor experience," Wilbar continued.

"The mental health of our nation is directly related t water pollution control," he said.

He touched upon ground water pollution as well as that of surface waters. "This out o sight, out of mind disposal of human wastes to the underground may, before long, catch up with us, just as in the early days of our nation the indes-surface streams caught up with us."

"Solution of pollution by dilution, even of treated sewage effluent, can no longer be tolerated," Harold M. Ericks o, M. D., deputy director of the California depar men of Health, told the asemblage. ". . .maintenance of the status quo is not acceptable and will not resolve our increasingly complex problems" of water pollution," he said. "Water remains our most precious resource."

All five speakers continually harked back to the problem of a "vast array of chemical contaminants" in the water.

"Unfortunately we cannot wait for incontrovertible proof of danger before instituting a search for substances that are potentially less toxic. . .irreversible damage may have already been done," Anderson said.

"Many aspects of water pollution that are devoid of hazard to him who drinks the water are nonetheless of commercial or conservation concern in that they impair the suitability of water for the industrial uses farther down stream or may seriously disrupt the ecology of the stream," he stated.

Detergents have actually been a good public indictor of chemical water pollution because of their foaming quality, Russell E. Teague, Kentucky commisioner of health, noted. But this indicator is oon to be lost, for much less durable detergents are soon to replace in soaps hte present detergens which are apparent may miles downstream from a community.

Man's pollution "could destroy even the Great Lakes if the process (is) not reversed," Wilbar quoted an authority on pollution as having stated.

"Almost every intelligent individual is for the control of water pollution, but to get this support organized in an effective and decisive manner so that the legislative branch of government is impressed with the necessity for substantial financial and legal support is another matter," related Curtis M. Everts, Jr. director of the United States Public Health Service water laborator in the Pcific northwest.

"Disagreement as to objectives and needds, the reluctance of many individuals to express opinions, and the complexities of control procedures have all contributed to an apparent inability in the past to develop a united effort," he said.

Probe Huge Fish Kill in Missouri R.

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — A team of biologists and educators from the U.S. Public Health Service cooperated with state and local authorities last week to investigate a mammoth fish kill in the Missouri River extending between St. Louis and Kansas City.

The state's pollution control and conservation agencies asked federal officials for help in determining the reason for the extensive fish kills.

The biologists began an immediate survey of Missouri River water at the St. Louis County Water Company's intake plant near Chesterfield, Mo. One source suspected deadly chemical moving downriver, killing fish.

WILLIAM E. Towell, director of the Missouri Conservation Commission, said his agents have been collecting water samples and dead fish from every section of the Missouri and its tributaries.

Conservation officials in Kansas and Nebraska have been alerted, and Illinois officials are expected to take part in the investigations here.

Towell said a pesticide used in killing army worms in wheat fields apparently caused a big fish kill in five southeast Missouri counties last week.

Towell said cause of the Missouri River fish kill was not yet known, but he emphasized that similar spraying of wheat fields in central Missouri has been reported. (B-9

Village Theatre Is Valued Community Council Member

(Another in a series of articles on the aims and activities of member organizations of the Arlington Heights Community Council.)

In the late summer of 1949 an article appeared in the Herald, suggesting the creation of a non-professional theatre in the community and inviting interested residents to attend an organizational meeting.

Roughly a dozen accepted that invitation and thus was born Village Theatre, an organization which is today composed of 70 residents of Arlington Heights and nearby communities and which this past year presented its 50th play in 14 years of existence.

Program was modest that initial year, two plays being presented — "Night Must Fall" and "Blithe Spirit." Initial president was Douglas Anderson, no longer a community resident. Two of that original dozen are still active VT members. They are Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, 726 S. Highland, 1964 VT stage manager, and Mrs. Robert Hawley, 45 S. Ridge, 1964 production manager. Both are association past presidents.

Aims and objectives of the fledgling group, then as now, were to bring to the community good plays, well-performed, close at home, for a reasonable cost; and to bring together all residents with experience or interest in the theatre, to help make it a growing cultural force in the community and to afford to its members a continuing and worthwhile form of self-expression.

Originally Village Theatre utilized directors from within its membership for the various plays it presented. In 1958 this was changed to the plan of hiring a professional director, a separate director being chosen for each play.

In 1961 Village Theatre obtained its own resident director, Richard Tyler, a veteran of more than a decade in all phases of show business, including summer stock, opera, television and university dramatics.

Today Village Theatre presents three plays each winter, plus a fourth play strictly for children. In addition, special shows are prepared for clubs and organizations upon request.

VT also sponsors courses in speech and diction, and in acting techniques, for beginners or experienced actors. These are held at various parks and are open to the public.

Speech and diction classes are held bi-weekly; acting classes, weekly. Courses are contemplated for the future on play direction and various phases of backstage work.

Village Theatre is also spearheading a drive for a community cultural center in cooperation with the Arlington Heights Park District. Land has already been obtained for this center, and a building fund drive is planned.

Membership meetings are held on the second Thursday of each month from September through May at Park School, Park and Chestnut Streets, anl are open to any person interested in amateur theatrical work.

Besides regular business, programs utilize directing and acting talents of the membership in a play or excerpt or involve an outside expert in stagecraft to broaden the group's knowledge.

Each summer Village Theatre holds a season ticket sales campaign. In addition to a cash savings, holders of these season tickets, or patrons as they are known, receive choice seats in the order in which reservations are received by the box office.

After patron reservations have been completed, tickets are available to the general public. Persons who find it impractical to become patrons but who desire to see one or more plays may have their name placed on a list for tickets available after patron reservations are filled.

Newly-elected officers are: president, Al Estrella, 2400 Wing, Rolling Meadows; vice president, Mrs. Fred Brooks, 633 S. Chestnt; secretary, Mrs. Charles Linde, 3605 Fremont, Rolling Meadows; treasurer, Melvin Freeman, 1140 S. Douglas; executive secretary, Mrs. Richard Burkett, 1221 N. Harvard. Board of directors is composed of the above officers, plus Mrs. Wilbur Pownall, 722 E. Euclid, playreading chairman; Mrs. John Lobenhofer, 108 S. Albert, Mount Prospect, workshop chairman, and Mrs. Ed Hume, 2922 Cardinal Drive, Rolling Meadows, immediate past president. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Last call is going out for reservations for Arlington Acres Civic Association's night of fun June 13. It is to be a repeat of last year's Scotch Doubles bowling party and is to be held at Beverly Lanes. The first balls are to be thrown at 8:30 p.m. sharp. Prizes are to be awarded for high series and high games, and a buffet will follow four lines of bowling. The co-chairmen, Joan Briscoe, 392-1603, or Carol Moller, CL 9-3822, will be glad to furnish further information, or reservations can be made with the block captains.

When the Elk Grove Garden Club held its annual flower show May 23-24, it was an Arlington Acres iris fancier who won most of the prizes in that category. Mrs. Joseph Koenen, 529 S. Prindle, is proudly displaying blue ribbons which were awarded to her Desert Song and Pink Cameo, and second prize awards for Pink Formal and Ola Kala. In addition to her awards in the iris division, Mrs. Koenen was given a blue ribbon for her beauty bush in the shrub division and second prize in the table arrangement division. She and a friend, Mrs. Robert Stauder of Arlington Heights, working together on a breakfast for two theme, entitled their entry "Sunnyside Up."

MR. AND MRS. Richard Bruce, 441 S. Gibbons, celebrated their 19th wedding anniversary Monday. Mrs. Bruce was happily surprised to receive a phone call from a close friend, Mrs. Leonard Musczynski of Bear Lake, Mich., on Friday, followed by a visit from her and her husband on Sunday. The two women, who hadn't seen each other in years, date their friendship to the days when both were members of the Women's Reserve of the Marine Corps and stationed at Quantico, Va.

Among the Prospect High School juniors and seniors who danced away Friday evening at the prom at Flick-Reedy were Gail Miner, Janie Bruce and Chip Mertens of Gibbons Avenue, Cynthia and Dennis Curtin of Forrest and Doug Stoehr of Prindle. Since the after-the-prom train trip was cancelled, the festivities on Saturday were mostly cookouts at forest preserves and state parks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Longrie, 429 S. Forrest, left Friday to spend the holiday with Lyle's parents in Oconto, Wis. They were accompanied by their children, Marcia Ann, Mark and Keith.

Robert Miner enjoyed being the center of attention at a dinner to celebrate his second birthday May 28 and to hear "Happy Birthday" sung by his parents, sisters, Gail and Jan, and Grandma Miner. But even more he is enjoying riding up and down the sidewalks on his first tricycle.

A WELCOME is extended to Mrs. Stephanie Tennyson who bought the former Slusser home at 516 S. Prindle. Mrs. Tennyson moved to the Acres from another area of Arlington Heights.

Spencer Lemons, 504 S. Prindle, was wished a happy fourth birthday May 26 by Scott Kunz and Vicki Stierle at an afternoon party. His parents and brothers, Kevin, Murray and Kirk, added their congratulations at dinner that evening.

Mrs. Lemons, who has a great deal of experience in entertaining, put it to good use over the weekend. Saturday evening Lynn and Joan hosted a barbecue type dinner with homemade ice cream for 15 of Lynn's business associates. Sunday supper guests were Mr. and Mrs. Danny Beaver of Bensenville and their two children, and Joan then started off a new week by entertaining at breakfast Monday a business friend from St. Louis when Lynn picked him up at O'Hare.

David, youngest son of the Archie Lochs, 2124 E. Park, celebrated his fourth birthday May 26. Since David has five brothers and a sister, every meal in the Loch home has a party atmosphere, but dinner on David's day was more so because dessert was a birthday cake accompanied by a loud chorus of "Happy Birthday."

THE DINNER-of-the-Month Club marked Memorial Day as a group by having a cook-out on the patio of the May home, 509 S. Prindle. The regular members were joined by Mrs. May's sister and brother-in-law, visiting from Detroit for the weekend.

May 26, Bruce Smolinski, 2105 E. Grove, marked his ninth birthday with dinner at home, Bruce's choice over a party or a birthday trip.

Stevie Butkus, 429 S. Phelps, 9 on Monday, celebrated Sunday evening at a party. Cousins Jay and Leslie Pinney of Arlington Heights came with their parents to join Steve's brother, Scott, and sisters, Susan and Nancy, to make the day a happy one.

Two-year-old Shelly, daughter of the Robert Swaims, 512 S. Waterman, celebrated her Memorial Day birthday a few days early. On Wednesday she was feted at a dinner party where she received the special attention of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Segal of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and several family friends. (A

Report Lag In School Tax Money

Tax money isn't coming in to School District 25 as fast as anticipated, the school board was told Monday.

Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh said that because of this the district is spending tax receipts this fiscal year, which ends June 30, which it had earmarked for spending after July 1.

The board is faced with the choice of tightening its budget for 1964-65 or getting farther ahead of itself in spending, he said.

Clabaugh said that property taxes, especially personal property taxes, have not been paid as estimated by the district.

MOUNT EMBLEM
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the OLD DUTCH MILL Built in 1850
The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctively different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are REAL, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

New Gallery Reflects Area Interest in Art

by BETTY ROGERS

Do you have an oil painting in your home? If not an original oil, perhaps a reproduction? The growing interest in art by the American public cannot be denied. Whether the interest shown is a genuine one, or merely a pseudo one is a decision for other minds to make. There have been arguments presented for both sides of the question.

I tend to believe it is a genuine one. Perhaps there are those whose recent acquaintance with names like Chagall or Cezanne is just another case of name dropping. I prefer to believe they are in the minority. How else can one explain the increasing number of people who visit the art galleries each year? More people are painting than ever before. Art Shows increase each year in number, participation, and attendance. We find this true at Randhurst.

THE RANDHURST annual art show is not scheduled until September, but inquiries about the show have already begun — and it's only June!

The Scholastic Art Show that was sponsored by Wieboldt's this year also stimulated a great interest in the young student artists in this area. It is a source of satisfaction to know that a young man whose work won two gold medals (oil painting and jewelry) and two honorable mentions (opaque water color and mixed media) at Randhurst has again been honored. This time, Andrew Poklaske, 17, of Forest View High School, is among the Chicago area students whose works are included in the National High School Print Show on display at the Junior Gallery of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

YOU HAVE a chance to be the owner of an original oil painting. Everyone is invited to visit the newest of Randhurst's tenants, the Randhurst Art Gallery that opened for business last week.

Located in the Concourse Level, the gallery cordially invites you to come in and register for a framed original oil painting that is to be given away. Feel free to come into the Gallery and just browse, if you like. There are original oils by American and European artists. They are all for sale and all prices are posted. There is a wide range in subject, technique, artists, and price. Among the contemporary European works are oils by Moser, an Austrian; Stadelhofer, a German artist, and Odierna of Italy.

The Gallery is just the place to go if you already own an oil painting. If it needs restoration, the Gallery will restore it to its original loveliness. Professional cleaning services and custom framing are also available.

We may not all be so fortunate to have a million dollars worth of paintings in our homes but we all can have some art works that mean as much to us.

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

For the not-so-active summertime there'll be a square dance column just once a month instead of each week as in the regular dance season. Tentative plans are for these columns to appear the first week of June, July and August, and each column will report on all summer dance dates received up to that time.

Publicity chairmen of all special summer programs are urged to get their news in well in advance of the event. Deadline will continue to be Saturday noon of the week before the paper is out. Since this column is typed at your reporter's kitchen table late Sunday night (just in time to beat HER deadline), please mail your news directly to:

Dorothy Meyer
Arlington Heights, Ill.

This will avaid unnecessary forwarding from Paddock office and perhaps missing an important-to-you publication date.

Until we all get back into regularly-scheduled dancing and reporting, your reporter wishes all square dancers a happy and safe vacation. See you back here every week, come September.

O'HARE FESTIVAL

This is the final "y'all come!" before the big date, Sunday, June 7. That's when square dancers from Cleveland, Sioux City, Indianapolis, New Buffalo and all over Wisconsin will be joining Chicagoland dancers in O'Hare Inn's Convention Hall on Mannheim Road in Des Plaines. The afternoon whoop-de-do starts at 1 o'clock and ends at 5:30.

Ten square dance callers and two Mr.-and-Mrs. teams of round dance leaders have been booked for the big event. In addition, "Mr. and Mrs. Square Dancer," the Wally Meiers, will put in an appearance at 3 o'clock as O'Hare Festival guests of honor.

Russ Bone, Bob Lewis, Jim Smith, Pat Braffet, Chuck Broad, Dale Manson, Jim Stewart, Johnny Toth, Art Matthews and Laddie Oleson will keep the squares going; Dot and Jerry Daniels and Marie and Carl Peterson are in charge of the round dancing. With Walter and Vera Meier, the roster adds up to the best and biggest accumulation of dance leadership ever seen in these parts.

According to Bob Luebbe, mover and shaker behind the O'Hare Festival, there'll be the swingin'est togetherness a family ever had. Teens, specifically Arlington Heights' Teens Promenaders, will be on the scene with their dancing Moms and Dads — and probably a few grandparents, too. The Promenaders with their caller, Wally Paulson, will take turns manning the check-room and dancing. In teen language, it'll be a blast.

SQUARES FOR FUN

The Wood Dale club has too much fun to stop dancing during the summer and their report includes an everybody-come invitation to all other club members who want to keep active. Advises TB Check-ups

Persons who have had previous tuberculosis infection are advised to get an X-ray check-up at the mobile units sometime this summer.

Dr. Karl H. Pfuetze, general administrator of the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District, warned that persons with inactive TB are possible candidates for future activity and should have regular X-rays and medical check-ups.

Farm Neighbors Faithful To Code of the Frontier

By PAUL DIX

United Press International

OLNEY, ILL., (UPI) — When someone runs into trouble in this section of southeast Illinois, it's everybody's business.

That's why Frank Lathrop's neighbors pitched in to plow and plant the 600 acres he operates north of Noble, 10 miles east of here.

Lathrop, 55, was injured critically when a tree fell on him while he was clearing a hedgerow a few weeks ago. He's been in a coma since. But his family didn't have to worry about how to get its rich acres planted in time.

The neighbors took care of that. On May 14, about 15 of them showed up at the Lathrop Farm with tractors and discs to prepare the sprawling acres for plowing.

THE NEXT day, close to 100 neighbors came to get the job done. They rolled in equipment from as far as 10 miles away. Shortly after daybreak there were 56 tractors with plows ready to go. Twenty-nine women brought in food they had prepared and served it.

The plows dug in about 7 a.m. By 3 p.m. the 600 acres were ready for corn and soybean seed. The men, the women, the 56 tractors went home.

They came back this past week in smaller groups to plant.

Dale Gray, Dan Tohmann and Earl Gorrell, who helped organize the work, didn't think they'd done anything unusual.

They've been doing it all their lives—carrying out the unwritten law of their pioneer forebearers that a man may not necessarily be his brother's keeper, but when disaster strikes a neighbor, he gets help.

ONLY A FEW days before they plowed the Lathrop farm, 18 of them had taken the day off from their own work at critical planting time to help another sick neighbor, John Black, who farms east of Olney, get his crops in.

Who are these people of Richland County?

Almost to a man they're descendents of the man who opened up this section of the new northwest territory early in the last century. Most of these frontiersmen drifted up through the Cumberland Gap, into Kentucky, finally to settle on the richer Illinois Prairie. Some were French settlers from old Vincennes. Some were early German immigrants.

But Richland County is no Appalachia—the current object of the administration's anti-poverty war.

It could have been, though, with less determined and resourceful people. In the depression-ridden '30's, the land was so depleted that farms in this area were considered submarginal, incapable of producing profitable yields of corn or wheat.

BUT IN the past 25 years these individualistic farmers have seized the agricultural revolution to work for them. They rebuilt the exhausted land into one of the best producing areas of the midwest. Corn fields that yield 100 bushels to the acre are not unusual. Some wheat yields have approached 80 bushels to the acre.

There isn't a single corporate farm in Richland County. Some of them may be large, but virtually all of them are worked by the people who live on them.

It is one of the few rural counties of Illinois that hasn't declined in population.

Olney (Pop. 9,000) is the commercial center of the area. It has some light industry and equipment firms that supply the area's oil fields, but its chief occupation is doing business with farmers.

These people have kept the pioneer's basic distrust of government and politicians. They have consistently — and overwhelmingly—voted against federal farm programs and especially controls. Politically, they are traditionally conservative Republicans although they have occasionally elected a Democrat because they liked him as a neighbor.

U. S. Rep. George Shipley, who lives in Olney, is only the second Democrat ever elected to that office in the district. But Shipley was one of the few Democrats who voted against this year's farm bill.

THE DOMINANT religion of the people is fundalmentalist, midwest Protestantism but there is a Roman Catholic junior seminary in the county.

Its schools are modern and well-staffed, the one-room rural school having long since vanished. There is no school dropout problem. Olney recently organized a junior college in an effort to keep its youth home as long as possible.

There are no permanent relief "clients" in the county. The unfortunate who occasionally seek aid from the relief agencies get it only until they get on their feet.

In urban areas, public conscience may be represented by a sociologist with a fistful of statistics. In Richland County, the people still have the pioneer's contempt for the chronically indigent.

But when a neighbor runs into trouble, it's a different story. Explained Tohman:

"These people are our folks."

Admissions Named By Illinois State

NORMAL, (UPI) — New applications for admittance to Illinois State University in September will not be accepted.

Officials said the action was taken because admission already has been approved for as many students as the school's staff and facilities can handle.

Earlier, the University of Illinois announced that it would not accept any more applications and that it would reject applications from students in the lower half of their high school graduating classes.

Other state schools also have announced that they would limit enrollment because of the crushing influx of new students, born in the post-war "baby boom."

ISU President Robert Bone said, "It is with deep regret that such a step must be taken. However, it has become evident that it would be impossible to provide sufficient instructional facilities and maintain present academic standards unless we cease admitting new students."

THE PRESIDENT said notifications of acceptance for entering freshmen were running 40 per cent higher than at the same time last year. As of 5 p.m. Friday, he said, 2,658 acceptances had been issued while last year on the same date, only 1,893 acceptances had gone out. Officials said an estimated 7,800 students will attend ISU next fall, a 100 per cent increase over the enrollment of 3,832 just five years ago.

Authority to close off admissions was granted to President Bone by the State Teachers College Board.

Bone urged students unable to gain admission to college this fall to make another effort to enroll in January, when enrollment usually declines. (A14

The lecture-demonstration at the Chicago Park District Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum during the month of June will be "The Story of Eclipses."

The timing of eclipses, what is observed during an eclipse and how our observations and theory establish the nature of eclipses are among the topics to be discussed, according to Robert I. Johnson, planetarium director.

The importance of the study of solar and lunar eclipses in the development of modern astronomy will be emphasized in the discussion.

Shows will be held at 11 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m., on Mondays; 11 a.m., 1, 3 and 7:30 p.m., on Tuesdays through Fridays and at 12:30, 2, 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. In addition, a children's show is scheduled for 11 a.m. on Saturdays only. Shows are one hour long.

The museum is open from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. except Monday when it closes at 5 p.m.

ADMISSION TO the museum is free at all times. Admission to the planetarium chamber where the lecture-demonstrations are held is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children. Except for the children's show on Saturday mornings, youngsters under six years of age are not admitted to the planetarium chamber.

The observation deck will be open, weather permitting, during the day and for six nights of the week. During the summer months, the deck will be open on Friday evenings until midnight.

Sun dials and other instruments may be observed and studied during the daytime. After sundown, guides, using different types of museum astronomical telescopes, demonstrate and point out celestial objects and interesting features to groups and individuals. (A14

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

It was family reunion time for the John A. Millers, 915 N. his mother, Mrs. Mae Miller arrived from Riverside, Calif. for a visit. Sixteen relatives were on hand to greet her arrival at Union Station and then spend an enjoyable afternoon in Chicago at the home of John's sister and brother-in-law , the Ben Swans. There will be another event forthcoming for the Millers this weekend when their niece, Miss Nancy Swan, is married on June 6 the same date as Mrs. Miller's birthday.

Jean Chapman celebrated her May 24 birthday with a party at the home of her parents, The guest list at 735 N. Harvard that Sunday included Barbara Jerzyk, Judy Tintera, Jerry Felten, Claude Nugent and Robert Randolph. On Memorial Day, the Chapmans hosted a party for a brother-in-law, Freeman Maynard. Birthday celebrations finally complete for the moment, Mr. Chapman headed for a 4-day bass fishing trip to Michigan and will return Thursday.

Many families in Ridge Park are remembering May 24, the day that their son or daughter was confirmed at St. James Catholic Church. The Vincent Lanes held a barbecue at 923 N. Race following Mary's confirmation. Guests were her sponsor, Mrs. Howard Tollefson and the Tollefson family of 1504 W. Brown.

ANOTHER COOK-OUT was in progress at 903 N. Illinois, the home of John and Peggy Almdale. Their occasion was son John's confirmation. In attendance were John's sponsor and family, the Jack Hermanns, 910 N. Illinois. Mrs. Eva Hermann completed the group.

Among the birthday celebrants this week is Becky Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnston, 728 N. Fernandez. Becky will be 17 June 5.

Virginia Boyles, 801 N. Princeton, was the lucky recipient of a scholarship award to the University of Illinois' summer music school. The scholarship was given by the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club.

On Memorial Day the Boyles family were hosts for a cookout honoring Richard, 12 May 31. The Saturday event was attended by 26 relatives and Richard's friend, John Harrington. Howard Boyles wound up that active weekend in a fast game of badminton and he is now nursing a dislocated elbow.

Leslie Yates, 1015 N. Harvard, was taken to dinner at Old Orchard by her parents, the David Yates, following her confirmation at St. James Catholic Church.

Also dining out that day were the John Harvells, 1206 W. Elm, after Sharon's confirmation. Joining them at the Red Balloon was her sponsor, Chris Gleason. Patrick Harvell arrived home on May 29 from Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., to be with his family during summer vacation.

AT THE GUY Scalzitti home, 836 N. Fernandez, Mary recovered from the mumps just in time to allow the party activities to proceed as scheduled for Larry's St. James confirmation. Their parents hosted a buffet supper for 30 guests that Sunday. Among them were Larry's sponsor, Walter Barnak of 916 N. Fernandez; godparents, John and Phil Tiritilli, and grandfather, Anthony Scalzitti, all of Chicago.

The John Schmidts, 928 N. Ridge, have returned from a weekend sightseeing trip to Hannibal, Mo. Points of interest were the home of Tom Sawyer and the Riverboat Museum. Terry Schmidt was also among those confirmed at St. James and was honored by a family party afterward, with his cousin, Larry Schmidt in attendance as sponsor.

Last Wednesday was "tour day" for Avon representatives of District 642. Mrs. Warren Bless was among those who enjoyed a first-hand glimpse of the organization and the luncheon which was also given at the Avon plant that day. Arthur Bless of Knoxville has been a visitor at 615 W. Vine this past week. Before returning to Tennessee on Monday, he was present for the birthday celebration of his granddaughter, Jaci, on May 31. Jaci, 13 June 2, also received congratulations during Sunday's party from Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christ, her grandparents from Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bless.

Richard Faitz, 801 N. Harvard, attended the national convention of the Telephone Answering Service Association in Las Vegas May 17-21. Mr. Faitz went as a representative of Illinois Bell Telephone and stayed at the Flamingo Hotel while in the Nevada city.

SUSAN SCHMIDT was hostess May 21 to 22 members of the Phi Gamma Phi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at their annual wind-up meeting at the home of Sue's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schmidt, 736 N. Ridge.

Another member of the confirmation class at St. James Church May 24 was Monica Torretto, 614 W. Elm. Her special treat was to take four friends out for lunch and bowling on May 29. Monica's sister, Paulette Greksa, attended as sponsor for the confirmation and joined the group who went out on Friday.

The William Thrashers, 919 N. Kennicott, were hosts for a buffet linner after their daughter, Nadine, was confirmed. Relatives enjoyed the day of May 24 with them, as well as Nadine's godfather and her sponsor, Mrs. Anthony Cassioppi and husband of Rockford.

Of special meaning to Eddie Gaenzle, 1016 N. Harvard, is a free ticket to the White Sox baseball game this weekend. Eddie did a commendable job in his "all-out" effort neighborhood campaign for a charity drive. He will be treasuring that baseball ticket and hoping for a glimpse of TV Star Danny Thomas, when the White Sox go to bat on June 7. Eddie was also mong those confirmed at St. James recently.

Bud and Pat Vaughn, 1124 W. Northwest Hwy., and the A. L. Danes, 725 N. Harvard, attended the bowling banquet of Sky Harbor Airport's Thursday night men's league. Campbell's in Palatine was the banquet's setting on May 30.

FROM SHERWOOD

The 25th wedding anniversary of Chester and Ann Giuliani, 1314 Watling Road, occurred on May 27, just when a business trip had taken Mr. Giuliani to London. The H. L. Edwards helped honor the significant day by entertaining Mrs. Giuliani and Jane for the evening.

Sherwood welcomes the Thomas B. Aldrich family from Toronto Canada, to 1409 N. Yale Mr. Aldrich and his wife, Vivian, have two children. Thomas III is a senior student at the University of Toronto and will receive his bachelor of science degree on June 5. Judy attended business college in Lansing and is presently at home with her parents. Mr. Aldrich is employed by Automatic Canteen Co. of America.

THE PAUL Fellinghams, 1145 N. Patton, and the Warren Fellinghams of Inverners found their recent trip to Puerto Rico perfect in every way. While at Dorado Beach they toured a rug manufacturing plant and found time for a trip to the rain forest. After a flight to Saint Thomas in the Virgin Islands, the Fellinghams took a boat trip to St. John's Island, where they stayed at Cameel Bay Plantation. Here is where the swimming and beaches were ideal, and it was here, also. that the vacationers enjoyed participating in "snorkeling."

How to Add Zest

Onion Patch Is Needed by Every Cook

By GISELA FRERICHS

No garden plant adds more zest to gourmet cookery than the onion.

French chefs give their omlets, hors d'oeuvres, cheese dishes, salads and sauces the final touch with a sprinkling of minced green onions. If you plant a small onion patch in your backyard this summer, you can easily outdo any chef. For he depends on the green bunches he finds in his icebox—but you pull the juicy crisp plants fresh from your garden.

ALL YOU NEED to give your family this culinary treat is a small sun-drenched area in your garden, and about 35 cents to spend on the adventure.

Onions are easy to grow. Any good garden soil suits them. If your soil needs improving, add dehydrated cow manure, available in small bags where plants are sold, and also in dime stores. The simplest method of raising onions is by planting "sets." Sets are immature bulbstores) is sufficient for plantlets commercially grown for this purpose. One quart of bulblets (about 35 cents in seed stores) is ufficent for planting a patch one by three feet.

Plant the bulblets one inch apart and two inches deep in rows about six inches apart. Onions need moisture.

So be careful not to let the bed dry out. About six weeks after planting you can pull up your first fresh green onion. (Scallions, or bunching onions are other names for these kitchen favorites.)

TO ENSURE A long period of harvesting keep a portion of the bulblets and plant a few at a time at later dates. You will need a slightly larger bed for this method.

Perhaps you would like to raise a few big juicy onions also in your scallion patch. Nothing is easier. Just set some of the bigger bulblets so close to the surface that their tips are four inches between bulblets. They will grow to medium size onions. They may be pulled whenever you need a few slices to perk up a hamburger.

If you want to grow onions for winter storage, setting out young plants is the best method. They come in bunches of 50, priced at about 50 cents. The proper planting time is when the common lilac is just about through with blooming. Space seedlings four inches apart. Yellow Bermuda, and Yellow Sweet Spanish are among the most popular mild onions. They are ready to be pulled out when the tops turn yellow and begin to wilt.

Here is an onion recipe the French rave about. It makes a tasty side dish to any American barbecue. Try it, and then sit back to collect the compliments you have earned as a gardener as well as a cook.

FRENCH BREAD WITH ONION UPPER CRUST

1 package Hot Roll Mix (complete with yeast)
¼ lb. butter or margarine
2 lbs. onions, diced
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
½ cup sour cream
¼ lb. breakfast bacon, diced

Prepare dough according to direction on package. Spread out on baking sheet, about 10 inches by 16 inches. Saute' onions in butter until soft. Add sour cream, caraway seeds, and salt. Spread onion mixture on dough. Sprinkle with diced bacon. Bake at 375 degrees for about 20 minutes.

Makes about eight servings.

Demanding Little Newcomer

Parent Discovers Hard Way: 'Ducks Are for the Birds'

By ARMAND FERRARA

It seems that baby chicks and ducks as well as rabbits have an irresitible fascination for children. If you recall during the weeks preceding Easter, weren't you besieged with pleas from your youngest "sprites" to buy them one of the feathery or furry pets?

It's hard to say where my defense against the pleas of my youngest broke down. I can't actually recall how it all came about. My wife insists that I'm a softy, my son thinks that I'm a pushover for the "actress-like" pleading of the youngest and my daughter, I honestly believe, abets and aids all of her younger sitser's efforts.

At any rate, and no matter how it was achieved, lo, the morning came when I found, added to our household, a feathery, golden colored bundle of duck.

THIS LITTLE BALL of feathers instantly christened with the dubious name of Willie Lump Lump, became the center of attraction as well as the most demanding little duck that I believe was ever hatched.

First, it had an insatiable appetite requiring trip after trip to the pet store for duck pellets, a scientific high-protein, low-fat, super-duper baby food for ducks (seems that stale bread went out of style as duck food).

In his early growth stage, Willie demanded a Miami-like climate — not too hot and not too cold. At this stage, I had to rig up a box complete with bed and sunlamp to provide the proper temperature needed by our now "luxury oriented" duckling.

AND WILLIE craved togetherness, as it had never been craved before. He had apparently never heard of the need for man to have some moments to himself. His plaintive "baby talk" quacks would raise to an ear-splitting crescendo if you so much as left the room. It was flattering to be thought of so highly by a duck, but it certainly limited one's ability to get anything done around the house.

In all fairness to my abilities, I have to give credit where credit is due. With the "expert" care lavished on Willie, within a matter of weeks he grew from a lovable, cuddly ball of feathers into a 2-foot tall, waddling, quacking, walking fertilizer plant.

Funny thing, he still thought he was lovable and cuddly and, demanded in relation to his size, more duck pellets and more attention. He outgrew his coop, he outdrew his dishpan pond, and he outgrew his welcome.

CAME THE DAY when I made the decison to send Willie to the country for his health, and incidentally mine too. And believe me it had to be my decisoin alone, for support for this magnificent gesture was not forthcoming from any member of the family. Dark looks and a "what a grouch" attitude were my only reward for my solicitous consideration of Willie's well being.

A farm close to town (we need to visit Willie once in awhile) populated with other ducks (Willie might get lonesome) and the strict promise that Willie would live out a normal duck's lifespan were a prerequisite to Willie's departure before smiles returned to the faces of my loved ones.

Fortunately, all the above conditions were found and Willie was transported to his new country home. The tear-stained face of the youngest daughter made the task anything but a picnic and when Willie, placed gingerly among the farm ducks, kept running back to her for protection, the lump in dad's throat wasn't his Adams Apple.

As I finish writing this "ducky" article, I find solace in the fact that I didn't turn "chicken" and bring Willie back to the hardships of living in the city. Now Willie is happy, I'm happy and you know something — tomorrow is my day to visit Willie at the farm.

List 10 Top Housewares As Practical Bridal Gifts

Brides need a "trousseau" of housewares just as they need one of clothing and linens.

"With the bridal season coming up, well-wishers should consider gifts of practical items to start the bride's domestic life," say the home economists at Republic Molding Corporation, Niles.

IF YOU'RE shopping for bridal gifts, here's a checklist of just such practical goods for you to consider:

1. Sink accessories, including a dish drainer, dish pan drain boards, and sink mats.

These should be made of durable and colorful polyethylene plastic, such as the Polly Flex line, to protect china and crystal from chipping.

2. An assortment of Freezette food storage containers in a variety of sizes for freezing and to protect fresh foods as well as leftovers.

3. Matching canister set, bread box, cake cover, spice, salt and pepper set. These are available in the better plastic known as polypropylene with bright copper-colored anodized metal covers.

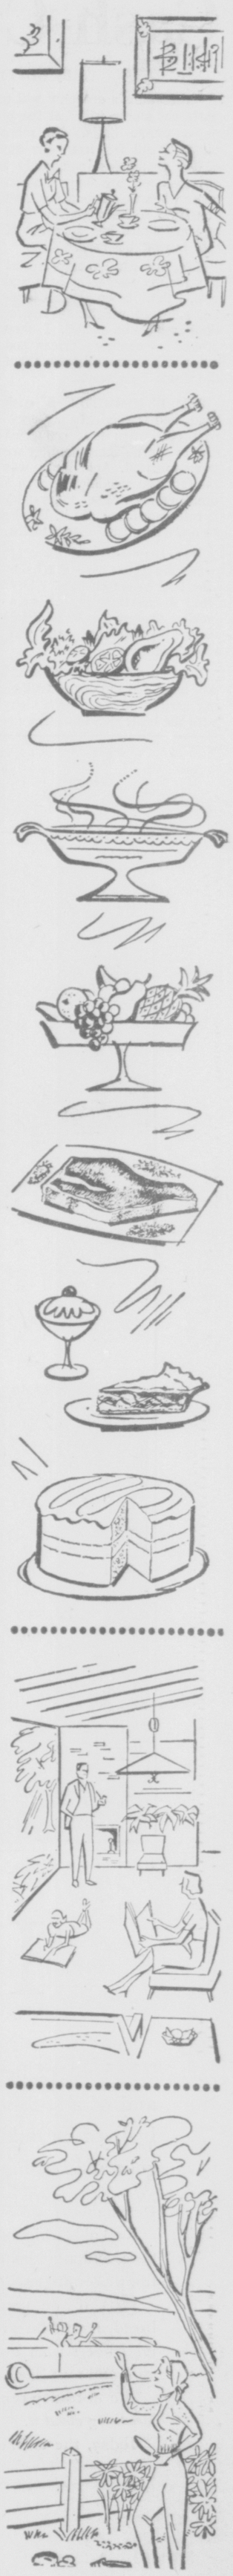
First Haircut Tough on Mom, Son

THERE COMES A TIME in every boy's life for that first hair cut. It came recently for 14-month-old "BD" Sechler of Palatine, who wasn't certain whether or not he wanted to go through with it. His mother's smile (left) doesn't represent her true feeling—like most mothers, she thought he was too little for a hair cut and said later it "made him look older." After a few minutes (center), the novelty of listening to the clipper's hum wore off, and "BD" became restless. Barber Roy Collins' firm hand and the top of the tot's head and a two-handed grip by mother held "BD" in the chair—even when standing up. Just a few more snips (right), and the ordeal of the first hair cut will be ended for parent, barber, and "BD" who, when handed a candy sucker afterwards, promptly threw it away and tried to climb out of the chair before anything else happened. His mother collected some locks of hair for the baby book.



'Charge It, Please!'

Cash Customers Face Tough Future in World of Credit

By BETTY AINSLIE

The nation's economy will probably reach a low ebb and department stores will feel the pinch because this family is on a pay-as-you-go basis. No more blithe words like "charge it please," will fall from our lips. We've piled all those plastic-coated rectangles, commonly known as charge-plates, into an envelope and we leave them home when we go shopping. And you know something? The thrill and adventure has gone out of this buying business.

Now, because I realize I must pay for my purchases here and now, I think twice about attending sales in which my resolutions might be tested. I shop around — compare prices and am much more choosey about the items I do select.

POP IS STRICTLY a cash man, and it was only my carefree city ways that converted him to charge accounts after we were married. Actually it was the fact you couldn't establish a credit rating without some credit references that did it. But he frowns upon charge-plates.

The easy charging days of yore are gone. Now if I have the long green on hand I buy that dress bargain, those melon shaded towels or hand woven tablemats. So "no mon', no fun."

It's so simple to buy now and pay later, but the day of reckoning arrives once a month along with the bills. I've this tendency to overbuy if I don't have to pay immediately.

ANYWAY, POP decided we'd spend less on a cash basis — 'tis too early to tell if he's right; but we've learned a few things toying with this new experiment.

For example: paying cash for things is rather a bother and a bore to clerks. They prefer fitting the little cardboards into the machines and printing your name and address on the charge slip.

Returns are a lot simplier if you've charged the merchandise. You just return the purchase and have the amount credited to your account. But pay cash for something and you must: 1. Return it to the department where it was bought. 2. Pick up a cash credit slip from the clerk who sold you the stuff in the first place. 3. Take this to top floor-way in the corner-office before the company parts with the money you gave them.

IF THE GOODS are charged, the store can deliver and leave them at your door even if you happen to not be home. Pay cash and you wait — and wait for the delivery.

If you must send back your purchase it becomes rather involved. Oh they pick it up, all right—but have to send you a check for the money involved. So if you have any ideas about dashing out for another cash purchase — forget it until the check is returned. Oh, then you have to go to the bank for the actual cash.

The days of discount for cash are long gone. I can remember, when as a bonus for paying cash, you were offered a percentage off for the goods. Now the actual cash outlay seems to offer a problem.

IF YOU BUY A new car and decide to pay cash, you'll throw the whole auto salesroom into a panic.

"Of course you'd like our convenient financing?" smiled the salesman, pleased at our purchase of a new car.

"No, we plan to pay cash," we also smile.

"Cash?" questions the salesman.

"Cash," we reply.

"But if you need this ready money for something else you'll find our financing program is so reasonable you hardly miss the monthly payments," he says earnestly and not smiling. This is not helping the finance company at all and nowdays you are the odd one if you do pay on the dotted line instead of signing on the dotted line.

At a conference held by the American Bankers Association recently, a man from International Telephone and Telegraph explained how money might be handled a generation from now.

ON PAY DAY your wages would be automatically transmitted into a bank account directly from your company. The bank processing center would handle all the bookkeeping and pay all your bills at once and you'd be told if you were on the red or the black side of the ledger. You'd carry an all purpose credit card good anywhere and for everything. When you bought an item you presented the card and the store transmitted the data and would immediately be given credit for your spent amount in its own accounts. See, no money would change hands.

I gather both husband and wife would be given one of these credit cards — I hope.

All I can say is that it's a good thing Pop isn't in that future generation. It would be impossible to pay cash for anything. But think of the fun I'd have. . .

Hearty Food From Hardy Finland

How about some Karjalan Paisti? Or a dish of Kalakukko? Or a Blini?

These dishes, along with Paror Kieli (slightly smoked reindeer tongue) are hearty foods which the Finnish housewives have served their hardy menfolk for centures.

FINLAND, THE land of beautiful forests, the Midnight Sun, and picturesque Laplanders, has an old and exciting past. But the spirit of Finland today is modernity, and some of the most beautiful contemporary glassware, pottery and textile design comes from Finland's skilled craftsmen and artisans.

Another new export is the Finnish recipe, which delights the modern housewife because it is simple and wholesome, yet different.

Here is an authentic recipe for an oven pancake. Its tart taste is due to the touch of lemon juice, which the Finns often add to give life to a dish.

ITS SIMPLICITY of preparation is guaranteed if you use convenient, ready-squeezed bottled lemon juice, which saves you time, effort, and best of all —money!

So, even if you don't have a reindeer or your own forest, you can bring Finland to your home with this recipe. Serve it for an unusual spring brunch and watch your family "finnish" all of it.

FINNISH LEMON PANCAKE

1 egg
1 cup milk
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon sugar
Dash salt
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 tablespoon melted butter

TOPPING

2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar

Beat egg well. Add milk, and beat for a few minutes. Sift together flour, sugar and salt; gradually add to milk and egg mixture. Stir in bottled lemon juice and melted butter. Pour into buttered 10-inch pie pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes or until golden brown. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice and 2 tablespoons sugar. Serve hot. Serves four. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Here's a Honey of an Idea; Give a Honey Bee Brunch

By DOLORES HAUGH

Those friendly little fellows are buzzin' round again and though we do not want to invite them in to sit down, still they do provide a honey of an idea for a brunch.

INVITATIONS

What else but a yellow and black striped bee with wings spread wide and two black eyes? Cut the outline on yellow construction paper and place white wings on the body, making sure it fits a standard envelope. With black magic marker draw on features and stripes. Inside write the following:

Come on over about 11 cause there is going to BEE
A honey of a brunch, you all come and see.

State time, place and tell your guests not to be afraid, they won't get stung.

DECORATIONS

Use large daisies cut from white paper with yellow centers all over a dark green tablecloth. You may use them for placemats or just a string of them down the center of the table. In the center of each one place a bee similar to the invitation.

For each guest have a white carnation with a daisy in the center and a tiny bee, available at the florist, perched on top. Wrap stems in florist tape and add a bright yellow bow. These are also the namecards and place cards as you may place each one on a card bearing the guest's name.

MENU

The menu will be easy as it is made the day before as anything with honey is sweeter as it sets. To start the brunch serve honey-baked apples, daisy yellow scrambled eggs, honey toast, and for dessert, honey custard, tall and cool in parfait glasses, topped with a real daisy and a tiny bee.

Serve your brunch in the back yard or porch. Use yellow napkins and white plates and mugs. Lots of coffee, of course.

So make a beeline to your telephone and buzz out invitations for a honey of a brunch—take it from bee. (S

Artistic Fabrics Add Glamor to Your Walls

A new source in wall art for the home can be found in some of the more artistic drapery and upholstery fabrics being designed today.

Simply purchase a yard or so of the more creative contemporary designs in these fabrics, hem the edges, hang on wooden dowels as a tapestry or mount on a board and frame it like painting.

How effectively this simple technique can complement an interior is illustrated in two room settings at a current Spring Fabric Show at The Designer's Shop in Arlington Heights. Two contemporary designs by Jack Lenor Larsen are used as wall accessories, and, as such, highlight each setting.

THE EXHIBIT, which will continue through Saturday, is a collection of outstanding drapery and upholstery fabrics in a range of prints, weaves, blends, imported woolens and man-made fibers. A special display groups together the newest and most visually attractive of synthetic fabrics.

Included, for example, is a Ben Rose drapery fabric woven of the new Beta yarn, an extremely fine glass fiber with 1,200 filaments to a strand; also a group of Rovana-Verel fabrics, notable for their softness of touch and extreme ease of care.

FABRIC SAMPLES are grouped according to such categories as acetates, rayons, nylon, polyesters and so on with information, in each case, listing principal characteristics of the particular type of man-made fiber.

Throughout the exhibit emphasis is also placed on how to correlate colors, weaves and prints in a room.

A dramatic print can be successfully used on a chair or smaller piece of furniture, for instance, but care must be taken in the selection of the other fabrics for the room. (S

DINING DRAMA is achieved in this room setting by means of an upholstery fabric. About a yard of a design called "Caravan," an opulent pattern in sapphire and ruby colors printed on cotton velvet, has been mounted on a board and hung on the wall as a painting. The display is part of a current Spring Fabric Show at Petersen's Designer's Shop.

When it comes to baking bread, Margaret Rudkin, founder of Pepperidge Farm,® is proud to be old-fashioned.

"I remember bread"

The story of Pepperidge Farm—and of a stubborn woman who insisted on baking bread in the good old-fashioned way.

Remember bread?

Real old-fashioned bread—with a hearty taste, and a golden color, and a wonderful, welcoming smell?

Well, if you remember that kind of bread, meet Margaret Rudkin. She also remembers what bread used to look and smell and taste like.

She not only remembers—she's done something about it.

Today, the extraordinary bakery she founded at Pepperidge Farm still brings you bread that looks and smells and tastes like bread.

Old-fashioned ingredients

The flour Pepperidge Farm uses is made from unbleached Spring wheat. The milk is whole milk. The butter is the best—Grade AA sweet creamery butter. And for sweetening, there is golden honey.

Honest, farm-fresh ingredients. All the natural bounty of the land.

Old-fashioned baking methods

At Pepperidge Farm, each loaf of bread is baked in its very own greaseless pan. Baked slowly. Ordinary breads whiz through the oven in about 20 minutes. It takes almost twice as long to bake a Pepperidge Farm loaf of bread.

And, most important, the flavor is old-fashioned. The simple, honest delicious flavor of (remember?) real bread.

Today, Pepperidge Farm is baking White Bread and Whole Wheat Bread, plus seven other varieties. Also Fully Baked Dinner Rolls, and Brown and Serve Rolls. Enjoy them soon.

Offer Tips To Vacation Motorists

To avoid discomfort, disappointment and anxiety on your motoring vacation this summer, safeguard your valuables cautioned G. W. Cavanagh, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

He offered these tips:

—Carry traveler's checks. Only you can cash them, and if they are lost or stolen, you can get your money back.

—Never leave your car unlocked, even if you will be away from it only a short while.

—Valuable articles in full view entice thieves to break into locked cars. Keep such articles out of sight.

—Carry your luggage in the trunk and keep the trunk locked.

—When you are stopping at a hotel, put your valuables in the hotel safe and get a receipt for them.

—Invest in trip insurance. This is available for short or long vacations, will cover your luggage and other personal items, and the cost depends on the amount of coverage and the length of time you will be away.

Operating a pick-up truck may be a strange vehicle for women to be driving, but that is just what the women of the Ladies of Lions Thrift Shop will do to collect merchandise to sell in their shop, located on N. Wolf Road, Wheeling.

Two of the women, Mrs. Harvey Tomm and Mrs. Eino Rajamaki, president, recently hopped into a truck, pulled and stepped on the proper gadgets and drove off to pick up the remains of the garage sale held by the Four Seasons Garden Club. This merchandise, along with men's, women's and children's clothing of all sizes, and hundreds of household items, is now on sale in the Thrift Shop. Shop hours are from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays and from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Fridays.

OPERATED FOR charity, proceeds of the shop are donated to the blind. Also benefiting from the shop recently was a family burned out by fire. Women operating the shop completely outfitted each member of the family from merchandise in the shop.

Anyone with items to donate to the Thrift Shop may call Mrs. Rajamaki at 537-4175 or Mrs. Charles Less, 537-5198. (S

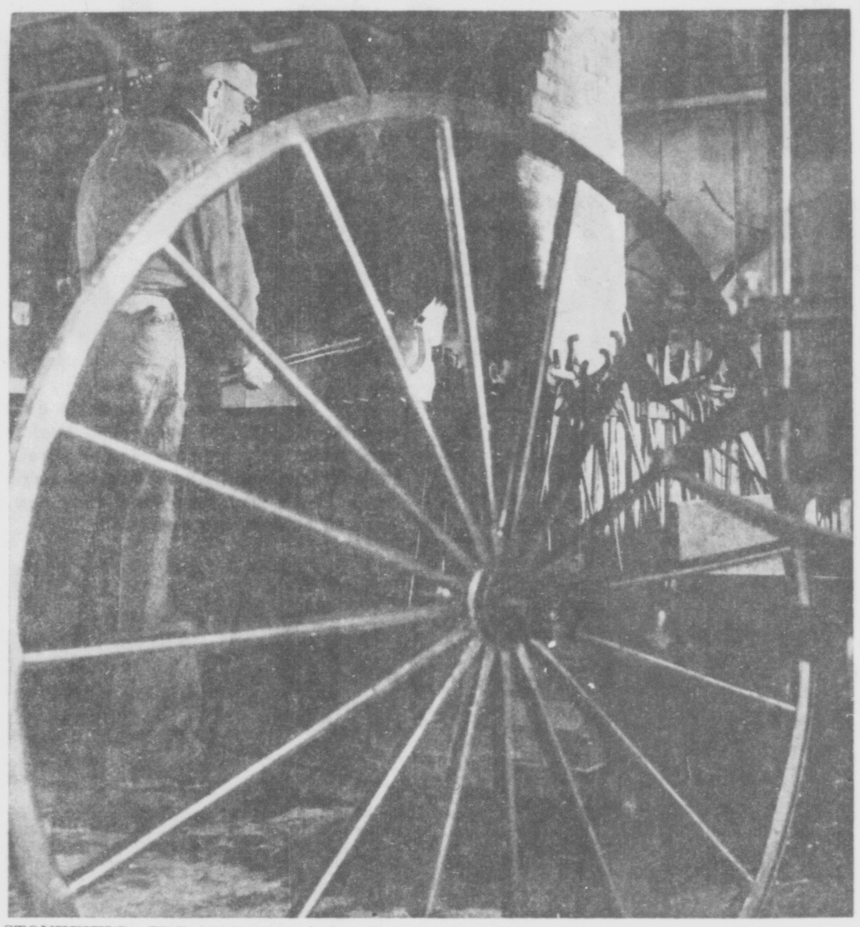
Wisconsin Popularity

Visit Historic Sites



STONEFIELD, THE VILLAGE of the 1890's, in Nelson Dewey State Park near Cassville, Wisconsin, now boasts an operating blacksmith shop known as the Village Smithy, where much of the iron work for the village is done. The village, representative of rural crossroads communities that served America's 19th century agricultural economy, also has had a newspaper shop and a village church added to its growing list of stores, shops and other facilities. This year a home will be built where the switchboard for the telephone company will be located, and a three store business block will be constructed, which will contain a lawyer's office, a book store and a confectionery.

Increasing numbers of Americans each year are visiting the places where history was made.

Weekend trips and vacations are being planned to include stops at historic sites. A 4,000 mile series of roads in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota soon will be marked as the Hiawatha-Pioneer Trail to lead tourists to the shrines of their heritage.

FOUR MAJOR historic sites in Wisconsin, operated by the State Historical Society, are located on this heritage trail.

Villa Louis at Prairie du Chien tells the story of the Hercules Dousman family who built and lived in the "mansion on the frontier" in the days when Wisconsin Territory was in transition between its fur trading beginnings and the early days of land settlement.

Old Wade House at Greenbush was a stagecoach inn, built two years after Wisconsin became a state, on the immigrant trail that led from the Port of Sheboygan to the homestead land of the lower Fox and Wisconsin River valleys.

STONEFIELD, the village of the 1890's, is located in Nelson Dewey State Park at Cassville, between the steep bluffs and the Mississippi River. A visit to Stonefield also includes a tour of the home of Wisconsin's first governor and the State Farm Museum.

The Circus World Museum, an exhibition of the history of America's greatest entertainment spectacle, is located in the old winter quarters of the Ringling Brothers' Circus at Baraboo.

Descriptive literature on these sites and on other historic attractions in Wisconsin is available by writing to the State Historical Society, 816 State St., Madison, Wis. (T OLD WADE HOUSE, the historic stagecoach inn, built when Wisconsin was young, at Greenbush on the plank road that led from Sheboygan into the Wisconsin wilderness, was an overnight stop for countless immigrant wagons, stagecoaches and freight wagons. These two little girls are waving at the driver of a covered wagon that occasionally provides rides for visitors to the site.

A BEVY OF PRETTY GUIDES pictured on the lawn of Villa Louis, Hercules Dousman's mansion on the Wisconsin frontier at Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin. Villa Louis has been described as the finest preservation of the early and mid-Victorian way of life in the midwest. It is built on a mound where, 150 years ago, a frontier battle of the War of 1812 was fought between the British and Americans.

Family Court Changes On LWV '64-65 Agenda

Cook County Leagues of Women Voters plan to continue their efforts to improve family court procedures, putting increased emphisis on the need for a unified Department of Correction.

Arlington Heights League was among units voting to continue to work actively on family court changes during 1964-65.

Local delegates to the Cook County League Council's annual meeting, held Tuesday, May 26, in Barrington, were Mrs. Russell Gardner, president of the Arlington Heights League; Mrs. Bruce Bremberg of Mount Prospect, and Mrs. John J. Solon.

Twenty-one of the 32 leagues in Cook County voted to continue the family court study. Four other LWV units, among them the Palatine League, were in favor of continuing to support family court changes—but as a "continuing responsiblity," League terminology for continuing to support the organization's stand without further study.

MRS. SALLY Probst of Northbrook told the league delegates that in her opinion further exploration of the need for family court change is necessary. She said that although many of the short-range improvements recommended by recent studies of family court have been carried out, there is a great necessity for making medium-range and long-range reforms in the ways juveniles are handled by the courts.

One of the major changes urged by the League of Women Voters, the establishment of a separate home for dependent, neglected children who are not delinquents, will soon take place, Mrs. Probst said.

She pointed out that Herrick House is now being renovated and many of the neglected children formerly housed with crimnals in the county's Audy Home will be sent there. "Not every dependent, neglected child will go to Herrick House, of course," she stated, "but only those who can benefit from a country life."

THERE IS A possiblity that Cook County Leagues will also begin a second county-level study this year. If adopted by a majority of the 32 county leagues, the new study will be "Public health in Cook County, with emphasis on Cook County Hospital."

Eleven leagues, among them the Palatine LWV, have so far approved the county health study. The Arlington Heights League voted "no" on the health study at its annual meeting in May. Members speaking against the new study at that meeting said they did so primarily because of the extra work load it would mean. (S

'Color Newsreel' For Gardeners

A movie "Color Newsreel" will be shown at the meeting of the Riverhurst Home and Garden Club to be held Monday, June 8 at 8 p.m., at Euclid School in Mount Prospect.

"This movie presents what is new in home decoration by seven of America's leading interior decorators. It shows how to combine colors in paint, fabric and furnishings to create lovely rooms," according to the group's program chairman. Also featured in the movie will be a style show of fashions for men, women and children. Mr. Kaine of the Warner Paint Co. will hold a discussion on interior decorating following the movie.

Further information on the program or concerning membership in the organization may be obtained from the membership chairman, Mrs. Theodore Burzak, CL 9-1896. (S

Localite's Dee-licious Peach Pie; Prize Winner

A REAL PRIZE WINNER is the delicious peach pie prepared by Mrs. George B. Wesler of Arlington Heights. This juicy pie with is caramelized topping won Mrs. Wesler a trip to New York to compete in Pillsbury's Bake-Off some 15 years ago and continues to be a family favorite.

Casseroles Also Her Specialties

A prize-winning peach pie that brought honors to Mrs. George B. Wesler of Arlington Heights will assuredly bring praise to other homemakers from their family and friends.

Back in 1948 Mrs. Wesler was one of the 100 finalists in Pillsbury's Bake-Off, winning a trip to New York and a range and electric mixer. Although altered a little from the original version, her winning pie ricipe is still included in Pillsbury's Cook Book, and it continues to be one of her family's favorites.

"THE RECIPE has been in my family for years," Mrs. Wesler said. "and I learned how to make it from my mother."

Easy to prepare, this is a very juicy pie which is made with a single crust, six sliced peaches and a caramelized topping.

The unusual topping simply consists of brown and white sugar, flour and butter that caramelizes during the baking period. This flavorful pie is seved garnished with whipped cream.

Adept at the culinary arts, Mrs. Wesler often experiments with food and has devised two casseroles that her family especially enjoys. One she calls a "Make Ahead Meal" because it can be prepared in advance and simply popped into the oven an hour before serving. Or if you are out for the day, the automatic timer can be set to start the oven at the proper hour.

THIS casserole consists of browned ground beef and onion, sliced potatoes, frozen peas and stewed tomatoes. A "meal-in-one," there is no last-minute fuss, and this tasty dinner is ready to set on the table.

The other baked dinner that Lois Wesler devised can also be made in advance. Extremely easy to do, it simply consists of pork chops (no need to brown them) topped with uncooked rice and stewed tomatoes. Covered tightly with foil, this savory dish takes little more than an hour to bake.

"This hearty dinner is especially good for church suppers," Mrs. Wesler commented. She usually plans on two chops for men and one for women and recommends cole slaw as an accompaniment.

IN ADDITION to her culinary interests, Mrs. Wesler is active in several organizations. A member of the YMCA Auxiliary, she often cooks for the snack bar at the "Y;" she is art chairman for Arlington Heights Women's Club and a substitute kindergarten teacher. Mrs. Wesler also teaches Sunday school at the local First Presbyterian Church and is a member of the Women's Association.

The Weslers live at 332 S. Derbyshire, Arlington Heights. They have two children, Georgianne, 20, and Hugh, 17.

PEACH PIE

1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell
6 sliced peaches, or more
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter

Fill the pie shell with the sliced peaches. Blend the remaining ingredients together, using a pastry blender or your fingers. Spread evenly over the top of the pie.

Bake in a 450 degree oven for 10 minutes. Cover pie with foil and bake an additional 45 minutes at 350 degrees. The topping should became caramelized. If the sugar is not dissolved, bake a little longer. Cool.

Pork Chops Combo with Vegetables

What homemaker isn't on the lookout for a new recipe for pork chops? Here's a grand idea for you—Pork Chop-Vegetable Combo.

Frozen Frenched green beans, grated carrot, sliced celery and mushroom soup are combined in a casserole. Browned pork chops are arranged over the vegetables, then tucked into the oven to bake.

NEAR THE END of cooking time, crushed bit-size shredded wheat biscuits, flavor enhanced with herb seasoning, are sprinkled over the top. The result is a delightful blend of flavors.

PORK CHOP-VEGETABLE COMBO

6 pork rib chops, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick.
2 tablespoons lard or drippings.
1 teaspoon salt
1 package (9 ounces) frozen Frenched green beans
1½ cups coarsely grated carrots
½ cup thinly sliced celery
½ cup water
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
½ cup crushed bite-size shredded wheat biscuits
2 teaspoons butter or margarine
1/8 teaspoon thyme

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Season. Combine green beans, carrots, celery and water in saucepan. Bring to a boil.

Add mushroom soup. Place vegetable mixture in a 12x9 inch baking dish. Arrange chops on top. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees to 350 degrees) 30 minutes.

Combine crushed shredded wheat, butter or margarine and thyme. Uncover baking dish and sprinkle pork chop-vegetable mixture with crushed biscuits. Continue baking 15 to 20 minutes or until done. Six servings. (SH

French Version Of Dairy Creme

Put a bit of romance into dessert by making Coeur a la Creme, translated as a "heart of cream." An especially delicious version of the French specialty has been developed by the Borden Kitchen. The recipe requires only three ingredients for the basic heartshaped mold, plus a fruit garnish of your own choice.

Since the three vital ingredients fall in the dairy category —cottage cheese, cream cheese and heavy cream—Coeur a la Creme is exceptionally nutritious. This superb taste treat should be prepared well in advance of the dinner hour.

COEUR a la CREME
(Makes 6 servings)

1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
2 cups (16-oz. container) creamed cottage cheese, large or medium curd
1 cup (½-pint) heavy cream
1 pint fresh strawberries, or raspberries, washed and sweetened or sliced peaches, maraschino cherries

In medium size bowl, let cream cheese soften at room temperature. Beat until light and fluffy. Gradually add cottage cheese and heavy cream. Beat until thoroughly blended. Line a heart-shaped Coeur a la Creme basket with cheesecloth.*

Spoon mixture into lined basket. Set on rack over shallow pan or bowl to catch slight dripping. Place in refrigerator to chill about 8 hours. Unmold on large serving plate. Remove cheesecloth. Garnish with fruit. Spoon the cheese mixture onto individual serving plates; top with fruit.

Wonderful served with French bread.

*If a Coeur a la Creme basket is not available, line a colander with cheese cloth. Let mixture drain and chill well. Press mixture into a cheesecloth lined metal mold and chill again. (SH

Villagers Anticipate Gala Evening at Post and Paddock

Members and friends of Arlington Heights Infant Welfare Center are looking forward to this Friday, June 5, for it marks one of the few occasions when area residents are privileged to wine, dine and dance in the exclusive Post and Paddock Club at Arlington Park. The date marks the club's third Post and Paddock Party and it is expected that the affair will be a repeat of the group's two previous benefit galas held at the plush club.

This year's benefit includes admittance to the races, viewed from the Post and Paddock Club, as well as the elaborate gourmet buffet and the dancing to the music of George Fanelli's orchestra. Race-goers will be arriving at the club by 3:45 with others joining them for the cocktail hour at 6:30. The buffet, prepared by the Post and Paddock chef, Max, will be served at 8:30 and the dancing will be from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

MEMBERS of the Arlington Heights Center, of which Mrs. John Otzen is president, have been working closely with officials of the Post and Paddock Club to assure their guests a glamorous evening.

Proceeds of the affair will go to the Infant Welfare Society, which aids needy children and their mothers. It provides a program of pre-natal care for mothers, professional care for children up to school age and staffs the Society's Child Guidance Center. Besides financial aid, area Infant Welfare members donate their time to assist doctors and nurses in the stations and also collect and donate clothing for the mothers and children who receive free help at these stations. BUSY GARDENER, Mrs. George Hay, right, momentarily dropped her garden tools early Monday morning when two fellow members of Arlington Heights Infant Welfare Center, Mrs. Alan Kovar and Mrs. Elton Herrick, dropped by to discuss last minute plans for the Center's Post and Paddock dinner party. The affair is being held Friday, June 4, at the exclusive club.

Arnold Harveys Make First Home in South

Baskets of yellow pompons and snapdragons adorned the altar of St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, for the April 25 wedding of Lois Marie Vetrano of Wheeling and Arnold Hale Harvey of Mount Prospect. The couple repeated their vows before Rev. Robert Bartz in 11 a.m. double ring rites.

The bride, daughter of the Peter Vetranos of 874 Vera Lane, worked for United Air Lines before her marriage. She and the groom were both graduated from Arlington High School in 1960, and he is now stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C., with the U.S. Army. Following their 2-week honeymoon in Barbados, Puerto Rico and Jamaica, the couple is living in Fayetteville, N. C., near Ft. Bragg.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Holger Harvey, 214 N. Eastwood, Mount Prospect.

FOR THE MORNING wedding the bride wore an ivory floor-length sheath dress with short sleeves, scooped neckline and chapel train. The sleeves, neckline, waist and hemline were trimmed with seed pearls.

The bride wore long ivory leather gloves, and her fingertip veil was held in place by an ivory cabbage rose hat. Her bouquet was composed of white roses and daisies.

The yellow of the altar flowers was repeated in the attire of the bridal attendants. The matron of honor and five bridesmaids were dressed alike in yellow chiffon over taffeta floor-length sheaths and wore yellow cabbage roses for headpieces to match the bride's. Each carried yellow roses on fresh greenery muffs.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. Deanne Don Carlos of Des Moines, a former college roommate and sorority sister of the bride's while they were attending Drake University. Bridesmaids were Carol Vetrano, a sister of the bride; Lynn Stadell, Sharon Peery and Mrs. Diane Clark, all of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Karen Leckband of Naperville.

Two flower girls preceded the wedding party down the aisle of the church. The groom's cousin, 3-year-old Carol Harvey of Chicago, and Justine Rundio, 5, of Chicago, the bride's godchild, entered the sanctuary wearing green floor-length silk organza dresses with short puffed sleeves and scooped necklines. They carried natural straw baskets filled with yellow tearoses and white daisies, and wore bow headpieces to match their dresses.

Six-year-old Steve Bortko of Mount Prospect, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer.

JIM HARVEY served his brother as best man, while Donald Ballou, Thomas Geocaris and Dave Netherland, all of Mount Prospect, Thomas Clark of Arlington Heights and Robert Yetsky of Barrington seated the guests.

Choosing attire harmonious to the bridal attendants' ensembles, the bride's mother wore a green crepe floor-length dress with matching jacket, a yellow and green flowered picture hat and long white leather gloves. She had a corsage of yellow roses pinned to her shoulder.

The groom's mother also complemented the wedding party in her aqua floor-length dress with lace bodice, white hat and gloves and a corsage of white roses.

A dinner reception followed the rites at which 150 guests greeted the newlyweds at Old Orchard Country Club. (S

Auxiliary Holds Friendship Tea

Mrs. Robert Atcher of Roselle was hostess recently at a "Friendship Tea" to introduce prospective members to the Countryside Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society. Over coffee, tea and cakes, the guests were acquainted with the work of the Auxiliary and introduced to the new officers.

Serving as president of the group is Mrs. Atcher, who is assisted by Mrs. Alan McLaughlin of Arlington Heights, vice president; Mrs. Forrest Hansen, Elk Grove Village, secretary; and Mrs. Raymond Johnson of Arlington Heights, treasurer.

SPEAKER for the tea was Mrs. Sara Leonard, staff member of the Society, who explained that the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society was privately supported and non-sectarian. Its program, she told the guests, was primarily an adoption program for tiny babies, help to unwed mothers before their babies arrive, the placement of children in adoptive homes and obtaining foster care for children.

Countryside Auxiliary adjourns for the summer months of June and July, but will resume again in August when members will begin plans for their fall benefit, the Countryside Auxiliary "Blast Off Ball."

Partially Sighted Receive Encyclopedia from Juniors

A notable addition to the special material available to students in School District 25's educational program for partially sighted children was made last week by Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club. A recently published enlarged edition of World Book Encyclopedia, designed especially for children with visual handicaps, was present by Mrs. Roy Jernberg, Social Service chairman for Arlington Juniors.

The 30-volume set of reference books, printed in enlarged type on glare-free paper, is the first of its kind available to special education programs striving to meet the needs of children whose vision remains poor even with maximum correction.

The local program, under the direction of special teacher, Mrs. Faye Greenspon, was begun last fall as part of the Illinois Plan for Special Education of Exceptional Children. Ten children from elementary to high school levels have received special visual assistance while continuing in their normal classroom situations during the past year, according to Mrs. Greenspon. The special teacher hopes to add more children to the program as their visual needs are recognized.

"WORDS CANNOT express my delight at learning the children will have the benefit of an enlarged type edition of this complete set of reference books," said Mrs. Greenspon when the 30 oversize volumes were delivered to her special classroom in North School. "Nothing of this scope has been available for the partially sighted child until now." "Arlington Juniors couldn't possibly have selected a gift that would be more appreciated by the many children who will benefit now and in future years," continued the enthusiastic teacher.

The partially sighted program has been a service project of the Junior Club throughout the past year, at last count, volunteers from the club have worked more than 180 hours assisting the special education teacher in preparation of materials needed in the program; and many Juniors plan to continue aiding school year.

As members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Illinois Federation, Arlington Juniors are inspired by achievements of many sister clubs in the fields of special education and aid to the excentional child. (S

ENLARGED TYPE on the glare-free pages of this set of World Book Encyclopedia will aid partially sighted children attending the special classes in North School, Arlington Heights. The books, a gift from Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club, are given rapt attention by Mrs. Roy Jernberg, social service chairman of the Juniors, and two of the students, Larry Molinelli and Larry Nordlund.

Barrington Girl is May 2nd Bride of Michael Kauffman

A large bouquet of white stock and carnations formed a simple decoration for the altar of St. Michael Episcopal Church, Barrington, for the May 2 wedding of Sandra Ann Logan of Barrington and Michael Raymond Kauffman of Arlington Heights. Six white candles glowed, adding softness to the setting.

The simplicity was repeated in the single long-stemmed white rose which each of the four bridal attendants carried as she came down the aisle for the double ring rites. Each girl wore a floor-length gown of heaven blue satin with a sheer overskirt. The hemline of the overskirt was embroidered in white eyelet and edged in scallops.

THE BRIDE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Logan of Barrington, had Mrs. Frank Gaides of Elk Grove as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Hannah of Barrington, Linda Burke of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Gerald Brindley of Elk Grove.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle E. Kauffman of 610 Lynden Lane, Arlington Heights. His brother, Lisle J. Kauffman of Elmhurst, served as his best man.

Rev. Robert D. Gerhard united the couple in marriage, as Tom Michaelsen played appropriate accompaniment at the organ.

SEATING THE guests were Frank Gaides of Elk Grove, Milchael McKernan of Arlington Heights and the bride's brother, Gregory Logan.

For her wedding day the bride chose a floor-length gown of white organza over silk. Its bodice was embroidered with organza flower petals, and the slightly gathered skirt was edged at the waistline with a wide grosgrain ribbon which was tied at the back with streamers falling to the floor.

Her elbow-length veil was held in place by a flower petal crown set with tiny pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

BILTMORE COUNTRY Club was the setting for the wedding reception for 60 guests later in the day. Blue and white spring flowers decorated the tables in keeping with the blue and white color scheme of the wedding.

For the day's festivities the bride's mother was dressed in an emerald green silk sheath dress and carried a camellia on her purse. Her shoes were also of emerald green and her hat of pale green flower petals.

The groom's mother chose beige for her attire. Her satin dress and silk chiffon coat were complemented by matching shoes and a flower hat in varying shades of beige. She had a white gardenia corsage at her shoulder.

(Community Camera

AMONG THE wedding guests was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Daniel J. Driscoll, who came from Arlington, Mass., for the occasion.

The newlyweds are living in the Brockway Terrace Apartments, Palatine, since their 2-week honeymoon in Sarasota, Fla., and the Bahamas.

The bride attended Salem State College in Salem, Mass., and the groom, an Arlington High School graduate, is partially through his senior year at the University of Illinois. He is presently managing Scot's Restaurant in Mount Prospect but plans to complete his college education in the near future.

Latest Styles Combine Fashion with Function

THIS HOMEMAKER IS SHOPPING FOR A DREAM . . . in a practical, down-to-earth fashion.

She's choosing carpet for her home, because like all smart shoppers, she's always dreamed about home furnishings which combine function with fashion.

Today's carpets and rugs – seen in a wide range of colors, textures and designs – offer many decorating possibilities. But their beauty goes deeper than a soft pile surface when it comes to quieting noise, making housework easier and providing comfort and safety underfoot.

Smart shoppers have also learned how to select carpets with ease and confidence, just by knowing how and where to start.

The first step is deciding on color and texture or pattern – general style, chosen for both eye-appeal and practicality.

Then, consultation with a reliable retailer leads to the final decision – choosing a quality in the preferred style category, best suited to individual home use and budgets.

Whether you're planning your first apartment, remodeling a house to expand with a growing family or building a dream house, you'll want to know more about carpets and rugs.

These are the "oldest" of all home furnishings – consider the cave-dwellers who first discovered the advantages of animal skins on the floor! – but they're also as new as the latest space-age invention.

If you want the maximum in fashion and function for your home, take a look at the new carpets and rugs. You'll see some dreams come true!

The following pages present news and pictures of the latest carpet and rug styles. This section is also your shopping guide on how to select the right carpet or rug for your home. You can see the many new designs, textures and colors that meet your appearance and performance needs by visiting your local carpet retailers.

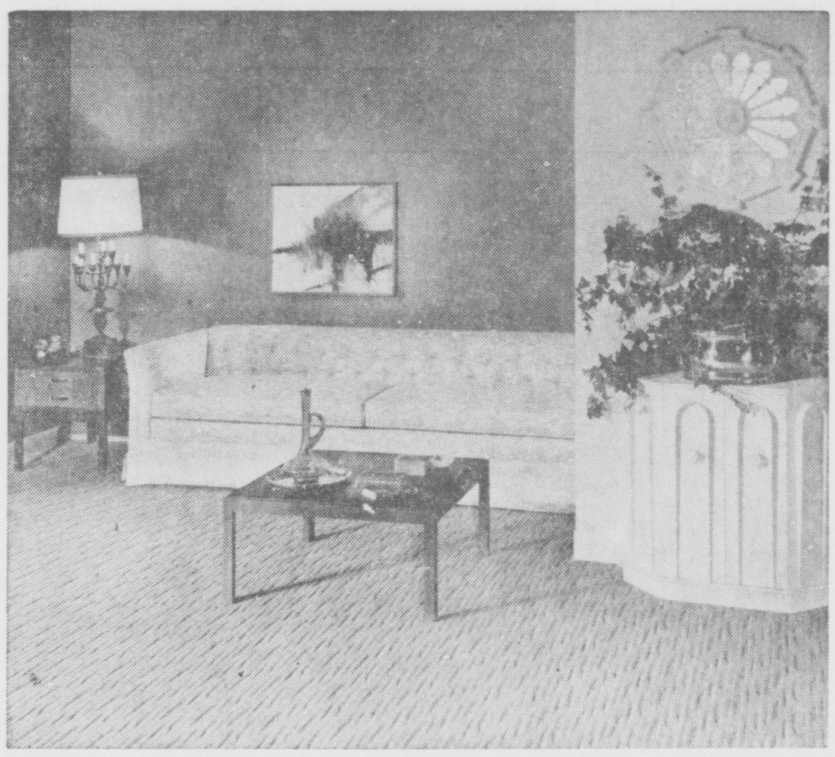
Colors in Carpets Make News



CARPETING with a subtle blend of color and interesting striated texture is the unifying factor of this living room which has both traditional and modern elements. It is typical of new carpet styles which are flexible in decorating, yet positive in their contribution to room style. Varied color schemes may be planned around related carpet hues.

Blends, Textures Give More Variety

All that's gold doesn't glitter.

One look at 1964 carpet and rug styles will give you this new slant on an old proverb. You'll see a profusion of burnished bronze tones; greens tinged with gold; warm browns with a "toasted" look and gold on its own, in every shade from light to dark.

These rich colors point to one outstanding trend in new carpets and rugs, but there are other interesting points.

Clear, true colors — never harsh, but intense and vivid — are given full play in 1964 styles.

GREEN is used in a variety of ways, from pale celadon shades, to crisp yellow-greens and turquoise tones and a new, lively look.

Red is varied from glowing, coppery tones to clear "poster" reds and those tinged with pink. Blue is represented in jewel tones and in rich peacock hues or further vaiation on the blue-green theme.

New "neutral" tones include a wide range of mellow brown colorings, some charcoal shades which are handled in a lively manner and some taupe or "mushroom" hues.

A generation brought up on plain beige wall-to-wall carpets will find this profusion of colorful carpets and rugs newly interesting and rich in decorating possibilities!

THERE ARE plenty of patterns, too—some strongly stated for definite decorating themes, others more subtle and flexible in decorating.

Many of the new carpet patterns are designed to lend interest to a room without being obtrusive, and while they won't literally "go with everything," they will fit in with several changes of pace in room planning.

These patterns—often achieved by a combination of color and texture—represent a step away from the "plain" look in carpets and rugs.

Still another step in this direction is seen in the many new textures of soft pile surfaces.

TEXTURE is especially refreshing in many new solid-color carpets and rugs — pleasing to the eye, and equally pleasing from a standpoint of practicality. They're designed to combine "plush" luxury with ease in upkeep.

Included in this category are many new random-sheared textures which are every bit as plush and elegant as plain cut pile, yet lend additional design interest to the floor.

Texture designs in 1964 carpets are created in multi-level looped pile, in combinations of cut-and-uncut pile, in two or more levels of cut pile yarns or with variations of twisted or crimped yarns.

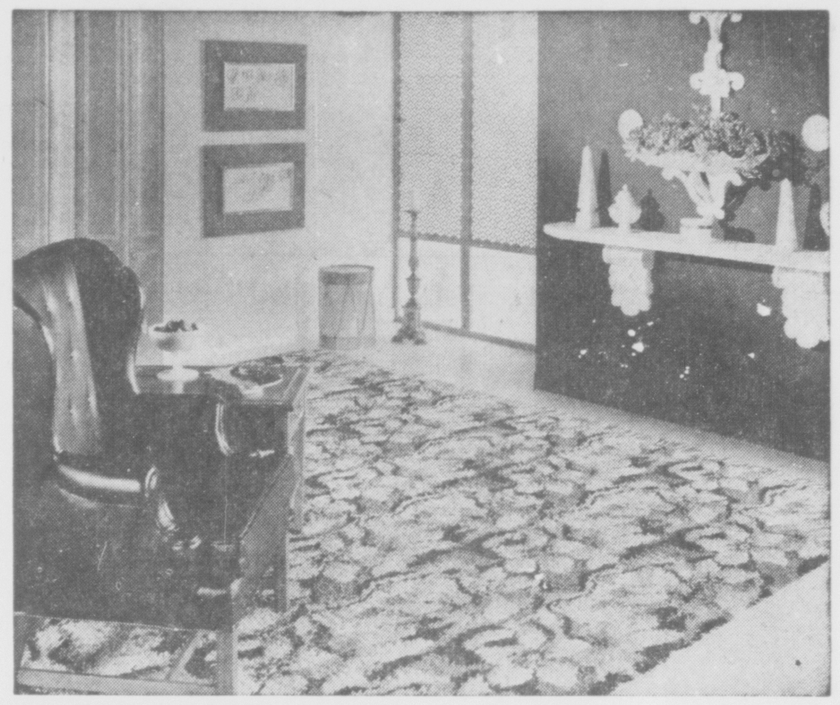
As with pattern, the new textures may suggest definite stylings—graceful leaf or scroll designs, for example—or may be more subtle in their over all effect.

COLOR, texture and pattern—all of these style components—show up to great advantage in what may well be a "vintage year" for carpet and rug design.

And in addition to eye-appeal, the tremendous variety seen in new styles offers a distinct practical advantage to homemakers who are decorating and furnishing their homes.

The broad range of choice means that it will be easier than ever to find a carpet or rug that's just right, whether a selection is made as the starting point for a new room or as the major item in refurbishing an existing room.

Whatever your situation may be, the 1964 carpets and rugs are ready to play a leading role or lend strong support, to the character of your home, as desired. (SS



BOLD SPLASHES OF COLOR and strong designs are seen in many new area rugs. These rugs may be the focal point in a room with a solid-color background. This style may be used in a fringed rug form, as shown here, or as wall-to-wall carpeting. The thick cut-pile texture is a complementary note to smooth finishes of other furnishings in the room.

Designer Explains How To Use Rugs Effectively

"How do I use rugs instead of carpeting? What is the difference between a room-sized rug, and area rug and an accent rug?" These are the questions many homemakers ask when deciding what to do with their floors.

A room-sized rug, quite naturally, is used to cover the whole room rather than just an area of the room. The hint here is to leave at least a 15" to 18" border to set the rug off. It is, after all, a rug and shouldn't look like it is trying to be wall-to-wall carpeting.

"An area rug defines a whole area," explains Arthur E. Petersen Jr. of The Designer's Shop in Arlington Heights, "whereas an accent rug means just what it implies. It is an accent in a room, performing no other function than to be decorative."

Area rugs are usually larger, either 6 x 9 or 9 x 12 feet, or, when round or oval shaped, at least six feet in diameter. This kind of rug defines an entire room or part of a room in the sense that furniture is grouped over and around it. In a dining room it may be placed under the table and chairs, in the living room it may define a sofa and chair grouping.

"A good rule to remember when placing furniture in regard to an area rug," Petersen points out, "is to be sure that some of the furniture rests at least partially on the rug. Furniture and rug will thus become unified."

IN RECENT years area rugs have enjoyed extreme popularity. There are two principal reasons for this, Petersen pointed out. One, the more extensive use of decorative hard surface flooring including wood, resilient and ceramic, tile which is too nice to cover up. And, secondly, along with the increasing mobility of Americans, is the desire to own portal - to - portal furnishings. "Area rugs can be moved but wall-to-wall carpeting usually has to be left behind," he adds.

Costwise, room - sized and area rugs are more economical than wall-to-wall. To cover a 12 x 15 foot room, for example, would require 20 square yards. On the other hand, a 9 x 12 area rug — the size needed for such an area — adds up to only 12 square yards.

Area rugs are also quality made and the better grades have such carpet qualities as thick cut pile, hand sculptured patterns and sophisticated designs. When woven of wool, acrilan or nylon, they are extremely durable and seldom need cleaning. Area rugs can be selected in washable cotton, too, from the simplest designs to a 7 foot round sculptured design with 4-inch fringe by Cabin Craft for only $89.95 (illustrated without fringe).

ACCENT RUGS are decorative items, generally used in more informal areas. They are available in cotton, wool or acrilan, and in about every type of pile, pattern and color imaginable. Most common sizes are 3 x 4, 4 x 6 feet and 4 foot rounds. An accent rug may be placed on top of carpeting such as in front of a fireplace, alongside a bed, in an entryway, and so on. Some of the more creative, artistic designs can be hung on walls as an art accessory.

And a Scandinavian fashion which is taking hold in this country is to use the rug on the floor in the winter and to hang it on the wall during the summer.

Berven of California even offers custom colors in accent rugs. Any one of a dozen or so patterns can be made up in any combination of three to five colors which the homemaker selects, thus giving her her own custom designed rug. (SS

EFFECTIVE USE OF RUG is shown in this photo of a home recreation area. The accent rug is a decorative item and is generally used in the more informal areas of the home.

Area or Accent Rugs Play Varied Roles in Decorating

How large should an area rug be?

The answer to this question will be determined by the role your rug will play in the room where it is used.

"Area rugs" or "accent rugs" are designed to do exactly what these names imply, that is, define an area of a room or accent the floor with color and design.

Consequently, a rug should be large enough to fit the area where it is used. This might mean the dining portion of an L-shaped living room, a foyer or a window alcove. Or a rug might define a furniture grouping, such as a sofa, end table and chair arranged for easy conversation.

A rug chosen for its bright color and design might be placed in the center of a furniture grouping — and these accent rugs are often used over solid-color wall-to-wall carpeting.

Soft-backed rugs may be used over carpeting at various points in the room, since they serve the dual purpose of adding color and design and protecting carpet at extreme points of wear.

IF SMALL RUGS are to be used over polished hard-surface floors, take the precaution of anchoring them to the floor or choosing rugs which are heavy enough to stay in place without slipping and sliding.

"Scatter rugs," as small rugs were once called, were too often scattered hit-or-miss without much thought for decor or comfort. But today's styles can truly be termed "area" or "accent" rugs because they are designed for a purpose and have their own contributions to make to a room.

Many area rugs today are made in a variety of sizes—from the small sizes such as 3'x5' to large 12'x15' dimensions. The larger sizes could easily be used as room-size rugs.

Your own sense of proportion will be the best guide in selecting size. Avoid the postagestamp" look of a small rug in a large area, or the haphazard appearance of several small rugs in a large room.

Two or more rugs may be used together in a large room if they are compatible in color or design. They need not match exactly in size or shape—for instance, an oval rug and a rectangular rug could be used in the same room to define separate areas—if the two have harmonious features. (SS

Wax Removal

Candle wax on your carpet? Rub an ice cube quickly over the wax, blot with a clean towel or tissue. The wax will become brittle and can be easily picked up. Be sure not to get the carpet too wet from melting ice.

Adds Strength

All tufted and knitted carpets and many woven carpets today have backings coated with latex for extra strength and security of surface yarns. Most good-quality tufted carpets have "double backings" — an extra layer of material laminated to the primary backing for greater strength. (SS

Judge Rugs and Carpets by 'Performance Potential'

When you're shopping for a carpet or rug, you'll want to judge its "performance potential." How will it look and wear during the years it's on your floor?

Wise shoppers consider total performance characteristics of carpets and rugs they are considering. Here is a good yardstick against which to "measure" your choices.

1. DURABILITY. The lifetime of a carpet or rug will depend to a large extent on pile density—the amount of surface yarn used and closeness of construction. Carpets with dense, closely-packed pile wear best because the tufts help to support each other and resist abrasion.

2. Resiliency. Of course you'll want a carpet or rug which will not crush or mat quickly. Again, consider pile density, and look for resilient surface yarns which spring back quickly after pressure. You can feel resiliency when looking at samples.

Texture is a consideration too, in judging resiliency. Tight, low loops, for example, do not readily show crushing or matting. High, velvety pile surfaces should be especially dense and of resilient yarns, such as wool or acrylic fibers, to resist crushing.

3. Soil-resistance. Every carpet is subject to soil, but you can choose one which will not show soil readily. It depends largely on color. Very light or very dark colors—regardless of quality or fiber content — tend to show soil quickly and require more frequent cleaning, especially in high-traffic areas. Medium shades, color mixtures or patterns help to conceal soil between cleanings.

4. CLEANABILITY. The frequency with which you'll have to clean your carpet will depend to some extent on soil-resistance and resiliency, as previously mentioned.

Ease of spot-cleaning is related to fiber content. Man-made fibers, such as nylon, acrylic or polypropylene fibers resist water-soluble stains, and such spots or stains can be quickly and easily removed. For any carpet, however, regular vacuuming and prompt spot removal is the best course.(SS

Carpets Deserve Top-notch Laying

A beautiful new carpet deserves a top-notch installation. Modern carpet laying techniques have made it possible to install wall-to-wall carpeting so that it appears to "flow" into the walls.

The tackless method is the most popular and widely recommended carpet installation technique.

BY THIS METHOD, the carpet is secured to wood strips anchored to the floor along the walls. The strips contain rows of pins, angled toward the wall, which grip the back of the carpet.

The tackless method is preferred since it eliminates the need for tacks, which can become unsightly dust catchers and cause "puckering" of the carpet. Also, it makes possible the taut, smooth installation that is desired.

Though development of wide-width carpet has reduced the amount of seaming formerly required, many wall-to-wall jobs still require some seams. However, expert installers can make seams that are barely visible. Also, wise use of seaming can save money by reducing wastage.

For room-size and area rugs, it is best to bind the edges to prevent them from fraying through wear. This can be done by your carpet dealer at a very moderate cost.

BINDING TYPES can be ordered in colors that will match the rug. For area rugs, attractive fringes made of the same colored yarn as the rug will offer the same protection as binding tape.

For staircase installations, a good idea is to have the carpet run a foot beyond what the measurements call for. This extra material can be folded against the riser at the top or bottom. When wear spots develop on the treads, they can be shifted to the risers. (SS

Suit Carpet To Need for True Value

Which would you rather have in a carpet—a bargain or a value?

The two aren't the same, you know. It's fairly easy to find a "bargain," or at least what seems to be a bargain at a low initial cost.

But remember that true value depends on price in relation to quality. If you want a return on your "investment," look for the quality of carpet best suited to your needs—whether it's an inexpensive style for short-term use or limited traffic or a more costly quality for long-lasting satisfaction.

TO JUDGE value accurately, consider years of estimated wear compared to price. If a carpet costs $5 per square yard and lasts two years, the carpet actually costs $2.50 per year.

Another carpet costing $10 per square yard but lasting 10 years will cost only $1 per square yard per year—although it seems like a more "expensive" carpet.

A low price for poor quality is no bargain! (SS

Indicates Width

"Broadloom" is not a kind of carpet. It is simply a term of measurement indicating that the carpet or rug was made wider than six feet. It does not describe any particular style, quality or type of construction.

We do not recommend wool over acrilan or nylon over wool, or acrilan over nylon. Each fibre has its own distinct properties that may or may not make it the best fibre for your individual needs.

Before we can recommend anything, we need to know what type of weave you prefer, what colors you're considering, what your traffic patterns are, how much traffic there is, what your soiling problem is, and soon.
Maybe you have small children who spill milk?
Or big children who spill highballs?
Is the best wear for the dollar most important to you?
Or is your heart set on a subtle, light color so that soil retardance is a major factor?

There is a whole lot more to a successful carpet purchase than listening to the opinions of a couple of the girls over coffee, and then finding something "that feels like a lot of carpet" that you can get "a great buy on."

We have no carpet salesmen, only trained interior designers (the same people who would help you design your living room) who have a thorough knowledge of carpeting as well as furniture, draperies, color, texture, arrangement, etc.) and will gladly take the time to counsel you well in such an important purchase.

Flexibility Important When Choosing Rugs and Carpets

Rolling out the right carpet does wonders for any room, as any homemaker will readily agree.

Yet, choosing the carpet or rug that is really "right" may seem like a baffling problem, especially to newlyweds. How to get the best value on a limited budget, how to choose a style adaptable to changing tastes, how to create a homelike atmosphere quickly—these and other questions arise.

LET'S CONSIDER a typical example—Bill and Mary Smith, just married, confronted with an unfurnished living room in their first apartment. The room is approximately 12x15 feet, the floor is in good condition. Furnishings are nonexistent, except for some accessories received as wedding presents and an antique chair rescued from the family attic.

This young couple wisely planned ahead for furnishings which could later be moved to the house they hoped to buy. They decided on two good investments—a rug for immediate warmth and color in the room, and a sofa to add to the comfort—with other furnishings improvised for the time being.

They realized that a room-size rug would be their "best buy" at this point. The reason? A 12x15 rug would give the effect of complete carpeting but could easily be moved later.

The economy for these newlyweds was sound. A 12x15 rug has a total of 20 square yards. For only $230 they could choose a good rug, costing approximately $10 per square yard, plus $30 for padding.

FACED WITH a limited budget, the couple decided to get the best rug quality they could afford and save for the carpeting they wanted, rather than pay for less-quality carpet plus costs of wall-to-wall installation in a temporary apartment.

The solution was a happy one. Bill and Mary Smith found a carpet—available also in standard rug sizes—with a subtle pattern which was flexible enough to fit a variety of decorating schemes.

Because a patterned rug helps to conceal soil between cleanings, they realized that they could have a rug in their favorite colors of gold and closely-related tones without extra maintenance or "worrying about every footstep."

They chose a sturdy sofa with simple lines, found some attractive ready-made draperies, improvised some small tables and extra seating—and began planning other items they wanted and needed.

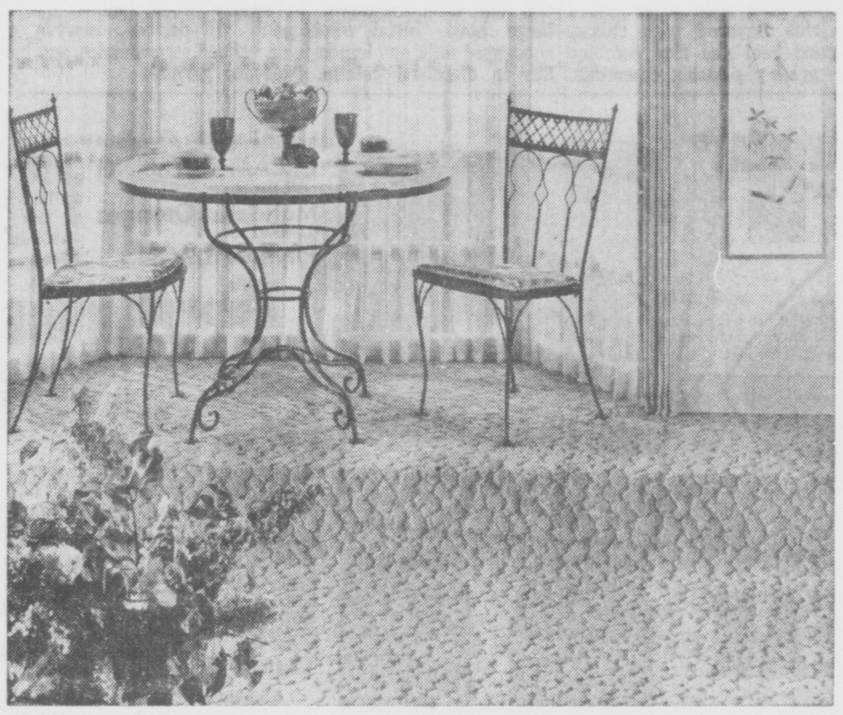
THE RESULT? A living room which looked comfortable and furnished from the beginning, with promise for the future.

Several years later, the Smiths were ready for their own house. They found one with a spacious living room which suggested the more formal decor they had decided on by this time, and they chose wall-to-wall carpeting for their permanent home.

The orginal rug and sofa still played an important role, however. The new home had space for a family room—and the furnishings from the first apartment were ready to contribute the same comfort and homelike atmosphere planned from the beginning.

In the family room, the subtle pattern of the rug and the simple lines of the sofa harmonized nicely with additional furnishings in Early American style—and a fresh, new color scheme was easily planned around the related tones of the rug.

The details of the story may vary, but thousands of families across the country have discovered the satisfaction of investing in carpets and rugs which bring lasting pleasure—from the first apartment to the "dream house" of the future. (SS



MULTI-LEVEL looped texture adds a strong note of interest to this pleasant breakfast nook, yet the solid-color carpeting is easy to use as the basis for decorative schemes. Here is another example of flexible styling in new carpets.

'Try On' Carpet in Your Home

Want to "try on" your carpet before you buy it?

Investigate the in-home shopping services offered by reliable stores in your community. Carpet retailers across the country have made such services available, because they know that in-home shopping is the surest way for customers to make a satisfactory selection of color and style.

YOU MAY WANT to visit stores first to see the broadest possible selection of carpet and rug styles now on the market. But once you have found the styles which interest you most, you'll want to know how they would look in your home.

You can easily arrange for a store salesman to call at your home with a selection of samples—at a time most convenient for you and your family.

Colors can then be checked accurately under your own home lighting conditions or compared with other colors in the room. You can see patterns or textures of samples on the floor to get a clear idea of their over-all effect.

AT THE SAME time, a trained salesman can help with decorating advice and can take accurate room measurements if you are planning a wall-to-wall carpet installation.

This easy shopping is a boon for busy mothers, too!—no baby-sitting problems when you shop for carpet in your own home. And many homemakers have found that other members of the family enjoy sharing in the decision on a new carpet or rug—with all the comforts of home. (SS

THE PRIDE AND JOY of a Connecticut housewife is this carpeted kitchen. She has found the carpet to be truly practical, besides adding a unique elegance to her kitchen. Spots and spills are quickly wiped up with a damp cloth and regular vacuuming takes less time than frequent mopping and waxing.

Beetles Eliminated As Hazard to Rugs

If you keep up with current events, you've probably noticed that the "beetles" rating top headlines are those of the rock n' roll variety.

Another kind, commonly called "carpet beetles," certainly don't hang around carpets anymore.

Actually, this pesky insect is a type of moth which would attack many types of home furnishings, including upholstery, draperies or bookbindings.

BUT THE INSECT hazard to carpets and rugs has virtually been eliminated in the past few years by major carpet producers in the United States. They now permanently moth-proof wool and wool-blend carpets during the process of manufacturing. The man-made fibers are just naturally unattractive to insects.

Look for this feature on labels when you're shopping for carpets and rugs. It's your assurance that although you may question some tastes in music, you'll never have to question the taste of a beetle or moth for your new carpet. (SS

Carpeting in Kitchen Adds Beauty, Comfort

If you think carpet in your living room is nice, you should see it in your kitchen!

After all, why limit comfort, quiet and beauty to the living room? The kitchen deserves these benefits, too.

That's especially true of the many kitchens which are not just isolated work rooms, but "living areas" in their own right. Today's servantless homemakers have discovered the convenience of kitchens which include space for family meals, or those adjacent to space for informal entertaining.

They've also discovered that carpeted floors reduce noise and fatigue and add the color and texture that's needed for a pleasant atmosphere.

But, as any homemaker would point out, a kitchen has to be more than just pleasant and attractive. It does have to be practical.

A growing number of homemakers have been pleasantly surprised to find that carpeted kitchens can indeed be practical.

Some women who originally said, "I want the luxury of a carpeted kitchen no matter how much extra work it means," soon discovered that carpet on the floor actually meant less work.

They found that what's good for the living room is good for the kitchen—that is, regular vacuum cleaning which takes less time and effort than scrubbing and polishing hard-surfaced floors.

Homemakers who have been happily living with carpeted kitchens for several years have made these suggestions:

1. Kitchen carpet should be practical in color and texture. Tweed colorings and looped textures are the most frequent choice. Patterns also help to conceal signs of use between cleanings and may contribute to styling. Colors don't have to be dull, but medium-value hues are best, rather than very light or very dark tones.

2. It's easier to take care of an all-carpeted kitchen than one with only a carpeted area because there's just one surface for quick vacuuming.

3. Room-fit carpet—cut to the exact size and shape of the room but not permanently installed—is a good choice for the kitchen. Like a rug, it can be easily removed for thorough cleaning (usually needed once a year, perhaps less frequently depending on use and regular maintenance).

4. Fiber choice is based partly on desired color and texture, partly on practical considerations. Nylon and acrylic fibers are often selected because these man-made fibers resist water-soluble stains. However, wool and wool-blend carpets have been successfully used.

Spots and spills? They're quickly wiped out, usually with just a damp cloth, as with any other flooring material. As for spilled milk (or other stains which might seem more serious) the housewives with carpeted kitchens don't cry over it. These mishaps are taken care of with cleaning fluid or a detergent-and-water solution.

Are there "bonus benefits"? Again, the proud owners of carpeted kitchens have made some interesting discoveries.

One "senior citizen" reports that she no longer worries about slipping on a hard-surface floor—and a young mother with active children also likes this safety factor.

Another busy housewife found that her carpeted kitchen "helps keep the whole house clean—now we don't track dirt from the kitchen floor to other rooms."

Another found that a carpeted floor made her kitchen usable as a "home office"—a pleasant, quite, room for telephoning, meal-planning, correspondence and other housekeeping duties. Still others have agreed that "carpeting the kitchen is almost like adding a new room to the house."

The reasons are as varied as original recipes, but one point is unanimous: Carpeted kitchens are here to stay! (SS

Weaving Types Adds Strength

Wilton and Axminster are not carpet brand names but are types of weaving, named for the towns in England where these looms were first used (although the Axminster loom was invented by an American).

Velvet is another weaving method, so named because of the "velvety" pile surface first created on this simple type of loom.

Hospitals, Schools, Kitchens

Carpet Used in New Places

Carpet is showing up in some of the most unexpected places!

At least, the carpeted floor is rapidly becoming a familiar sight in some areas which formerly remained aloof from what was considered a "luxury" floor covering — hospital rooms and restaurant kitchens, to name just two diverse examples.

The reason is simple: Administrators, architects and designers of commercial or institutional buildings have found that carpet isn't a luxury, despite its appearance. It is, in fact, a necessity in some public buildings, for some very good reasons.

The experience of these experts can be valuable to homeowners who are considering carpet — even though there are some obvious differences in the quantity and type of carpet needed for average home use.

THE PRINCIPAL reasons given by these professionals who specify carpet can be summed up very briefly:

1. Lower maintenance costs.
2. Easier maintenance procedures.
3. Sound control.
4. Increased satisfaction in terms of appearance.

Specific reasons may vary according to the type of building.

Over the past five years, for example, there has been a marked increase in the use of carpeting in the classrooms and corridors of both public and parochial schools.

SCHOOL officials are naturally interested in the lower "total use cost" (material costs plus maintenance over a period of time) of carpeted floors.

But they also point to the "improved behavior" of students who respond readily to the quieter, more comfortable atmosphere of carpeted classrooms.

Hospital administrators, who are acutely aware of the need for noise control, have also been impressed with the increased efficiency in maintenance of carpeted floors and the lessening of fatigue for doctors and nurses who walk miles every day.

As for restaurant kitchens, one manager has declared, "We'll save the cost of the carpet just by less dish breakage in one year's time."

FACED with sharply rising costs, architects and administrators of public buildings today are increasingly aware that the operating and maintenance cost of a building must be considered as closely as initial cost.

Carpet has effected substantial savings in maintenance because it can be maintained at a high appearance level with far less time and effort than is required for non-carpeted floors—thus, reducing labor costs.

Although the average housewife isn't concerned with hourly wages for cleaning, it's clear that the savings in time and effort can be just as important in the home as in a well-managed public building.

The same is true of noise control and carpet's general contribution to a comfortable atmosphere. These factors are equally important in homes and hospitals, schools or family rooms. Only the "scale" of importance is greater in the large public-use areas of commercial or institutional buildings. (SS

Carpet First Step In Stairway Safety

Stairways are high up on the list of "potential danger zones" in the home. Injuries resulting from falls on stairs can be painful, and sometimes quite serious, particularly among senior members of the family.

Following a few basic safety recommendations can help eliminate many of the accidents that frequently occur in this hazardous area:

1. Have carpet with padding installed on the staircase.

2. MAKE certain that the area is well-lighted with a light switch located at both top and bottom of the staircase.

3. Banisters or railings should be smooth, with no sharp edges, and frequently checked to make certain they are secure.

4. Never permit any loose objects to be placed on the stairs—this includes toys, books, shoes, etc.

Carpeting is so important because its non-skid surface will prevent slips, the most common cause of accidents. And, if falls should occur, the carpet and padding will absorb most of the shock, preventing serious injury.

A TIGHT, dense pile is the best choice for stair carpeting, since it will give the best wear in this high-traffic area. Shaggy-looped textures are not recommended for stairs, since they can become dangerous "heel-catchers."

Make sure the carpet is installed correctly — tightly stretched and properly secured to the treads and risers. (SS

Judge Quality

Don't be afraid to use your eyes and fingers when judging carpet quality. Press your fingers into the surface pile to judge resiliency; feel the thickness and closeness of pile which indicates good quality. Look for telltale gaps (or "grinning") in sparse pile which indicates poor quality. (SS

How to Save Money When Buying Carpet

Want to invest your money wisely and get the best possible value when buying carpet? Here are a few pointers on achieving your goal.

1. Don't skimp on quality for heavy-traffic areas. An "expensive" carpet may be the most economical in the long run.

2. Choose a practical color and texture, based on traffic needs. Plan for practicality as well as actual durability.

3. Choose a carpet or rug in the color family you like best, considering also the way it will blend with other furnishings.

4. Depending on room appearance and your future plans for your home, you might consider a large rug instead of carpet. A good-quality rug is a better buy than cheap wall-to-wall carpet.

5. Choose a reliable carpet retailer and discuss your needs and preferences with him. Be sure to read carpet labels carefully.

6. Discuss installation with your retailer. Modern methods permit inconspicuous seaming, keep yardage requirements at a minimum.

7. Buy a good padding, but don't try to compensate for skimpy carpet with a thick cushioning.

8. Take good care of your carpet to extend its lifetime.

Follow this advice, and you're sure to make a wise carpet or rug purchase which will give you years of satisfaction.

Carpet Means Floors Are Seen, Not Heard

Stop, look and listen.

This simple rule which should be familiar to every child learning to cross streets is also an important point for any homeowner to remember.

Have you stopped lately for a good, long look at your home? Satisfied with basic color plans and furnishings?

Well, then, listen for a minute. Are you equally satisfied with what you hear? Quite a few homeowners would have to admit that there's a constant "noise build-up." Most people get adjusted to it — or at least, accustomed to noisy surroundings — but the noise remains.

THAT IS, unless you've taken steps to correct it. Fortunately there are some fairly simple remedies for noisy homes — even those where basic construction or surroundings cannot be changed.

In some new homes and apartment buildings, for example, construction materials are not sufficiently "insulative" in quality so that noise is readily transmitted through walls or from floor to floor.

The problem may be compounded by the use of sleek furniture finishes, expanses of glass or other reflective materials. Add a fair amount of mechanical appliances or equipment — and the decibel count zooms.

In such cases, furnishings can be selected with an eye to their acoustical properties as well as their decorative and maintenance characteristics.

ONE OF the most readily - available acoustical materials for today's homes is wall-to-wall carpeting.

Scientific tests have established the fact that carpet has a "noise reduction coefficient of .50-.60" (proven in tests in the reverberation chamber of the National Bureau of Standards in Washington, D. C.).

This simply means that carpet cuts airborne noise in half —and at the same time, it virtually eliminates impact noises, such as footsteps or dropped objects.

Controlled studies revealed that carpet's sound absorption efficiency is improved with depth and density of pile (which also improves carpet quality) and by the use of padding. Texture, backing materials or fiber content, however, had little effect; all types performed well in acoustical tests.

IN ADDITION to such tests, home owners or apartment dwellers today can add the testimony of their own ears on the sound - deadening abilities of carpets and rugs.

The quieting effect of this acoustical floor covering, in fact, has caused apartment dwellers to describe carpet as "a downstairs neighbor's best friend." And the downstairs neighbors readily agree! (SS

Pot Roast Has Tomato, Olive Gravy

Throughout this nation beef pot-roast is a favorite choice. Remember the tender, succulent pot - roast grandma used to serve? Of course there was flavorful beef gravy on the side.

Some day soon you'll want to treat your family to this versatile beef pot-roast that boasts a tasty tomato gravy studded with ripe olive slices. Just before serving, sour cream is spooned into the gravy to make it extra good.

Home economist and meat authority Reba Staggs suggests using leftover pot-roast for delicious sandwich making.

POT-ROAST, TOMATO GRAVY

- 3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 large onion, sliced
- ½ can (10½ ounces) or ½ cup (10½ ounces) or 2/3 cup condensed beef consomme
- ¼ cup water
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- ½ cup sliced ripe olives
- ½ cup dairy sour cream

Combine flour, salt, pepper and garlic salt. Dredge pot-roast in seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings.

Add onion, consomme, water and Worcestershire sauce; cover tightly and cook slowly 3 hours. Add tomato paste and olives and cook ½ hour or until meat is tender. Remove meat to a heated platter.

Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if necessary. Stir a small amount of gravy into sour cream and add mixture to remaining gravy. Cook just until heated through. Six to eight servings.

New in Desserts– Magic Cream Mold

There's magic in sweetened condensed milk, for it thickens merely with the addition of lemon juice. And this magic helps make a wide variety of delicious creamy desserts. The newest one, developed by the Borden Kitchen, is "Banana and Strawberry Magic Cream Mold," an exceptional company dessert.

It's easy to make. After the mixture has been combined and chilled until firm, just unmold and center on a platter that has been rinsed in cold water. In preparing the banana garnish, remember to brush the slices with lemon juice to keep them from turning brown

BANANA STRAWBERRY CREAM MOLD

(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

- 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- ½ cup boiling water
- 1⅓ cups (15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 cup (½ pint) heavy cream whipped
- 1 (10 ounce) package frozen sliced strawberries, defrosted*
- 3 medium size ripe bananas, peeled and cut into crosswise slices*

In a small bowl, add gelatin to cold water. Let stand 5 minutes to soften. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. In a large bowl, blend sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice. Stir in dissolved gelatin. Fold in whipped cream.

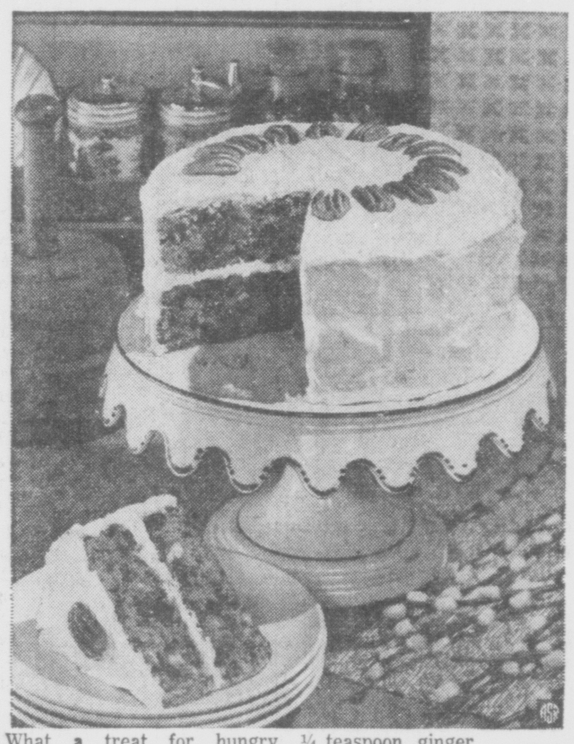
Drain the defrosted strawberries, reserving juice to make a sauce. Add berries and sliced bananas to condensed milk mixture. Pour into lightly oiled 1½ quart mold. Chill in refrigerator about 2 hours, or until firm. Unmold onto platter. Serve with Strawberry Sauce.

*If desired, reserve a few sliced strawberries and bananas for garnish. (SH

Rice Tips

Rice can escort meat to the table in a variety of combinations: broiled lamb chops surrounded by curried rice, pork chops with Spanish rice and a broiled ham slice accompanied by rice flavored with raisns. Ground beef and rice combine for many pleasing casseroles.

Oh, So Good!– Raisin Nut Cake



What a treat for hungry youngsters who have been outside playing tag, splashing in puddles or jumping rope — a spicy Raisin-Nut Cake.

It's rich, moist and chock-full of raisins and nuts. The important ingredient that subtly enhances the flavor and makes the cake so distinctive is citrus-flavored 7-Up. This easy cake recipe belongs in your file of family favorites.

OLD-FASHIONED RAISIN-NUT CAKE

- 2 cups seedless raisins, finely chopped
- 1 1/3 cups 7-Up
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup chopped nutmeats

Heat raisins and 7-Up to boiling; let stand until cool. Meanwhile, cream together butter and brown sugar; add eggs. Beat well. Sift flour with ginger, salt and soda. Add to creamed mixture alternately with raisin mixture.

Add vanilla and nutmeats. Pour into two well-greased 8-inch layer pans; bake at 375 degrees about 35 minutes or until done. Let cool 10 minutes; remove from pans and cool thoroughly. Frost cake with lemon-flavored buttercream icing.

Makes two 8-inch layers. (SH

Hush Library With Carpets

Shhhhhh!

This insistent command for absolute silence has probably been the trade mark of libraries since an ancient scholar first put together a stack of stone tablets.

In recent years, however, a drastic change has taken place in the whole concept of building and operating libraries. As one leading library designer explained, libraries today are being "humanized." The forbidding, institutional atmosphere is being replaced with well - lighted, comfortable interiors where students and other patrons can pursue their reading in relaxed surroundings.

The growing use of carpets and rugs in schools and public libraries across the country is one example of this trend. Librarians are recognizing that carpet is actually easier and cheaper to maintain than hard floors. What's more, its blotter-like ability to soak up noise can contribute more to the quiet of a library than a sharp - eared library clerk, always ready with a quick "shush."

HOW OFTEN have you heard the tomb-like silence of the traditional library shattered by the sharp clacking of footsteps and the thunderous roar of rolling book trucks across the hard floors? With carpet, most of these impact noises are absorbed, as well as 50 per cent of the airborne sounds.

Another key objective of modern library design is to make the books more accessible to the reader, rather than to keep the volumes untouched by human hands.

Open shelves, plus a carpeted library floor, have been found to encourage students to browse more around the stacks and take greater advantage of these storehouses of knowledge available to them. (SS

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Electronic Brain Eases Work Of Golf's Handicap Chairmen

WHEN THEY START NAMING officers in any golf league, there's one position that fails to instill any esprit de corps among the division members.

Golfers look the other way when someone is sought to fill the position of handicap chairman. Even serving on the handicap committee makes you a social outcast.

"Sorry, too busy," one candidate will submit. "Not this year," another says. He'll say the same thing the following season.

Finally, someone accepts. Several weeks later he also laments, "I was more than happy to help out, but this is ridiculous."

You wouldn't get many arguments if you called computing handicaps one of golf's king-sized headaches. Establishing handicaps and keeping them up-to-date is a tedious and time-consuming project.

BILL TROMBLEY

However, don't shed any more tears for the poor handicap chairman. Relief is just an electronic brain away for this much maligned individual.

Electronic brains have invaded many fields, and golf is no exception.

The Minimax Computing Corp. of Dallas, Tex., has solved the handicap problem. Handicap chairmen can throw away their pencils. They can spend more time with their families. Minimax and its giant electronic computers do all the work.

There are many problems in establishing handicaps manually in addition to the time involved. Members of some clubs don't turn in their scores regularly. You also have your sand baggers to contend with. As one columnist pointed out, "Taking the liar out of golf is like taking beans out of the Navy."

Bill Trombley, vice president and sales manager of Minimax who formerly played on the pro links tour, feels his service includes everything a golfer could wish for.

"Throughout industry more and more companies are turning to electronic data-processing," Trombley pointed out in a recent visit to Arlington Heights. "Minimax now brings the speed and accuracy of electronics to golf handicapping."

Golfers post their scores on an alphabetical form, and these forms are mailed to Minimax. Within 24 hours the complete and up-to-date handicap record is on a plane bound for the pro shop. The information is complete and in a form that is readable and understandable. Each golfer receives an individual handicap card.

Golfers tend to be more diligent in turning in all their scores for handicapping when computers are used because the number of scores they presented is printed for all to see. A zero in that column is inconsistent with being seen on the course. And it would be embarrassing for a 12-handicap golfer, for example, if his partners failed to find that fine 78 he shot with them during the month.

The electronic computation eliminates human error and prejudice, producing accurate and impartial handicapping. There are no more arguments. Statistical studies reveal if 70 per cent of hand-calculated handicaps in a club are correct, the club is doing well.

Minimax calculates either the USGA handicap or the Chicago District Golf Association handicap.

"Many of the area's leading semi-private and daily fee courses are offering this service for the first time tc players who are not affiliated with a golf association or private club," Trombley said.

"Handicaps are used in one form or another each time players meet and arrange a game. Minimax will provide handicaps for anyone who has turned in a minimum of six scores and will provide current handicaps based on the latest scores turned in each month."

Trombley also emphasized that his group had not forgotten the ladies. "They calculate for either nine-hole or 18-hole flights," he said. "Many twilight leagues in the Chicago area are based on a nine-hole tournament schedule and Minimax can provide these leagues with fast, current handicaps."

The Minimax program was developed by Charles E. Kemp, M. S. Purdue University, formerly a research mathematician and now president of the computing corporation. An ardent golfer, Kemp decided to put his degree to work after he spent several hours one night trying to compute handicaps with the aid of pencil, paper, and adding machine.

Kemp reports that the machine can do 30 man hours of work in 57 seconds. He does the calculating with an IBM 704 computer, estimating he can figure some 15,000 handicaps per hour, or enough to cover 50 clubs.

The formula is based on established USGA or CDGA factors, individual course ratings and a monthly roster of scores furnished by the club.

Golfers who falsify handicaps are on the way out thanks to the electronic brain.

If you qualify in tournaments with 87 when it should have been 77, watch out. Science is stalking these trophy hunters.

Mile Event Over Main Course

$40,000-Added Swaps Slated At Arlington Park Saturday

The $40,000-added Swaps Handicap, final tuneup for the three-year-old thoroughbred colony before the $300,000-added Mid-America Triple commences, highlights the Balmoral Jockey Club's third week of racing at Arlington Park.

The Swaps, a popular one mile fixture over the main course, is almost sure to bring together Miss Mary Fisher's Arlington - Washington Futurity champion of a year ago, Golden Ruler, and Mrs. Mary D. Keim's Clem Pac, hero of this season's initial Saturday stakes event, the $25,000-added Sheridan Handicap.

Expected to provide major challenges to this pair will be Dandy K., Dunfee and Mrs. Marguerite F. Daniel's Bold Destroyer who catapulted back into the local three-year-old picture with a recent victory, scant though it was, over Golden Ruler.

THE LATTER, however, was making his first start in better than seven months and most of the experts discounted the setback, feeling that Golden Ruler needed a race before beginning his stakes engagements. Golden Ruler broke his maiden at Arlington Park last season and won two allowance events before his score in the $352,500 Futurity, the World's Richest Race.

Golden Ruler developed a quarter crack during the winter months but has been training exceptionally well for Charles Wertsler since returned to action this spring.

The hard-luck colt, Clem Pac, whose woes began when he was hurt in Golden Ruler's big triumph last year and who missed the Florida Derby and the Kentucky Derby because of physical ills, now appears sound once again.

HIS TWO-LENGTH victory in the Sheridan was most convincing and Clem Pac could be on his way to a banner three-year-old campaign.

Mrs. Cecil Carmine's Dandy K., a recent Arlington arrival from Churchill Downs, won the $15,000-added Fountain of Youth Stakes at Gulfstream Park in March, his fourth triumph of the season.

Dandy K. then finished third to Northern Dancer and The Scoundrel in the $100,000-added Florida Derby before leaving Florida and was third to Mr. Brick and The Scoundrel in the Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs a week prior to the Kentucky Derby.

MRS. DOROTHY Comiskey Rigney's Dunfee, second to Clem Pac in the Sheridan, possesses brilliant speed and was rated during the Sheridan as he will have to be during the longer three - year - old events forthcoming.

No Problems

Lindy McDaniel of the Chicago Cubs has had better luck against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the past five years than any other National League team. He sports a fancy 1.88 earned run average against the LA club in that period.

SENIOR PITCHER PAUL Splittorff (left and junior infielder Mike Frase of Arlington High School were named to the West Suburban Conference all-star baseball team released this week by the division coaches. Splittorff, who also earned all-league recognition in basketball, was 4-1 in the conference with a 1.44 earned run average. Frase hit .350 in league action.

Bork, Dundy Special Guests at Wheeling 'Spur' Club Meeting

George Bork and Mike Dundy, two well-known area athletes who achieved stardom in collegiate football ranks, will help launch the first gathering of future Wheeling High School athletes, parents, and friends Friday evening, June 5.

Bork and Dundy will present short talks at the meeting which gets under way at 8 p.m. at the new Wheeling High School.

The special meeting, planned by the "Spur" Club organization of the school, is open to the general public at no charge.

Wheeling High is located at Hintz and Elmhurst roads.

The primary purpose of the open meeting is to acquaint the public with the objectives of the "Spur" Club, creating public interest and support of Wheeling's future athletic teams.

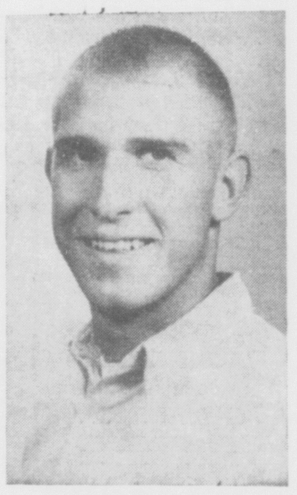
CURRENT PLANS include a preview of some of the uniforms that have been selected for next year's teams and an introduction of the coaching staff. The program will be highlighted by the presentation of Wheeling High awards to those athletes who earned letters and numerals at their present schools.

Two types of memberships are being offered during the Club's first year of operation and will be available at the meeting to those interested. These are the "Golden Spur" and "Silver Spur" memberships at $5 and $3 respectively.

Membershp cards and decals are given with each type membership while "Golden Spurs" will also receive two golden spur lapel pins as recognition of being a Club founder.

After the first year of operation, only a single type membership will be offered.

MIKE DUNDY



GEORGE BORK

BORK AND Dundy, the two special guests Friday evening, both played their high school football under Elliott (Bus) Ormsbee, athletic director at Wheeling, when Ormsbee was coaching at Arlington High.

Bork went on to shatter numerous collegiate passing records as a quarterback at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb. In one game he threw for seven tourchdowns.

Bork now holds every national record in passing — attempts, completions, scoring passes and passing yardage — both for single season and career, and holds the single game mark for passes attempted, completed, and scoring passes.

AS NORTHERN Illinois swept to an undefeated season in 1963 Bork broke his own season records set in 1962 for passes attempted (374); passes completed (244); passing yardage (3077); and touchdown passes (32).

He set new single game marks for passes attempted (68), passes completed (43), and touchdown passes (7). He advanced his career marks in passes attempted. (902); passes completed (577); passing yardage (6782), and touchdown passes (60).

Dundy starred on the University of Illinois' Big 10 and Rose Bowl football championship team. Coach Pete Elliott awards a star for every pass interception, and Mike's helmet displayed a team high of nine for his career.

DUNDY MISSED spring football practice a year ago because of track. When grid drills start-

Downers Tops Diamond Team

West Suburban Coaches Honor Splittorff, Frase

by BOB FRISK

A senior pitcher-outfielder and junior infielder from Arlington High School landed positions on the 1964 edition of the West Suburban All-Conference baseball team selected by the league coaches.

Paul Splittorff, 6-foot-3 left-hander who also earned all-star honors in basketball, and Mike Frase, a two-year vet in varsity baseball although only a junior, join 14 other diamond standouts on the post-season honor squad.

Sixteen boys representing the eight West Suburban schools were named to the all-conference team. Downers Grove placed five players and league champion Maine East three.

Arlington and Riverside-Brookfield each landed two slots, and Glenbard West, Hinsdale, LaGrange, and York picked up one position.

FOUR BOYS are repeaters. Making the coveted squad for the second straight year are pitcher Chuck Mestek of Riverside, catcher Mickey Smith of Downers Grove, and infielders Ray Chladek of Downers Grove and Tom Eichler of Maine East.

Arlington's Splittorff has company from among the preps who also earned all-star honors in basketball. Maine East's Jeff Jonswold, an outfielder, and Eichler were all-conference selections on the hardwood for the 1963-64 season.

Here's the way the West Suburban all-star team stacks up for 1964:

Pitchers — Jim Duffy (Downers Grove), Mestek (Riverside), Tom Munzel (Maine East), and Splittorff (Arlington).

Catchers — Jerry Karela (Riverside), Jim Peters (York), and Smith (Downers Grove).

Infielders — Chladek (Downers Grove), Eichler (Maine East), Bill Forbrich (Hinsdale), Paul Kuch (Downers Grove), and Frase (Arlington).

Outfielders — Jonswold (Maine East), John Martinek (Downers Grove), Jim Vopat (LaGrange), Joe Zaluba (Glenbard West).

ARLINGTON had two near-misses in the balloting. First baseman Jerry Fink and third baseman-outfielder Rich Hoppe, both juniors, were given consideration in the selections.

Splittorff capped an impressive athletic career at Arlington with his berth on the all-conference baseball team. Paul lettered in basketball and baseball during both his junior and senior years. He was the squad's big winner in baseball for both campaigns and the leading scorer in basketball as a senior.

Splittorff, who worked in the outfield when he wasn't pitching this year, toiled 46 innings for Bob Baker's varsity, picking up six victories in seven decisions. His only loss was a 4-3 reversal against loop titlist Maine.

THE FAST-BALLING southpaw fanned 43 batters in his 46 innings and only walked nine. He gave up 10 earned runs for a snappy 1.52 earned run average.

In conference play Splittorff was 4-1 with a 1.44 ERA. He allowed only 29 hits in 34 frames, fanning 20 and walking five.

Splittorff worked 96 2/3 innings for Arlington High School as a varsity pitcher. He was 3-3-1 as a junior with a 2.34 earned run average. For those 96-plus innings Paul showed a 1.95 earned run average with 87 strikeouts and only 38 walks.

Four Clubs Sport 4-0 Marks In Boys' Baseball Program; Eight Units Still Unbeaten

It's too early in the season to get excited about an unbeaten team, but there are several clubs off to red-hot starts in Arlington Heights' extensive Boys' Baseball program.

The count this week listed eight in the unbeaten class with four outfits showing four straight triumphs.

Hottest squads in Arlington are the Yankees of the American League, Millers of the North Blue Juniors, Atoms of the South White Juniors, and Huskies of the South White Intermediate. Each boasts a shiny 4-0 record.

Other clubs with unbeaten records are the Royals of the South White Intermediate (3-0), Stars of the South Blue Intermediate (3-0-1), and Doves and Hornets of the North Blue Intermediate (3-0-1).

But the season is still young, and some of those unbeaten nines may have trouble surviving another week of diamond warfare.

Here's the way the latest week of Arlington Boys' Baseball developed:

SOUTH WHITE JUNIORS

The Atoms remained unbeaten in a rather unusual manner, seeing a no-hitter thrown at them and still pulling out a 5-4 victory.

Mike Cook pitched the no-hitter for the Jets but had control trouble and failed to gain the slab decision. The winners scored three runs in the second and added singletons in the fourth and fifth. Pat O'Hara picked up the victory.

The Jets scored three runs in the sixth inning and toppled the Jays, 10-8. Cook's home run furnished the decisive markers. Tom Asby bested Dave Irlbacker on the mound.

Gregg Fink yielded only two hits as the Bulldogs bumped the Wrens, 8-5. Fink fanned 15 hitters but had control problems, walking 12. Scott VanDellen was the loser.

The Jays came up with seven runs in the last two frames to gain a 9-8 win over the Stags. Irlbacker got the win this time and also contributed a double and triple to the attack.

SOUTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE

The unbeaten Huskies held on to first place with a 7-4 triumph over the Solons as Frank May bested Tom Barrett. Tom Rougeux hit a home run for the losers.

Although collecting only five hits, the Royals still managed to crush the Marlins 21-3 behind the slants of William Bryk. Paul Collins ripped a four-bagger for the winners, and Jim Stipp hit one out for the Marlins.

Chuck Hirchline worked on the hill in the Terriers' impressive 6-0 victory over the Bearcats, and the Barons stopped the Ramblers 5-2 with Gary Gratzer the winner in a nifty duel with Walt Farr.

Gratzer fanned 14 and walked three, yielding only one hit. Farr fanned 13 and walked five, also issuing only one safety. Brian Bonnen hit a two-run homer for the Barons in the fifth.

(Ed. Note: A two run homer by the Ramblers' Mike Graham was inadvertently omitted last week. Graham delivered his big blow against the Huskies.)

NORTH BLUE JUNIORS

The unbeaten Millers made the Badgers their fourth victim with a one-sided 15-3 victory Thursday evening. Jeff Armstrong was in control of the situation, allowing only two hits over five frames. He also rapped a triple but was nailed trying to stretch the hit into a home run.

Bob Zimmanck received credit for the pitching victory in the Blues' 18-6 conquest of the Sox, and the Larks pulverized the Panthers 21-0, scoring in every frame with nine runs in the second.

Glenn Westman turned in a masterful performance for the winners, hurling no-hit baseball for four frames. He yielded two safeties over the final two segments.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

The Yankees made it four in a row thanks to a 9-1 victory over the Red Sox. John McDonald was the winner with the hot bats of Larry Geyer and Brad Prochaska keying the decision.

Gary Anderson pitched a one-hitter in the Athletics' 4-0 win over the Tigers. Rick Erickson homered for the A's.

A three-run seventh inning gave the White Sox a 5-2 victory over the Senators. Dario Hernandez was the winning pitcher with Mark Brown absorbing the setback. Mark homered in a losing cause.

SOUTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

Scoring five runs in the first inning, the Stars went on to record a 12-3 victory over the Dons. Two double plays highlighted the win. Greg Datillo smashed a home run.

Jim Woodward twirled a neat three-hitter and also cracked a homer in leading the Rangers to a 5-4 win over the Seals. Pierre, the losing pitcher, and Mike Mason collected four-baggers for the losers.

Lorne Kuffel drove in six runs with two home runs in sparking the Ravens to an impressive 7-3 win over the Chargers. Terry Ormsbee was the winning pitcher, fanning four in three innings. Cliff Schultz nailed eight on strikes in his three frames. Mike Teolis, Glen Engelking and Mike Cleveland put balls out of the park for the Chargers.

NORTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

The Doves showed their power in a crushing 18-6 conquest of the Colonels. Jim Demas, Chuck Mueller, and Jim Backi (please print all names) collected home runs for the winners. Bill Thurnhoffer recorded a home run and triple for the Colonels. Doug Carty was the winning pitcher.

The Triplets came up with a single run in the sixth inning to dispose of the Mounties 8-7. Ken Krewer rapped a home run for the decisive tally in the home half of the sixth. Herlihy and Bill Krewer also had homers. Pete Dumke was the winner.

Steve Scott fanned 13 hitters and delivered a home run as the Bruins cruised past the Mohawks 6-4. Mark Patterson also had a homer for the winners. John Pecktal slammed one out with the bags loaded to spoil Scott's shutout in the fifth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Brad Rucker turned in the pitching, allowing only two hits, and Tim McGrath delivered the clutch hitting as the Giants stopped the Cubs, 5-1.

The Colts were guilty of seven errors in dropping an 8-5 decision to the Mets. Rick Trahan worked on the hill for the winners and yielded eight hits. Alan Sowka was tabbed with the loss.

Ron Dolejs smashed a two-run homer in the fourth inning to give the Pirates a 2-1 victory over the Cardinals. Ron also was the winning pitcher.

Making good use of eight hits, the Dodgers bounced the Braves 6-2. Gene Elsburg bested Gordie Vidt on the mound. Marty Willow was the winner as the Dodgers came from behind for a 4-3 win over the Mets, scoring all four runs in the sixth.

Mike Brophy doubled in Sowka with the winning run as the Colts edged the Pirates 6-5. The losers had taken the lead with a four-run explosion in the visitor's half of the final frame. Chris Leet and Brophy each had three hits.

NORTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE

Scoring 12 runs in the fifth inning, the Hornets crushed the Lancers 17-2 with John Manning the winner. Truelson got the victory as the Pioneers stopped the Broncs, 9-3. Mark Neumann blasted a home run in the latter contest.

Ken Hoster hurled a shutout and also smashed a home run in the Comets' 5-0 conquest of the Celtics, and the Redbirds leveled the Mounties 10-6.

The Redbirds came up with four runs in each of the first two innings en route to an 8-5 win over the Saints. Rob Obst was the winner with Tom Olsen absorbing the setback.

SOUTH BLUE JUNIORS

The Beavers had the long ball on their side but that was all in a 10-6 loss to the Oaks. Jim Stull, Jim Merkel, and John Brinkworth hit home runs in a losing effort. Mike Zimmerman was the winning pitcher.

The Gems came up with seven runs in the home half of the sixth inning to gain a 10-10 deadlock with the Padres. Homers were collected by Gregg Hauptly, John Gibbel, John Russel, and Danny Extrom.

NORTH WHITE JUNIORS

In a free-swinging affair the Robins bounced the Bees 20-11 in Juniors action for their first victory of the season.

A five-run third inning carried the Gophers to a 10-4 victory over the Owls. Mark Leonhard rapped a double in the explosive frame. Mark came back with a two-run triple in the four-run fourth and also gained the mound triumph, fanning 15 Owls.

The Astros came up with two runs in the sixth inning and slipped by the Gulls 10-9. Bob Marzek was the winner with Mike Donato tagged with the setback. Bob Hull and Marzek had home runs.

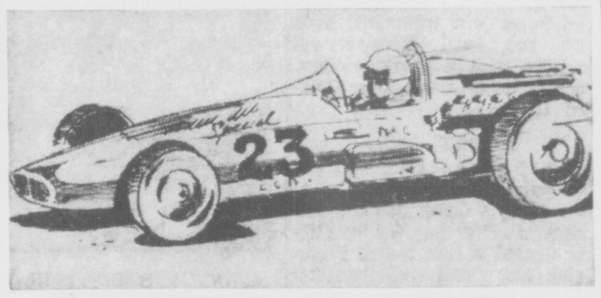
TOM TULLY

Smoke Gets In Your Eyes

"I WAS RUNNING TWELFTH at the time. MacDonald had just passed Len Sutton, Don Branson and myself as we approached the northwest curve. I guess I was 100 yards back when I saw him hit the outside wall. At 160 m.p.h. that gives you about two or three seconds to make a decision. Mine was whether to lift or not. I decided against it. There was an instant of searing heat, enough to melt the plexiglass windshield, and I was through it. By the time I came around again, the track had been blocked off. Skill, experience, reflexes? Possibly, but none of them control a car skidding across the track in front of you. Luck is the big factor. Actually, the cars going through behind me had it tougher. I had to contend with a skidding car, but at least I could see. The guys a few seconds behind had to guess their way through the smoke and fire."

Dick Rathmann had little trouble recalling his view of the tragic pileup on the second lap of the Indianapolis 500 last Saturday. "MacDonald was a rookie," he said. "He was just trying too hard."

Branson, quoted after the race, had been a little more succinct. After being 'dusted' by MacDonald in the number three turn, he had reacted with caution. "I've been blown off before," Don said, "but not often when I was going that hard. MacDonald went by me like he was crazy. Nearly shut me off in the curve, then really blew it coming out of there. So, when we went into



DICK RATHMANN'S CHAPMAN SPECIAL
Brought Him Home 7th at 'Indy'

number four turn I thought to myself, 'I had better lay back and watch that guy.' "

Rathmann, who lives at 156 Illinois Blvd., Hoffman Estates, was in his tenth Indy. He's seen pileups before. He's been in them before. In 1958, he earned the pole position when he broke the qualifying mark. For three quarters of the race he lived it up by leading the pack. Then he was involved in a crash that, from the standpoint of its effect on the race, was the most serious in the history of the Classic.

Pat O'Connor lost his life in that one. Sixteen cars were put out of action. Rathmann was put out of the lead and out of the money with two broken bones in his back.

How does a bangup like the one that killed Dave MacDonald and Eddie Sachs affect the other drivers in the race. "It doesn't," Rathmann says, "If it did, you couldn't stay in this business. You know things like this are going to happen. There's another reason too. Driving involves so much concentration you don't have time to think about an accident."

A crash like the one at Indianapolis Saturday, which not only killed two but took a total of six cars out of action, brings to mind some interesting questions. What about insurance? How much do the drivers carry on themselves and the owners on their cars?

Rathmann had the answer to both questions. None. No company will touch either driver or car. The track does supply $7,500 worth of insurance to the driver with his pit pass.

Owner Gambles Too

While the owner's risk cannot match the driver's, who puts his life on the line, it is perhaps the largest one shot gamble in sports. A good car costs a minimum of $30,000. Of the 50-60 cars taken to the trials, only 33 qualify.

Each of these cars put up a $1,000 entry fee for which they are guaranteed a minimum of $5,000 if they start the race. Normal wear and tear during the race will eat up at least that much in repairs. In addition the engines run about $13,000, have a life expectancy of only 1,500 miles.

Rathmann piloted the Chapman Special to a seventh place finish on Saturday. Or rather to within three laps of the finish. After the first six cars crossed the finish line, the seven cars still on the track were waved off.

The Chapman Special, a Watson 255 Offenhauser, was taking its third crack at the two and one-half Indy oval. As a conventional front engine Offy, its days are probably numbered. Rathmann has not made the switch to the rear engine Lotus-Fords, but is convinced that the rear engine racer is the car of the future. "I haven't driven one yet because I don't think they have been perfected yet. But they will be, and when they are, they will replace the Offy as the top car. Next year? We haven't discussed what we'll do next time."

The Rathmann-Chapman Special payday amounted to $13,500. Of that 60 per cent went to the owner who must pay the crew and the entry fee. Rathmann has his own expenses to deduct from his share.

From Saturday's tragedy, a twofold controversy is raging within the United States Auto Club. One disagreement stems around the maximum gallonage a car should carry. In the old days, the tires wouldn't stand the 500 mile test. Now that the tire makers have a product that will endure the grind, the owners are trying to come up with a car to match, the idea being to eliminate the pit stop. To do this, they must eliminate the fuel stops. Hence the larger tanks.

The second problem is the result of the rear engine Fords. This year for the first time, gasoline was used as a fuel replacement for the conventional alcohol. The gasoline is much more combustionable.

Rathmann expects a ruling limiting the tank load and wouldn't be surprised if a ceiling is established on the octane content in racing fuel.

What does the driver do when the Indianapolis weekend is over? If his name is Dick Rathmann he returns home early Monday morning and goes to work at his used car and body repair business at 3150 Touhy Ave., in Chicago.

Between selling cars and repairing fenders, the 15 year veteran of the ovals will try to get in a little rest, for this weekend he'll be off to Milwaukee for the Rex Mays Classic. This one should seem like a vacation. It's only a 100 miler.

Splittorff also wielded an effective bat with 16 hits in 54 trips to the plate and a .296 mark, second high on the varsity. He drove in four runs and had one double.

FRASE RECEIVED his baptism in varsity baseball as a soph, registering a .226 average in 53 trips to the plate. Mike worked at shortstop as a soph but moved to second this year and responded with a sparkling performance.

In 52 at bats in 1964 Frase collected 15 hits for a .289 average. He scored 13 runs and drove in six. He topped the club in stolen bases with six, walks with 14, and runs scored with 13.

It was in conference action that Mike enjoyed his top efforts of '64. He hit West Suburban pitching for a sharp .350 standard, a club high, and drove in his six runs in league warfare.

Bork, Dundy

ed in the fall, Dundy found himself on the fifth team. His fifth team relegation was only temporary. A fierce competitor Mike earned a first team defensive halfback berth a week before the season opener.

Dundy has a 3.92 grade-point average on a five-point system. He made the academic All-Big 10 football team this year.

Bork received a handsome contract from the Canadian Football League and will begin practice in July. Dundy, cadet colonel in Illinois' Army ROTC program, will report to Fort Benning, Ga. following graduation in June for basic training, ranger training and jump school. He will have a second lieutenant commission.

Maine West Tops Knights In Two Games

Maine West basebalers, driving towards the Mid-Suburban Conference title dropped Prospect 4-2 Thursday and nailed the lid on the Knights' hopes of moving up in the loop with a 5-0 shutout Monday.

Endin gthe year in a tie for third with Glenbrook South, the Knights finished with a 5-4-1 record in the league, while the Warriors took the title with an 8-2 mark.

In second place was Glenbrook North with a 6-3-1 record.

SCHEDULED originally to end Prospect's season, Thursday's contest saw the Warriors jump off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning and the Knights tie 1-1 in the second.

Tom Box tripled for the Knights in the second and then tallied the first run when Ron Wesley singled.

Maine West, however, came back in the bottom half of the same inning to add the rest of their runs. Dave Aegerter singled to start off the big inning. Chuck Curran walked and Makos walked.

AEGERTER and Curran, along with Makos, then scored on Neese's double.

Prospect added its other run in the fifth inning when Mike Phillips got on base when Aegerter erred, went to third on an error by Makos at second and scored on John Alexander's flyout to center.

Losing pitcher Grant Gentry, in going the first one-and-third innings walked three and gave up three hits, while Kowal, going in relief, allowed five hits and fanned two.

MONDAY'S CLASH saw the teams shut out each other until the fourth inning when the Warriors picked up four of their runs on three singles and two errors.

Andy Jackson went the distance for the Warriors in both victories, striking out three Thursday and four Monday and walking only one batter Monday over the two games.

Dropping their first dual-meet of the season earlier last week, Prospect's varsity golfers recovered to trim Glenbrook North 303-313 Friday in the Mid-Suburban Conference.

With Warren Luebcke carding 69 to pace the Knights to victory over the Spartans' home course, coach Warren Collier had three other players tie for second-low team-scoring honors.

Norm Milner, Rick Lynch and Mike Seleski all turned in 78's to round out Prospect scoring, while Dave Huntley had an off-day with an 83.

The Knight linksters, however, found the going more difficult the Tuesday before last at Park Ridge County Club where Maine West topped Prospect 326-332.

MILNER SHOT an 80 for Prospect's low, trailed by Huntley's 81, Seleski's 83 and Luebcke's 88, while Jim Nettles turned in a 90 to trail the squad.

Hank Blenner's 78 took individual medalist honors for the Warriors, while teammate Mike Greene carded an 81, trailed by Mike Krowka's 83 and Clyde Rowell's 84. Steve Ross shot a 92 for a non-counter.

Collier, whose Knights outplayed the Warriors 305-315 to win the district tourney title recently used basically the same lineup that gave Prospect its counters in its drive towards a state title with one exception.

LYNCH, WHO carded an 80 for a district counter, didn't play Tuesday's dual, while Nettles, who didn't make the trip to state after filing a 90 in district, played the contest.

"Knowing this loss wouldn't affect our point for dual-play in the conference," Collier explained, "I've been moving kids around to give them experience for next year."

Owning a 9-1 loop record, Prospect finished the regular season with a one-victory edge over Maine West in duals and gets one point towards the league title.

"IF WE either tie or beat Maine West in the conference meet (played Wednesday)," added the Knights' mentor, "we'll win the championship. We couldn't get any more than one point, however, for our dual-meets, and I knew we had that."

In frosh-soph action, Prospect continued on the unbeaten list with a 340-385 triumph over Maine West and 167-183 over the Spartans.

Dave Lovgren turned in an 80 to lead the young Knights past the Warriors, with Doug Lytle's 84, Dave Quirsfeld's 86 and Neil Rowe's 90 rounding out the scoring.

Lytle's 39 on nine-holes took medalist honors Friday. Lovgren trailed closely with a 39, while Joe Rosenova turned in a 44 and Rowe's 46 gave Prospect its other counter.

Rolling Meadows Boys' Baseball

With the help of the weatherman, the 1964 Rolling Meadows Boys' Baseball season is underway with plenty of action seen in both circuits. The following are the standings in the senior circuit through Monday, June 1:

American League	W	L
Athletics	2	0
Sox	1	1
Tigers	1	2
Senators	1	2
Yankees	0	2
National League	W	L
Cardinals	3	0
Braves	2	0
Cubs	1	1
Giants	1	1
Dodgers	0	2
Pirates	0	3

One of the highlights of the opening day game between the Giants and the Dodgers was Bobby Batchelor's brilliant one hit pitching, giving the Giants their only victory to date.

This Thursday evening, June 4, will find a crucial game between the Cardinals and Braves in a battle for first place. On the mound for the Cardinals will be their curve ball artist Bob Gaddini. The Braves haven't announced their starting pitcher since they have a game Tuesday evening.

Ed Matras, Braves manager said that although he feels he has a "pennant winning team, the opposition plays their best" against the Braves.

A perfect example is the 10-9 opening day game where the Braves escaped defeat at the hands of the Pirates.

The umpires for this game will be Lee Jacobs, a six-year veteran who will be behind the plate, and Bob Pondelicek, a first year man who will handle the field. Game time is 6:20 p.m. at the S-1 field at the main park.

Will Ernst announced that tickets are available for the Chicago Cubs — White Sox benefit game that will be played on Monday, June 22, at White Sox park. Tickets are on a first come first served basis and the cost per-ticket is $1.50. Bus transportation will be available and the fare is 75 cents. You can make reservation by calling Will at CL 5-8059.

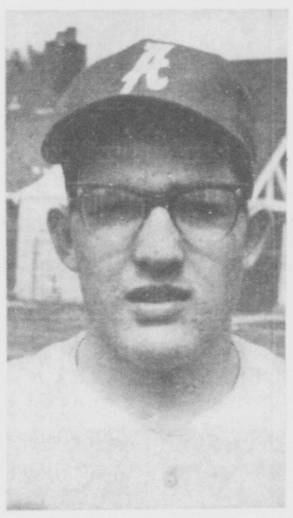
Cards Compile 11-7 Baseball Mark; Soph Wins Batting Crown



MARK FRASE

STEVE MARTIN

Bob Baker can always look back to "what might have been," but he still isn't shedding any tears over the 1964 varsity baseball season at Arlington High School.

The head man of the varsity Cardinals saw his outfit collect 11 wins in 18 games and finish in a tie for second place in the West Suburban Conference.

That second place league finish was Arlington's third in the past five years.

What still bothers Baker, however, are a string of three straight division losses in extra innings and four setbacks by one run over-all. And a doubleheader loss to Hinsdale will be hard to forget.

"That one really hurt," Baker admits. "We had won three in a row in the conference and then lost a pair at Hinsdale in extra innings. Right after that we lost to Downers Grove by one in eight innings."

But there were some bright spots for Baker. Three veteran pitchers combined for all 11 win and a snappy 1.82 earned run average. A sophomore paced the team in hitting, and juniors topped the squad in six batting departments.

The future is bright if Baker can come up with some mound help to offset the loss of his big three.

Johnny Friedl and Jim Kroll, two juniors, toiled in only five innings in the 18 games.

SOPHOMORE Mark Frase furnished one of the big surprises in '64 with 17 hits in 54 trips to the plate and a team-leading .315 average. Mark was the only regular over.300 for the entire season although three boys eclipsed that fugure in conference play.

In West Suburban play junior Mike Frase, an all - conference selection, finished on top with a .350 mark. Rich Hoppe, another junior, was second at .333 and Mark Frase was third at .304.

Only ineffective work with the stick in non-conference warfare kept Mike Frase and Hoppe from crashing the .300 barrier for the season. Mike had one hit in 12 at bats in non-league contests. Hoppe was blanked in 12 tries.

Mike Frase, brother Mark, and Hoppe each paced the Cards in three offensive departments.

MIKE TOPPED the team with 13 runs scored, six stolen bases, and 14 walks. Mark had 17 hits, five doubles, and his .315 average, and Hoppe gained the club lead in times at bat (60), doubles (5), and runs-batted-in (11).

Another junior, first baseman Jerry Fink, topped the varsity in the long blows, rapping out two triples and two home runs. After a fast start with the bat Fink, a slick glove man, skidded to a still respectable .281.

Paul Splittorff, Arlington's No. 1 pitcher and an all-league selection, also wielded an effective bat with 16 hits and a .296 mark over-all. Paul feasted on non-conference pitching with five hits and a .555 average.

SPLITTORFF picked up six victories in seven decisions to head the varsity mound staff. He fanned 43, walking only nine, in 46 innings and posted a fine 1.52 earned run average. In two years of varsity pitching Paul compiled an impressive 1.94 ERA for 97 innings of work.

Steve Martin authored three victories in 1964 and a 1.75 ERA. He toiled in 36 innings and fanned 29, issuing eight walks. Martin's earned-run - average for two seasons with the varsity was 2.01 for 70 innings.

Christensen picked up two victories and boasted the top ratio of strikeouts to innings pitched. In 40 innings during the past season the fast balling right hander fanned 52. He posted a 1.82 earned run average.

Arlington's mound staff exhibited exceptional control with 128 strikeouts and only 33 walks in 127 innings.

Hanney Twirls No-Hitter

A masterful no-hitter by right-hander Terry Hanney highlighted the opening round of action Memorial Day in the Elk Grove Boys' Baseball division.

Hanney of the Braves turned in one of the top mound efforts of this or any other season when he set down the Yankees, 10-0, in five innings.

The young moundsman fanned each of the 15 hitters he faced in the contest.

Terry also helped his own cause with a double, home run, and three runs batted in. Brother Sean, the third baseman, had two hits, and Jim Henry rapped a triple.

In other games Saturday the Indians, Cardinals, and Cubs emerged with victories.

Steve Chernicky's Cardinals had one scoring chance in the first inning with men on first and third, but they couldn't push the run across.

Jim Pavelle took the loss for Arlington.

Doyno Motors Wins To Claim Undisputed League Leadership

The Doyno Motor five, led by captain Dick Wood, finally managed to break a two-week tie for first place to take over undisputed possession of the top spot in the Friday Night Twilight League at Mt. Prospect Country Club.

Wood and his Doyno Motormen moved ahead of the pack in the loop by downing Dick Liehl and his Esquire Barbers 8-4, while Al Gilso and his Meeske Super Marketeers suffered their first loss of the season at the hands of Bill Harner's Arlington Cameramen 7-5.

Although Wood couldn't handle captain Dick Piehl of the Esquire Barbers, dropping a 3 and 2 decision to Piehl's 39 which included a birdie 3 on the 285 yard 9th hole, his teammates piled up a total of 8 points to send them into first place.

Herman Falldin started the point parade with a 2 and 1 decision over Del Summers, and John Burck kept the Motormen in gear with a like 2 and 1 win over Ed Deringer that included a bird on the par 4 ninth hole.

George Miscevich added another win to the Doyno total by downing Walt Rutkowski 4 and 2 and Bob Rinehart, although losing a 1 up match to Jack Buyers, added the final point to the winning margin with his net 39.

Captain Al Gilso and his Meeskemen dropped three points back of the leaders into second place as they lost three of the five matches with the Arlington Cameramen.

Gilso lost the captain's match to alternate captain Jim Scott, who fired a net 33 over the Mount Prospect front nine for a 4 and 2 win; No. 2 Holmes McLendon dropped a 3 and 2 decision to Stan Grabarek; and Ken Arnold was leveled by Bruno Pinkos 3 and 2.

But Len Berquist added two points to the Meeske total by beating Don Quigley 3 and 1, and Yngve Bloomquist turned back Jim Rogers 4 and 3 to keep the Meeskemen within striking distance of first place.

Captain Dick Haden and his Kruse five held on to third place by a mere six-tenths of a point as they managed a narrow 6½-5½ win over captain Stan Shaw's Keefer's Pharmacists.

Although carding birds on the 336 yard 11th and the 369 yard 14th, the best Haden could do was to halve his match with alternate captain Dick Bindon.

Making the most important move in the standings during Friday night's play was Joe Wylie and his Pro Sport Shop quintet as they moved into serious contention with a solid 8.3-3.7 win over Don Odbert's Jim's Standard Servicemen.

Wylie led the way for the big move by firing a two over par 37 and a net 32 over Mount Prospect's back nine to turn back Odbert 2 and 1. Wylie made the victory more outstanding by turning in a birdie 3 on the long 445 yard seldom birdied 17th hole.

Teammate Ed Berset downed Burt Hillstrom with a 2 up win that included a birdie 4 on the long 485 yard 15th, and Al Glover turned back Ray Downing 1 up to contribute to the fourth place move. Bob Gits added net points to the total with a 37 that included a birdie deuce on the 155 yard 12th.

The other major move upwards in the standings was made by Captain Dudley Hartman's Mount Prospect State Bankers, who moved from 11th to 7th place by overwhelming Bob Glader's Wille Lumber and Fuel five 10 to 2. Wille's only 2 points were contributed by Bill Morgan, who managed a halved match with Ed Pool on a card that saw Morgan scoring a birdie four on the 485 yard 1st hole.

Other bird performances were turned in by Gordan Carlson of the Keefer Pharmacy five with a three on the par four 13th and Del Summers of the Esquire Barbers who went one under par on the 285 yard 9th.

JOHN LIND, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lind, 504 Elmhurst Road, Prospect Heights, has been honored with a "B" Blanket, Beloit College's highest undergraduate athletic honor. John, a senior, was captain of the 1964 baseball team and a two-time All-Midwest Conference choice in the infield. He also doubled as a pitcher and in 1964 had an earned run average of 1.8 for 29 2/3 innings. Lind is a graduate of Arlington High School where he earned all-league honors in baseball.

Winkelmann's Captures 1st With Win

Paced by "A" player Ron Scherer's two-under-par 33, Winkelmann's Shell Service defeated Kruse's Tavern 7-3 last week and took over first place in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight League.

The Servicemen were happy to give credit for a timely assist to Kirchhoff Insurance, which obligingly knocked off Mt. Prospect Elec. Constr. Co. 8-2.

The Electricians, with the exception of a single week, had been the league leaders since the opening of the season, but this, the second defeat in as many nights of play, left them with too big a point deficit to remain on top.

WINKELMANN'S Scherer scored his sub-par 33 on the first nine. He birdied holes one, seven and nine and committed one error on the fourth for a bogie 4. The round was the lowest recorded this season in division competition. The round was good for two points against alternate Pat Harris plus a bonus point for low individual net.

Other winners for Winkelmann's were Joe Danna, who took two from Tom Taylor, and Carl Lindquist, who won a single point as he split with Bob Carncross. Sole two point winner for Kruse's Tavern was Clyde Peterson, who won his match from Walt Lyman. The Servicemen received their final point for low aggregate team net.

IN OTHER team contests, Mr. "G" Room moved up a notch in the standings as it defeated Wille Lumber and Fuel 7½-2½, Annen and Busse knocked off Kersting's Garden Center 8-2, and Thunderbird Bowl took Illinois Range 6½-3½.

Finally, it was back to the cellar for Licht's Paint Store as it faltered after its spurt the previous two weeks and fell to George L. Busse and Co.

Low shooters for the session, in addition to Scherer's 33, were Len Johnson and Walt Double, who turned in identical 38s.

Birdies were reported by Sherer Nos. 1, 7 and 9, Banka, Double and Skibbe No. 11, Gieseke No. 13, and Krause No. 15.

'Have Nots' Exhibit Strength in League

Hoffman Estates Men's Golf League standings tightened up considerably last week as the "have nots" rose up to smite the mighty!

Harvey Goetsch's Roselle State Bank five made a spectacular leap from the cellar to seventh place by virtue of an equally spectacular 17-1 cleaning of Jupiter Cleaners. Only Jim Gannon's boss, Dave Powers, saved the cleaners from a shutout by halving his match play points with Goetsch.

Harve won the medal and two points, while Scooties Glessner, Jim Brewner, Dick Krey and Jim Lemar contributed three point sweeps. The tellers earned their second team low net in a row with a sparkling 173, and Scooties grabbed a share of individual low net at 32.

SNYDER'S HOFFMAN Drug was cheered on by the rest of the league as they handed Hoffman Estates Liquors their first 1964 setback 13½-4½. Capt. Joe McGibbon and Jim McNally each chipped in three pointers, Jack Reedy 2½, Don Kolp and Herb Keesee a point apiece.

McNally wants it explained to Ashland Street dwellers that he really doesn't hate them. They figured it was an accident when his tee shot on 4 settled among them like a stray bomb or a gift from the birds. But when his next shot landed only some six inches away they scurried for the bomb shelters they better build for these guided missiles. He promises not to do it again. We fear that might be somewhat of a Russian promise, though.

The rest of the week's matches were all close. Three of them closed out in identical 10-8 scores. It was Hoffman Estates Standard over Plaza Shell, Monroe Auto Equipment over Frank's Beauty Salon, and Schaumrose Inn over Kiczula Insurance. In the other fray Roselle Color Center snared a 10½-7½ win from Rainbow Inn. Captain Rog Leland of Rainbow however, won the other half of the weekly low net honor while sweeping three points and an equal number of bucks from Bob Powell.

IN THE 10-8 frays Art Murphy and Glenn Hoffman collected three each and Tony Manfrin two for Frank's Beauties while Chuck Verba and Dave Basch won three for Monroe and Art Thorpe chipped in one. The Monroes grabbed the extra three.

Dick Thompson blanked Angie Patel and Tony Montikas picked up three to lead the Schaumrosers to their win over Kiczula Insurance. They also added the bonus points for low net. Earl Conrad's 39 was low gross for the week and earned three for Kiczula, and Sponsor Paul bagged three, too. Scott MacEachron chipped in two to keep it a close one.

In the Plaza Shell - Hoffman Standard affair only Jim Smith and Chuck Davey could master sweeps, Jim for Shell and Chuck for Standard. Harry Grover and Carl Schenk each earned a pair for the Jenkins crew, while Ray Larson notched two for his followers.

The standings:

Hoffman Estates Liquors	56½
Hoffman Standard Serv.	53½
Kiczula Insurance	48
Schaumrose Inn	48

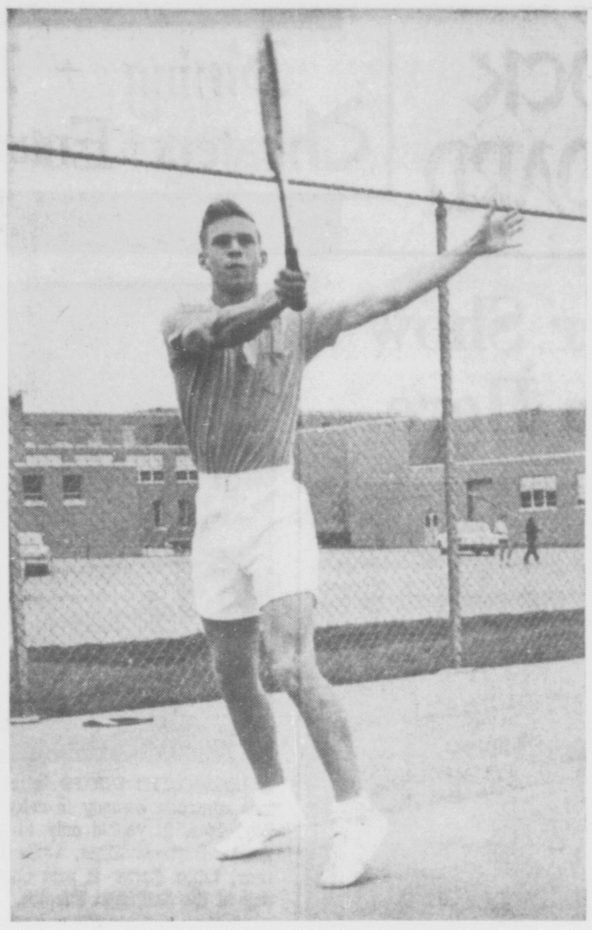
Surprising!

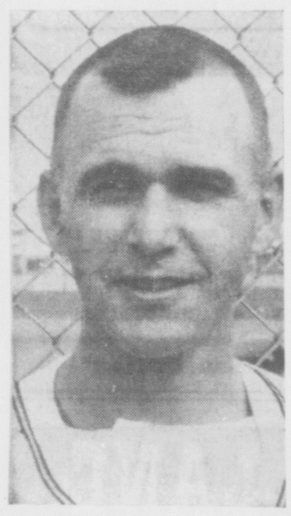
What team has given Juan Marichal the most trouble in the past two years? The San Francisco Giants' ace right-hander has given the contenders fits but has been rocked by Houston for a 4.41 earned run average.



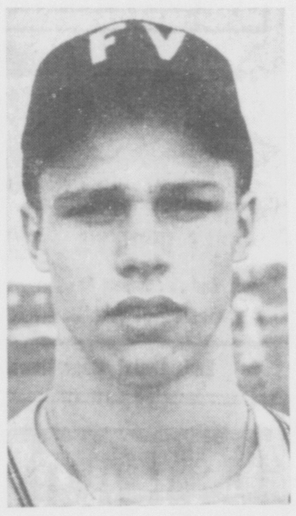
JOHN LIGHTNER recorded the most impressive record among varsity tennis players at St. Viator High School for the 1964 season. Lightner showed a 20-6 record in actual sets and 10-2 standard in matches. He was one of the big reasons the Lions of coach Paul Anderson emerged with eight victories in 12 meets.

Lundgren Gets All Wins

Falcon Coach Calls Season 'Frustrating'



HAL SPREHE



RALPH KASPARI

TOM LUNDGREN

by HOWARD HARMENING

"It was a frustrating season. When you beat the good teams, it's awfully difficult to figure out why you lose to poor teams, but I guess this is high school ball."

Speaking was coach Sprehe of Forest View as his Falcons finished the season with a 7-13 season mark, a district championship in their pockets and a fifth-place in the six-team Mid-Suburban Conference.

Posting a 3-7 loop record, the Falcons beat top finishers like Glenbrook North, Prospect and Maine West in the league, but then dropped in games like Deerfield and Glenbrook South to perplex Sprehe.

ADDING TO the mystery were wins over tough Niles West towards the beginning of the season and a 1-0 shutout against Arlington for the district title.

"We were just thin," explained Sprehe. "Thin on pitching, defense, hitting, everything. We had to play up to potential to win."

All was not gloom, however, as the two-year-old school "showed definite improvement over last year," added Sprehe "after a first year record of 4-14."

BIGGEST strength of the team came from a junior southpaw, Tom Lundgren, who took credit for all seven of Forest View's wins this season.

Lundgren, who suffered four losses in going 69-and-two thirds innings, fanned 119 batters and walked 21 for the season while scattering 37 hits. Topping the Falcon moundstaff, he also had an earned run average of only 1.94.

"When Tom was pitching a good game," added Sprehe, "he made up for the mediocrity in other phases."

ALONGWITH Lundgren's other accomplishments this year was a 2-0 no-hitter against Maine West in which he fanned 14 to turn back the Warriors.

Hitting also generally showed signs of improvement over last year, with the team overall average of .208 ahead of last season's .193.

George Peknik hit .333 in 12 appearances, but Ralph Kaspari was the official club leader with .327 in 52 at bats. Joe Mueller ran a close second with .326 in 46 appearances.

(Last season, Kaspari was also the official leader, but with .286 in 56 tries.)

SOPHOMORES Rick Henderson and Rudy Perez also turned in good performances after getting late starts with the varsity. Henderson hit .290 in 31 at bats, while Perez had .250 for 24.

"Bunting was a real weakness this year," admitted Sprehe. "There weren't any games that we lost as a direct result of this weakness, but it was a contributing factor in all of our defeats."

St. George Coach Joins Lions' Staff

Len Sparacino, head baseball and football coach at St. George High School in Evanston, has accepted a teaching-coaching position at St. Viator in Arlington Heights.

Sparacino will be head baseball coach at St. Viator and will assist in football.

He replaces Frank Mariani who resigned to direct the baseball and football programs at Holy Cross. The new Lion coach will continue to teach math.

Sparacino, an Evanston resident, plans to move to Palatine with his wife and five children.

Easy for Cubs

George Altman, traded to the St. Louis Cardinals from the Chicago Cubs in the winter of 1962, didn't come back to haunt his old teammates in the 1963 season. Altman, now with the New York Mets, hit only .171 against Chicago last summer with one homer and four runs-batted-in.

Prospect Next

Next week, Prospect's baseball season will be summarized and reviewed. The Knights finished in a tie for third place in the Mid Suburban Conference with a 5-4-1 record.

The Falcons also encountered difficulties early in the year in the pitching department when Rich Anderson couldn't start because of a basketball injury.

ALTHOUGH Anderson finally saw some action, his knee bothered him enough to give him an ERA of 18.9 in three-and-a-third innings, and he finally was left out of the lineup when he was reinjured.

Anderson, who set a school mark last year with 16 strikeouts, had a 3.46 ERA in 1963 with two wins in six outings.

"I definitely feel our pitching will be stronger next season," Sprehe concluded. "Lundgren will continue to come around, and I think we can count on help from Steve Jacobsen and Henderson. If Perez can come through as a catcher, I think we'll be strong up the middle."

Cardinals 2nd Again In Loop; Post Split In R-B Doubleheader

The bridesmaid role, although certainly nothing to be ashamed about, can be pretty frustrating when it occurs with regularity.

Just ask Bob Baker, head man of Arlington High School's varsity baseball team.

In three of the past five seasons Arlington has finished in the runnerup slot of the Wes Suburban Conference.

In 1960 the Cardinals posted an impressive 11-3 mark but still finished one game behind Maine. In 1963 an 8-5-1 standard again was good for second place. It was 9-5 in '64 and another second.

Varsity baseball has given Arlington High some memorable moments in recent years with Cardinal units showing nine first division finishes in 14 years of league play. Arlington has 98 victories in that period.

Baker's outfit needed a sweep in the concluding doubleheader with Riverside - Brookfield to emerge with undisputed possession of second place in the WSC. They had to settle for a split and tie with Downers Grove.

ALL - CONFERENCE Paul Splittorff toiled in the opener, and the Cards gave their talented left - hander a run in the eighth inning for a 3-2 decision.

Jerry Fink led off the eighth with a single to right - center, and Rich Hoppe doubled him home.

Arlington opened its scoring with two runs in the fifth inning. Howie Winkelhake singled to right field and advanced to third on a bobble by the outfielder. All - conference Mike Frase then drove a home run to center for two markers.

RIVERSIDE reached Splittorff for two runs in the first, but Paul hurled scoreless baseball over the next seven innings. Paul ran into some difficulty in the third, fourth. and fifth frames but managed to escape without any damage.

Splittorff fanned eight over the eight segments and nailed the side on 12 pitches in the sixth.

Mike Frase and brother Mark both had two hits for the winners.

The Cards couldn't unleash any offensive thrust in the second game and bowed 3-0, collecting only three safeties.

Splittorff led off the second with a single but was cut down on a fielder's choice. Fink singled with two outs in the sixth but failed to score, and Mark Frase doubled in the seventh.

THE CARDS' seventh inning uprising—two men on and one out—was checked when R-B's talented Chuck Mestek arrived on the scene in a relief role and fanned Tom Gack and Winkelhake on six pitches.

BOB BAKER

Riverside tagged Cardinal starter Dave Christensen with six hits and three runs in the first two innings, but the fastballing right hander settled down after that and pitched hitless ball for four stanzas.

Kirchhoff Shows Life at Rob Roy

Kirchhoff Insurance of the Rob Roy Tuesday league suddenly came to life with a vengeance and climbed out of the cellar position by swamping Wegner Manufacturing and Sales 7 to 0. Bob Cook, playing in the No. 2 slot, was the stellar performer in this lopsided victory by shooting a par round of 35 on the front nine and with his 5 handicap gave his a sizzling low net of 30.

Another upset of the evening involved the 6 to 1 victory by Webber Paint over a strong Golf Rand Golf Center squad. Ted Erickson was the strong man who engineered this big win by scoring a 36-6-30 to tie Bob Cook for league low net and give his team two vital points.

Second place C. P. Floor and Wall Coverings tangled with first place Rankin Radio in titanic battle and came out on the long end of a 5 to 2 score to take over undisputed possession of the top league spot with 26½ points. Clare Peterson led his team with a sharp round of 37-3-34, good for two of the five points scored.

GUNNELL'S Restaurant remained within striking distance of the leaders by clipping the Prospect Heights Barber Shop boys 5½ to 1½. Ernie Smith in the No. 2 spot starred in this victory with his best round of this young season 37-5-32 for low net and two points. The Gunnell foursome is now only 2½ points back of the leaders and closing the gap at a fast pace.

Bill Behrens led the Rodewald Dairy team to a decisive 5 to 2 thumping of L'Nor Cleaners. Bill ended up with a 39-5-34 on the front nine.

Falcons Blank GN 1-0

Forest View blanked Glenbrook North 1-0 Thursday to take its third win in 10 Mid Suburban Conference outings to end the season.

A rescheduled game, the Falcons won the contest in the third inning when Bob Speer walked with bases loaded to force across Gary Maxwell with the lone tally.

The win put the Falcons into fifth place in the six-team league.

Tom Lundgren, junior southpaw, went the distance to scatter five hits, strike out 10 and walk none as he collected his seventh win of the season.

Joe Mueller doubled in the second inning for the only Falcon extra base hit.

Losing pitcher Cliff Fowler walked Maxwell, who went to second on Ken Peters' single. Walking Rick Henderson, Fowler had two out when he gave up the free trip to first to Speer in the third inning.

Guild Meet To Feature New Medium

The Des Plaines Art Guild will present Don Browne at its June meeting Monday in the West Park Fieldhouse on Wolf Road at Greenview, Des Plaines.

Browne is the inventor of Resilene, a thick, translucent fiber-glass art medium whose versatility is unique as it can be applied to an endless number of surfaces for both interior and exterior renderings.

ACCORDING TO Browne, it is the first are medium to ever be patented in the United States.

Three paintings done in this medium by Don Browne & Associates' art director, Robert Saporito, now hang in the visitors wing of the White House. One of the three is a life-size portrait of President Kennedy.

Browne will demonstrate this interesting and imaginative medium after the short business meeting. Refreshments will be served and all interested persons are invited. (Bill

DP Guild Makes Play A 'Believable' Scene

by JOAN REDDY
Drama Critic

After their experiment with the heady brew of Eugene O'Neil, Des Plaines Theatre Guild has gone back to little theatre stock formula with its recent production of "Everybody Loves Opal." And the comedy formula is still potent for a good evening's entertainment.

"Everybody Loves Opal" puts its unbelievable characters through an unbelievable plot in its farcial romp to prove that brotherly love conquers all.

Playwright John Patrick would have you believe that three unsavory characters take refuge in the garbage dump home of a lady junk collector with only mayhem on their minds. And then through the good heartedness of their intended victim and the frustration caused by her indestructability, they are transformed.

THE AMAZING thing is that as director Art Thorsen puts his cast through its paces, the audience not only laughs, but gradually comes to believe the unbelievable.

With most of the weight of the play placed squarely upon her shoulders, Louise Yonover, as the crude, loving, ugly, and beautiful Opal, is the real star of the evening. When Opal makes her first appearance, she's funny, but also impossibly garrulous, loud, and slovenly.

It doesn't take Miss Yonover long, however, to win the audience over to Opal's better qualities. And by the third act, when the sentiment is turned on, the audience finds itself really caring.

IT IS IN this third act that Miss Yonover really shines. She slides from burlesque to melodrama and back again so skillfully that not a moment of the performance is lost in the transition.

Good, but somewhat less successful in their roles of the seedy crooks, are Judy Herbst, Don Baylor and Bill Bucher.

Miss Herbst gets a bit lost in her Brooklyn accent and her "dumb blonde" voice pattern. They are emphasized at times at the expense of the performance.

Baylor, as the cynical intellectual, has the timing and dry delivery for his pithy sarcasm, but, perhaps because of the relative normalcy of his role, he lacks the comedy style of the other players.

IN THE ROLE of the last crook, "the Neanderthal Machiavelli," Bill Bucher gives a solid performance, but there are times when the creditability of his denseness wears a bit thin.

That old Guild mainstay, Ed Sauer is cast in the cameo role of the doctor. The scene of Opal's medical examination is a gem as the two polished performers give it all they have.

In the minor role of the policeman, Paul Cary is properly stalwart.

Set design by Bill Levander and the entire construction crew deserve particular accolades for meeting the play's demands for falling ceilings, trap doors, and an obvious leviathon of work. The end result is a lovely tinderbox of a house that looks like the first strategic objective in the War on Poverty.

WE MIGHT wish for a few more costumes. What the characters wear is appropriate, but even poor people change their clothes over the period of several months.

But this is a minor point. Clothes do not make the man nor do they make or break a play whose lively peace gives an enjoyable evening of theater.

'Cleopatra' Staying at Golf Mill

The most talked about movie of all time, "Cleopatra," goes into its second week this Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre in an exclusive northwest suburban showing.

The Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, Rex Harrison starrer, is the first attempts to combine both the Caesar and Antony stories into one dramatic entity. In their approach to the complex story, the writers included many factual incidents never before used dramatically.

APPROXIMATELY 26,000 costumes were created for the movie. This does not include the 58 costumes designed exclusively for Miss Taylor, among them a $6,500 gown made of pure gold. Three hundred wigs were created for actors in various roles, in addition to the 30 Miss Taylor wears.

The film is shown at the Golf Mill at three performances on Friday, Saturday and Sunday with two performances daily thru Thursday. (Bill

SUBURBAN PRESS FOUNDATION — ADVANCING FAMILY & COMMUNITY LIFE

THURS., JUNE 4, 1964

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell the Truth, and Make Money": H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

The Way We See It

Economic Growth Gets Top Billing

The question of the economic growth of Illinois promises to be a major issue in this year's campaign for governor.

Suburban communities can be expected to follow the debate with close attention for they have all the reasons that other municipalities have for being interested, plus a special one or two.

Obviously, an expanding economy is needed if businesses are to grow and jobs provided for all young graduates, wherever they may be.

Suburban residents also look to more business and industry as a source of help for the hardpressed homeowner, whose taxes have been rising steadily to support needed community services, chiefly the schools.

Most suburban municipalities have set aside a special tract within their boundaries, properly zoned as a haven for industry. There is still plenty of room for all of them.

Some of the most sensible comments on the problem of economic growth were made recently by State Sen. Arthur R. Gottschalk, Republican from Park Forest, in a talk to the Electric Association.

Sen. Gottschalk stressed a point that has been neglected. He said that the question of economic development must be viewed first from a regional rather than a narrow community or even a state viewpoint. Such an approach has been lacking.

"The truth appears to be that the Great Lakes legislators are busily opposing the efforts of one another," he declared.

"Similarly, the state directors of the departments of commerce in the midwest have been busy raiding one another and keeping secrets from one another in cloak and dagger development programs," he continued.

Without a regional approach, half a dozen midwest states may all send out their super-salesmen in a war with each other for industry and all may come back with scalps hanging from their belts. Such a process of swapping industries would accomplish nothing. The regional approach promises lasting benefits.

Another important point made by Gottschalk was that Illinois and the midwest generally simply have not been trying as hard as the rest of the country. The proof is in convincing form: the amount of money spent in the effort.

Illinois ranks 47th among the states in its appropriation for its Board of Economic Development on a per capita basis.

Illinois spends only 2-2 cents per capita per year compared with 15.4 cents for Massachusetts, 14.1 cents by Pennsylvania and 11.4 cents by Iowa.

The midwest average of 6.9 cents compares with a national average of 18.2 cents per person per year.

Illinois and the midwest have many advantages of geography, transportation, water and other resources but a selling effort is also required. The figures show that this effort has been half-hearted by comparison with other states.

The gap is all the less excusable because money spent for economic development can be expected to come back perhaps several times over in dollars-and-cents benefits to the state. The next legislature should put the questions raised by Sen. Gottschalk at the top of its agenda.

New Hope for Illinois

There was lots of demonstrative mourning last winter after a special commission failed to agree on New House of Representatives districts for the state, making an at-large election inevitable.

"Tragic!" some cried. "A breakdown of democratic government," sobbed others.

We felt then, and said so, that these cries of alarm were overdone and perhaps missed the mark entirely.

Events of the past few months seem to justify our estimate even more.

One of the first developments was the launching of a bi-partisan movement for a "third slate" which would draw votes from both Republicans and Democrats (after they had voted for their own party candidates) and which, therefore, would have a very good chance of putting a sizeable bloc of "blue ribbon" candidates in the next House.

This movement chilled the spines of many old House regulars, who had gotten themselves elected as delegates to the two party nominating conventions and were prepared to slate themselves for another term in Springfield.

The potency of the "third slate" pressure was demonstrated Tuesday when the Republican nominating convention, by a big margin, cut from the slate six of the House "Old Guard," on grounds of several varieties of unfitness, and slated 22 "blue ribbon" candidates pledged not to seek re-election, plus many other new faces from Republican ranks.

Among these new faces are Eugene Schlickman, who served five years on the Arlington Heights board of trustees, and Edward Bundy of Itasca, one of several candidates for the GOP nomination for Congressman from the 14th District in last April's primary. Schlickman's record as trustee and Bundy's performance as candidate indicate that they could help rejuvenate the legislative branch of state government. Eugene Devitt, Hanover Township committeeman, is another promising new face on the ticket.

The next step is up to the Democratic Party. It recessed its nominating convention for a week or so. During that time, a 21-member executive committee will receive nominations for spots on the Democratic slate. Since only about 70 Democratic incumbents are seeking re-election and 118 will be nominated, there is ample room for the Democrats to compete with the Republicans in slating "blue ribbon" candidates.

The pressure on the Democrats to do this will be strong, because the new names, the "blue ribbon" names, will be the big selling point with the large and growing segment of indepentent voters who now decide statewide elections in Illinois.

When everything is added up, it looks as if the at-large election this year is going to be more of a blessing than a curse.

The state legislature has been falling farther behind the times. Its accomplishments have been meager by comparison with the compelling needs of the day. It has been dominated by the least able among its members.

The at-large election is acting like a strong wind, shaking this old tree and knocking down some of the bad apples and the dead wood.

Some Guys Have All the Luck!

Epic Quality to Horsey Duel

Picking Winners

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Unknown to many persons, a duel of epic quality is being waged right in our own backyard.

I became aware of it only a few days ago. Already first blood has been drawn. But victory is not in sight yet for either of the antagonists. I predict this knock-down, drag-out, no-holds- barred battle will go on right through the summer and into September.

CUMMINS

I refer to the struggle between Madame Queen and Prince Yogi to see who can pick the most winners at Arlington Park for readers of the Daily News.

AT FIRST glance, I thought Madame Queen and Prince Yogi were just two more handicappers. But after reading their copy for a couple of days, I detected something that had escaped me at first. These two must be mortal enemies for they never agree. Never.

If Madame Queen says Oskie will win, Prince Yogi calls it for Caravan. If the Prince thinks Swoonaway is the fastest horse, Madame Queen contradicts him with Big Felly. And so it goes, race after race, day after day. This feud is real.

The very day I started checking the two, Prince Yogi scored in the opening race with a terrific winner, Red Vines, who kicked dirt in the face of Madame Queen's horse and paid $15.20. Don't think Madame Queen took that lying down. Don't ever think that. She put such a hex on the Prince's pick in the second race, named Sun Eternal, that when the bell rang and the gate went up, Sun Eternal didn't run at all. He just stood there. And I'll bet you Madame Queen had a good laugh at that one, while Prince Yogi looked pretty sick to the crowd at Arlington Park. That's the way they are constantly fighting each other.

ACTUALLY, a good deal of mystery shrouds both Madame Queen and Prince Yogi. I went to a Newspaper Guild picnic once and don't remember seeing either of them there. However, persons at that picnic were the type who possess limited powers of picking winners of horse races. You have to give credit to an editor who can get someone else to pick the horses.

From her name, I suppose Madame Queen is possessed of powers not given to ordinary mortals. I doubt that she dresses in the high style that distinguishes the other girl reporters at the Daily News. She probably wears a long dress of several vivid colors. I imagine her office is equipped with a crystal ball and reeks of different potions. In this exotic cubicle set amidst the hurly burly of the city room, she weaves spells for the edification of her readers and the frustration of her great rival.

Prince Yogi, too, must appear a bit out of place among his journalistic confreres. I see him wearing a turban and with his legs bound in white puttees. A pair of piercing eyes set deep in his swarthy countenance, are forever peering into the future, seeking to detect therein the fallacies of Madame Queen and the name of the swiftest horse.

HOW DIFFERENT it is from our own sports department here at Paddock Publications which is staffed only by clean-cut young men with crew cuts who know nothing about horses.

Madame Queen vs. Prince Yogi! One of them calling upon occult powers to pick the winners and confound her hated rival. The other applying the wisdom of the ancient East to the task of "picking the card." Hold on to your hats for this is going to be quite a summer!

Meet Dave Baylor

Youth, Vigor in Campaigner

By BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

In his recent newspaper photographs, David C. Baylor comes off looking a lot like the late President John F. Kennedy.

A facial resemblance is not all these two young men would have in common.

They'd also share abiding interest in the Democratic Party, in the art of seeking public office, in the importance of physical fitness, and in the demand for human rights.

Baylor, a 29-year-old lawyer, is the Democratic Party's candidate for the 4th District Illinois Senate seat now occupied by another lawyer, Republican W. Russell Arrington of Evanston. (The 4th District consists of the townships of Wheeling, Northfield, Niles, New Trier and Evanston).

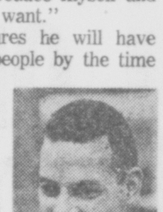
THE BIG (he's 6'4" tall and weighs 225) candidate is well aware of his disadvantage as a Democrat. Arrington, a long-time GOP standardbearer, defeated Roman Domas of Wheeling in 1960 by a vote of 108,000 to 56,000.

But, in the optimistic Kennedy tradition, Baylor is campaigning with vigor.

"I'm running an aggressive, personal contact campaign in the district almost daily," the Morton Grove resident explained.

"FRANKLY, I was prepared for a rather hostile reception in some of the district's Republican strongholds. But I've been amazed at the public's friendly attitude. They stop long enough to let me introduce myself and that's what I want."

Baylor figures he will have met 150,000 people by the time his seven-month campaign ends at November's general election.



LADD

In "going to the people," he says, he's following the successful patterns set down by U. S. Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin and the late Sen. Estes Kefauver of Kentucky, both of whom won in basic Republican territory.

Baylor, a personable fellow who's postponed the thought of marriage until he's 35 or so, was a two - sport man at Niles Township High School. He played freshman basketball at Butler University in Indianapolis, where he studied labor relations, economics and education.

Today he is an avid outdoorsman, especially enjoying mountain climbing and "roughing it" in north Minnesota and Canada wilds. He's been known to play a game of touch football, too.

WHAT ARE the main issues in the campaign? Baylor cites three.

"There's a tremendous need for a constitutional convention in Illinois," he said.

Four Changes Are Announced In Paddock Editorial Staff

Four editorial staff changes for Paddock Publications, Inc. were announced last week by Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of the 15 suburban newspapers. They are:

—Joan Lorenson, to news editor of Elk Grove Herald;

—Dan Pribilski, to news editor of Palatine Enterprise;

—Dan Baumann, to news editor of Roselle Register; and

LORENSON — PRIBILSKI — BAUMANN — GRIEGER

A graduate in journalism from Northwestern University, Miss Lorenson was an editorial assistant for Pure Oil Co. News prior to joining Paddock Publications staff in March 1962 as news editor of the Roselle Register. Since February 1963 she has been news editor of the Palatine Enterprise. Miss Lorenson is a resident of Mount Prospect.

Dan Pribilski joined Paddock Publications as news editor of the Hoffman Herald after graduation from Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University. He was inducted into military service in May 1962 and served as associate editor of the Military Police Journal at Fort Gordon, Ga. Released from active duty last month, he lives in Chicago.

Named as news editor of the Roselle Register, which serves all Bloomingdale Township in DuPage County, is Daniel Baumann. He holds both a bachelor's degree in journalism and a master's degree in political science from the University of Wisconsin. His professional experience includes news editor of the South Milwaukee (Wis.) Voice Journal, courthouse reporter for the East St. Louis (Ill.) Daily Journal, and public relations representative for the Credit Union National Association in Washington, D.C. A member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, he holds a certificate in the University of Wisconsin's Russian Area Studies program. He and his wife and 2-year-old son live in Arlington Heights.

Tom Grieger, who joined Paddock Publications in November, 1963, as a staff photographer, has been named assistant photo editor. A journalism graduate of Indiana University, his professional experience includes a year as staff member of the Norfolk (Va.) Daily Virginian - Pilot, six years as photographer and reporter for the Peru (Ind.) Daily Tribune, and four years as photographer for the Michigan City (Ind.) Daily News Dispatch. A veteran of the army, Grieger lives in Mount Prospect with his wife and two sons, age 2 and 5.

Lists Several Reasons for Supporting Junior Colleges

I don't know the reasons behind the opposition to the proposal for a junior college in this area, but if they are financial, those concerned should compare the tax cost and low tuition fees of such a school to the fees for room and board plus tuition required by a state university or private college.

We have used a township junior college and have found it economical, an answer for a "slow bloomer," and an opportunity for a student in a four year college to maintain a good grade average.

The advantages of a local junior college are numerous and I would like to list some of them as I know them:

1. Students who mature late and don't have a vocational plan until their last year of high school and use the junior college to assure their acceptance in a four year college.

2. The fees are low which would make it possible for many students, who might not be able to afford the costs of other schooling, to have some college education.

3. The local junior college also offers summer courses which can be used by students attending other schools, to ease their load during the regular school and help them maintain a good average to aid them when they are ready to move into their future careers.

4. The junior college offers local technical and vocational day and night courses for adults who wish to progress in their chosen fields but are not interested in academic degrees.

The president of the University of Illinois recently stated that 2,800 applicants will be turned away from the university next year. What will become of those who won't be accepted? Will yours be one of those not accepted in the future, or will there be local facilities to help prepare him for the career he wants and needs?

Roselle Reader Reports Acts Of Vandalism

Read with interest the version of Mrs. Eldon R. Snyder, 2309 St. James St., Rolling Meadows, regarding the idea of two residents apparently putting the welfare of their bushes and property rights above everything else.

I myself have suffered severe jroperty losses in my 5¼-acre tract at Roselle, Ill. Valuable pipe wrenches have been taken out of my garage. Windows in buildings deliberately broken. Standing corn trampled down. Farm machinery dismantled and parts stolen.

Implement dealers complain in like manner, so no wonder they have to charge a high price for what they sell. Building under course of construction has been set on fire.

In one suburban area south of Elgin, three shetland ponies were brutally killed by vandals.

Let everyone put an unclimbable fence with gates to be locked around their properties to prevent their lovable, innocent children to come in contact with the reckless vandals. As a special safeguard they should really accompany their children when they walk in the streets for their protection and safety.

This is a belated thank you for your wonderful cooperation in helping us with the student press conference on "Adolescence and Mental Illness," in celebration of National Hospital Week. Student Conduct After the Prom Was Exemplary

To the parents of students of Forest View High School who attended the trip after the prom:

The committee of the After the Dance Party wishes to express how proud we are of the young men and ladies who attended the After the Dance train trip May 16, 1964.

They were all perfect gentlemen and ladies and we commend the entire staff and faculty who are doing so much to encourage our young people to be responsible citizens.

It was a pleasure to be with them and you should be as proud as we are, as their behavior certainly reflects the high standards of Forest View High School.

It is the sincere desire of the committee that you convey this message to all the students who attended the party.

Says Apology And Rehiring Owed Teachers

Why? When these teachers were picked up in the raid on the Fun Lounge on Mannheim Road was it given a prominent place in your paper along with the account of their dismissals or resignations, but when the case came up in court and they were acquitted because they had not one bit of evidence to substantiate the charges placed against them, not one sentence was written in your paper?

That they were in that place cannot be used as proof wrong doing. I know many people, including my husband and myself, who have been in that place, and are neither sex deviates or dope addicts.

Why not get behind these men now and try in some measure to build up their characters which were so badly defamed, and help relieve the anguish an innocent man feels when he is unjustly accused of wrongdoing?

It took much time and money to become teachers in the first place. With good teachers needed so badly these days, how can we afford to dismiss capable teachers so quickly?

One was my young daughter's teacher and she loved him. A better teacher of young children cannot be found. He loved his work.

I feel all these teachers should be offered their jobs back with an apology. However, I wouldn't blame them for refusing after having had so little faith placed in them by their superiors.

Give them a chance. They will prove our faith was justified, I'm sure.

A Roselle Resident

'Don't Put Aldermen On a Pedestal'

Civic-minded citizens of Rolling Meadows should attend meetings held by the City Council. These sessions are for the benefit of all and should attract more participation by members of this community.

How uninformed can one be? An indignant parent has injected the name of God, but by the same token, has denied the power of a Supreme Being. Since when has God voted men into public office? Men come and go; even so-called dedicated men fade away.

Meetings have been held and consent had been given to eliminate the hazard; but many obstacles had to be overcome in order to arrive at a feasible plan without causing injury to anyone.

Property rights was not the issue. Defacing and destroying property with no benefit to anyone was the main issue. It seems the City was not planned for expansion. Sidewalks were installed and this created a dangerous condition. The sidewalk was removed and replaced with a new walk which is not used by parents or children. Invariably one can see the parade of children with or without parents walking in the streets, not on the sidewalk.

It appears that some parents are concerned only for their own brood. Show the same concern for another's and then you will convince me and many others that you are sincere.

Home owner? This term is used too often, but what does it mean? One never owns a home. As long as an individual maintains a residence he must make payment on a mortgage, pay taxes, repair and pay for all services; then, and only then can one retain a home.

Let us return to the City Council. These men have been injected into politics by request. Possibly all are interested in the welfare of the City. But let us not put them on a pedestal where they can reign without criticism. What this City needs is men with insight and maturity to help this City to face the problems of the future.

The Fence Post — Letters to the Editor

Asks Stop Signs Be Restored On Park Street

I too am more than a little concerned about the removal of the stop signs from Park Street.

Mrs. Sheahen's letter of the 28th of May says it very well. Not only did they make Park wider but now no stop signs, and believe me, anything goes.

The city engineer sort of laughed when I called and complained saying that I hoped no one was killed before someone realized that this was a mistake.

This is nothing to joke about. The life of a child does not come easy but can be snuffed out in a second. Please give us the stop signs back and help protect our children.

Campaigner Has Youth and Vigor

"I can find nothing my opponent has done to work toward replacement of our outmoded 1870 state Constitution.

"Then there's reform of our state's archaic Revenue Article. I favor giving the Legislature full authority to levy taxes it considers necessary. This includes consideration of taxes on corporate and individual incomes.

"FINALLY, there's the vast area of 'equal opportunity.' I'm in favor of open occu- This encompasses housing, job opportunities, and education. pancy, I don't believe our Fair Employment Practices Commission has had a chance to work yet, and I'm a strong advocate of greater emphasis on education — even if it's adult education for Sen. Arrington."

Baylor believes 1964 will be the Democrats' year at the polls, and he feels President Johnson's popularity will have a real influence on the vote in Illinois.

The holder of an L.L.B. degree from De Paul University's law school, Baylor is a partner in the Chicago law firm of Barliant, Grunewald and Baylor.

MY PARTNERS are most indulgent of me," he admitted. "While I'm campaigning, they keep the office operating. This flexibility in working schedule is important to a candidate. It's a 'must' for me."

What happens if he loses the fall election?

"That's no problem," the young politician claims. "I don't plan to lose, and if I do, it will still have been a good investment. I'm young. Now's the time to build and learn."

And Dave Baylor thinks he can build and learn right into the statehouse at Springfield.

Tempo Tapping Time

AT PADDOCK'S

Keeping in step with the ever-changing suburbs is always a challenge to the editorial men at Paddock Publications. That little ol' home town a few short years ago has quintupled in size — and problems.

Gone is the "laissez faire" life when Spike, Kruse's dog, used to sleep in the middle of the corner by Schmidt's market. We always enjoyed the "chivarees" given newly-weds, but those have been gone so long we hardly know how to spell them (charivari).

Tempo of life has picked up. Thriving suburban communities now must determine how high is high-rise; how to pay for needed schools; whether to extend the park system; and what to do about receding water supplies.

Paddock Publications has seen its own problems covering the news of double dozens of new taxing bodies expand, and expand . . . and expand again.

Almost 100 persons now have a part in collecting, covering and communicating the news to 197,000 people now living within the area served by Paddock Publications. (That number will grow to 390,000 within six years, by the way.)

The big question: Do you believe Paddock Publications' coverage of various facets of suburban life is . . .

Builder Says Suburbs Breed Individuality, Not Conformity

Is it true that in suburbia the people are all the same?

"Not a bit; in fact, they're apt to be more individualistic than people in the city," says Morton Silfen, sales vice president of F & S Construction Co., Inc., Chicago area home builder.

Charges that suburban living breeds conformity and stifles self-expression are stereotypes that bear little resemblance to reality, Silfen states. He bases his analysis on a recent study of the people who live in the Hoffman Estates and Butterfield communities which F & S has built.

"The people who live in these communities have widely different backgrounds, including occupations, economic levels, cultural interests, religions and ethnic associations," Silfen said. "It is unlikely that these differences can disappear entirely in a suburban environment."

HE ADDED THAT suburban living is more likely to expose a person to a variety of added influences than living in the city will. In the suburbs, a family's interests and activities may extend over the entire community, while in the ctiy, the family generally confines its activities to an area of a few blocks.

A close look at suburban families reveals more differences than surface similarities. On top of their different backgrounds, the families vary in size; the husbands work in a cross-section of occupations and in a variety of locations around Chicago; the families belong to different groups, and their children vary in interests from Little League baseball to the serious study of music and painting.

"In talking to people who buy in the suburbs, we find that many want to escape the rigidly stratified life of the city, where families on a single block all tend to be the same," he said.

"Suburbia in truth has become a melting pot, where many different viewpoints and backgrounds are blended to produce a more well-rounded person than the typical city dweller is."

SILFEN SAID that the stereotype of the suburban dweller probably emerged in the days following World War II, when mass-produced suburban communities tended to look alike.

"Critics mistakenly assumed that because the houses looked alike, the people in them must be alike," he said. "Pretty soon they added to the stereotype by picturing the suburban family in terms of a lamp in the picture window, catching the 8:01 and the 5:15 and PTA meetings.

"These same critics forget the stereotype of the city dweller as the icy stranger who doesn't know the family in the next apartment, brings home meals from the delicatessen and is squeezed like a sardine in subways and busses.

"Remember most of the people who now live in the suburbs once lived in the city and have rejected its ways, including the row on row of look-alike apartments," he said.

THE F & S executive noted that suburban living is more natural than city living.

"Growing numbers of people who buy in the suburbs say they do so because the way of life appeals to them, and they feel it's better for their children," said Silfen. "The city crowds them, presses in on them and makes them feel anonymous and helpless. In the suburbs, they can be themselves."

"In the long run, the true worth of suburban living will be seen in what happens to the children who now live in suburbia," he said. "There is every indication these children will grow up to be more secure, more individualistic and happier than their urban-bred parents have been." (14BB

Advises Homeowners on Use of Power Equipment

The homeowner who seeks the easy road to having a good looking lawn this year never had it so good, but he also faces a growing danger from a safety standpoint, warns a noted midwest agonomist.

The situation stems from the record number of power-driven lawn and garden machines now offered to help a homeowner in his work around his yard.

Mowers, rakers, cultivators, diggers, sweepers and rollers can be found, equipped with gas engines, doing the landscaping chores of old-fashioned hand-powered methods.

"The danger arises when homeowners are lulled into a false sense of security by such devices as push button starters, improved mufflers, complex attachments and other innovations in new models of power lawn equipment," said Dr. S. M. King of International Minerals & Chemical Corp., Skokie.

"While manufacturers attempt to make such machines as safe as possible, the final responsibility rests with the operator to avoid hazards which may result in an accident," Dr. King said.

IMC, SUPPLIER of basic fertilizer materials, sees the new power equipment as a factor in attracting more homeowners to the pleasures of developing and maintaining a beautiful lawn.

The IMC expert said advances in all areas of gardening, equipment and materials, from power equipment to new plant foods and weed controls are helping Americans have better lawns and ornamental plants and also helping to free them for more summer recreational activities.

For homeowners who will be using power - driven lawn and garden equipment this year, Dr. King urges they use the following checklist to avoid accident hazards:

1. Inspect the yard for stones, wire sticks and other debris before using any power equipment.
2. Learn how to operate the machine by reading the instruction book carefully.
3. ALWAYS disconnect the spark plug wire or electrical plug when repairing the machine.
4. Allow space in the tank for fuel expansion. Never refuel when the engine is hot.
5. Keep children and pets away from the machine and work area. Some machines can hurl stones considerable distances.
6. Stop the machine whenever you leave it. (Children are quick to try to operate an unattended machine. Don't give them a chance!)
7. Never allow children to operate a machine.
8. NEVER operate a mower barefoot. Wear safe shoes and protect your legs.
9. Stand firmly behind the mower and stay in step. Do not run machine too fast.
10. Never try to remove clogged grass clippings or other debris while the mower is running. (14BB

The Navy Department in Washington has announced an incentive program to encourage the reenlistment of navy men who have returned to civilian life.

FERTILIZES lawns with a complete fertilizer (10-3-7)

KILLS Dandelion, Burdock, Buckhorn, Nettle, Mustard, Pigweed, Plantain, Ragweed, Sow Thistle and others

DIFFERENT from other "Weed and Feeds" because it is formulated with a true lawn fertilizer containing full 10 units of nitrogen —yet costs no more than other competitive products

"I REMEMBER" BY The Old Timers

From Mrs. Nina Bell Simms, Miamisburg, Ohio: I would like to turn back the pages of time, maybe sixty years or more, to an old fashioned Christmas on the farm, and stomp snow from my feet at the kitchen door. The oil lamps clean and sparkling with reflectors to throw the light, cause everything at that time must be burnished, polished and bright.

Christmas Eve and Christmas Day were the climax of great preparations. It took an entire month to get ready for the celebrations. The schoolhouse had to be decorated, the entertainment planned, sheets brought from home for the entire stage to be spanned.

Christmas Eve at the school was really packed, everyone came to see the show. We never worried, that they would come, there was no place else to go. Our Christmas tree at school was really a work of art, so each knew just what to bring, teacher would write things on a chart. Each bring ten yards of popcorn; if you have it, some tinsel too; if not, bring four bright balls and stars, or stars cut from can lids will do. We tied the popcorn strings together and draped them on the tree, with tinsel, bright balls and stars, it was a beautiful sight to see.

At home it was much the same story, at night we were busy as bees. We must have strung miles of popcorn, to take care of both Christmas trees.

Round Table: What Hope for Commuters? • Great Fishing Around the World
We Need More Bicycle Paths BY PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, M.D.

First on the Atlantic . . . First on the Pacific . . . First in Latin America . . . First 'Round the World

That wonderful Pan Am feeling

It's a feeling reserved for travelers who choose Pan Am.

Wherever they go—Europe, Africa, the Caribbean, Central or South America, Asia, throughout the Pacific or 'Round the World—they feel better because they're flying Pan Am. No wonder. Pan Am is the World's Most Experienced Airline.

Pan Am's Experience means more to them—and to you—than all that we or anyone else can offer you on a Jet trip.

It means more than the convenience of hundreds of Pan Am flights linking major U.S. cities with the world, more than cuisine by Maxim's of Paris and matchless cabin service.

It goes much deeper than the fact that Pan Am's flight and maintenance crews are trained to U.S. standards, highest in the world.

It goes far beyond the fact that Pan Am can be your home away from home, where you can get travel help —and get it in English—in 900 offices throughout the world.

It has everything to do with your frame of mind—the sure feeling that's yours when you know that you've chosen to fly the very best there is: the World's Most Experienced Airline.

PAN AM

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

Hope for Commuters? . . . page 8

Part of the price of living in the peaceful suburbs is the not-so-peaceful task of getting to work and home again. For this month's Round Table we asked the editors of suburban papers across the country how their communities were handling the commutation problem. See how their answers size up with the progress in your town.

Go—on Bicycle Paths . . . page 13

Dr. Paul Dudley White, who runs a one-man campaign to get the nation on two wheels, tells why he loves the simple sport of cycling and why he wants to build more paths to make it safe for others to enjoy. (Watch out, he'll sell you on the idea, and you'll want a bicycle under the Christmas tree, too.)

Fishing in a Big Way . . . page 20

The next time your wife groans when you mention a fishing trip—here's a shock device that will get her packing to go in minutes. Promise her a cruise to New Zealand, stopping in on Hawaii, Tahiti, and Samoa; or a romantic jaunt to Bolivia (Lake Titicaca) or the Irish glens. That's where the big ones are, according to a champion who has seen 30-lb. rainbows down under.

Gardening One-upmanship . . . page 28

It's June, time for some good healthy gardening. Healthy, perhaps, but relaxing, no, because likely your sly neighbor will be out to grow a better garden than yours, that will boil your All-American marrow. Take heart. We're on your side and have prepared a blow-by-subtle-blow guide to victory.

On the Cover

Artist Don Higgins shows Dad attempting to have a man-to-man talk with his suddenly very adult offspring. (It was lots easier to get the multiplication table across, Dad thinks.) And how does Junior feel about this nature study? He wonders how he's going to get Dad straightened on a few essential points.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

LYRICISTS TAKE NOTE! Earle J. Grant of Doraville, Georgia, has seen a genuine "moonbow." "It's a rainbowlike arc formed in the mist of Cumberland Falls near Corwin, Kentucky," he says. "That's the only place in the United States where you can see it." And—an added romantic touch—it only appears on a full moon.

A small friend of ours from Flossmoor, Illinois, was busily typing a "thank you" letter to her grandmother the other day when her mother walked in.

"How are you doing, dear?" the girl was asked. "Fine, Mommy," answered our small friend. "But how do you make an excitement mark on the typewriter?"

Teen-age volunteers in Richfield, Minnesota, will save money for their town this summer by repainting the six concrete warming houses at the public skating rinks and the 14 wooden ones and by clearing a path around Wood Lake. The idea came to the Village Council when they discovered that it would cost $10,800 for the concrete houses alone, and now the kids in Richfield, who will be directed by the recreation department, are eager to get started. The Boy Scouts and the American Youth Hostel members are among those volunteering time and strength. As an added incentive (although these boys and girls don't seem to need one), Mayor Stanley W. Olson says that they might be given free tickets to the municipal swimming pool and to the major-league ball games played in nearby Bloomington.

How would you like to own a castle? Germany has about 15,000 of them to give away—free. Stephen Goerl of Bedford Hills, New York, has just returned with a report on one of them—Haus Horst, built in Rheydt on the lower Rhine in 1618 and now owned by the municipality, which can no longer afford repairs. In fact, this is the catch with all of them. You must pay for upkeep (no minor job with a castle that's 500 years old or more). But if you're game, write to Professor Hans Spiegel of the German Castles Society, Deutsche Burgenvereinigung, 5423 Braubach-on-Rhine, Marksburg, Germany, and he'll set you up with the real thing—turrets, a moat, and maybe even a ghost.

Anyone who has ever tried to lose 10 pounds would sympathize with Robert A. Platt of Lincolnwood, Illinois. Mr. Platt, however, has had literally tons of help in breaking the eating habit ever since he became a member of PLAY, INC., a nonprofit organization of fat men meeting every Tuesday night in Skokie. Through mass therapy the PLAYERS have been able to encourage one another to shake a total of 2,400 pounds in their first year, without pills, exercise, or starvation diets. Comparatively, Mr. Platt, who took the pledge at 181 pounds—he now weighs 178—is emaciated, and as the thinnest one in the group he has become a conversation piece. A baker who weighs in at 348 pounds claims he weighed more when he was born than Robert Platt does now, and a 237-pound process server says he has lost more than Platt weighs—which is perfectly true!

How's the diaper business? Hitting bottom.
How's the bakery business? Needs dough.
How's the beauty parlor business? Cut and dried.

Just in time for June comes this king-size romantic story from Anne Myers Allison of Oak Park, Illinois, about her former classmate, Mrs. Joseph Catalono. When Mrs. Catalono, a widow, went to a church conference for widows and widowers, she met a Mr. Frank Infanger with whom she found she had a lot in common. He had five children under 10 and as luck would have it, so did she. Soon wedding bells chimed and all 12 Infangers went house hunting in Oak Park, where they found a roomy Victorian house which had been waiting for a family such as theirs. So he sold his old house and she sold hers, and they moved into the new one and set up on a scale that would do credit to a small hotel. Mrs. Infanger, a cheery size-10 blonde, now cooks 24 eggs for breakfast in her roomy Victorian kitchen.

MERCURY . . . THE CAR THAT MADE THE STATION WAGON BEAUTIFUL

At one time you had to sacrifice beauty to gain the extra room in a wagon. Over the years, Mercury led the way in changing that. The room was kept, in fact increased (now 99.2 cu. ft. — just about the biggest there is). But Mercury knew that with most owners the station wagon is their only car. It has to do triple duty... as a family car, a "dress-up" car, and a cargo carrier. Mercury made it beautiful... luxurious inside. Just how beautiful you can see in the picture above. Pete is a 14-month-old squirrel monkey who lives in Glendale, Wisconsin, with his owners, Billy and Johnny Reicherts. Recently we heard about the boys being given a dice and checkers game which they love to play whenever they have a chance. Pete—who is out of his cage much of the time—always watched. Then one evening he disappeared and so did the game. They finally found him under the couch with the checkerboard in front of him, madly rolling the dice toward six checkers neatly arranged in a row. And so it went for 45 minutes—monkey see, monkey do. Pete knows how to turn the lights on, too.

You may have heard of the cure for insomnia in which you have some fresh lettuce or parsley and a cup of warm milk before you go to bed, and then you settle down to concentrate on the sounds of your own breathing. Presto—dreamland! But Mrs. P. B. Van Dyke of North Merrick, New York, uses more dramatic means. Putting her head calmly on the pillows, she closes her eyes and imagines a huge black wall. Then starting way up at the top (that's right, stretch), she pretends to paint on it very, very slowly a huge white "3." Thankfully, she admits, she never has to finish it because she's fast asleep before she gets to the bottom.

UPI.

Lafayette, in California's Bay Area, has doubts about its proposed rapid-transit system, however: "Many homes will eventually have to be vacated for track and stations." But the planning engineers in this area say that a freeway system with the same peak-load capacity would eat up four times as much land as the proposed rail system (1,360 acres as against 325), besides costing five times as much. A four-lane freeway occupies about 15 acres of ground per mile of road, not counting the extra space needed for interchanges and approaches. The city of San Francisco itself is thoroughly fed up with state-built freeways that have invaded its streets on huge elevated steel structures "while the shining city slept" and obstruct ("deface" is the local word) the view of many historic structures.

THE MOST PRACTICAL immediate relief for some of us appears to be in the direction of tax-supported rapid-transit radiating from the central city to suburban stations or the subsidizing of existing rail service where heavy local traffic to and from the city seems likely to continue. Elsewhere, especially where job locations are becoming widely scattered, the automobile will have to do the commuter hauling, along with buses.

For the future, some highly interesting prospects are almost within reach. These eventually may bring about great changes. Engineers are working on an automated highway, on which cars can be electronically controlled to move at high speeds without driver attention till they arrive at the side roads leading to their destination. Increased use of water courses, with hydro-foil-type high-speed vehicles, is another improvement to come. Our Highland Park publisher reports that the Chicago & North Western is already selling a summertime ticket which provides a boat ride on the Chicago River to enable east-of-the-Loop commuters to reach the station pleasantly. Helicopters and short-take-off planes will be cheaper and facilities for them more widely available. Upcoming, too, are ground-effect machines. They

WHAT HOPE

Edited by GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

TODAY'S COMMUTER has plenty of problems—a survey of conditions all over the country, made through local papers, leaves no doubt about that. The wonder perhaps is that we manage to get back and forth as well as we do.

The people who have it the best nowadays, by their own account, are the ones who are still riding the rails. Where the standard pattern of the 7:55 a.m.-5:25 p.m. surge to and from the city prevails, the towns which still have rail service are trying hard to hang on to it or to revive it where it has been discontinued. But rail service for commuters does not pay; railroads are in business to make money, which they do by hauling freight. So the railroads, with few exceptions, want "out" of the commuter business.

There are other problems for the rail commuter, too. Congestion at suburban stations is one; on the Boston and Philadelphia services the railroads are issuing park-and-ride tickets which help this problem—at a price. Getting to and from the station is another problem—usually it means a twice-a-day chauffeuring chore for the little woman, or a two-car family with Daddy parking his jalopy at the station all day. Then there is the trip to and from the office once a man is in the big city. Redwood City tells us the terminal in San Francisco averages so far from job locations that it often takes their commuters longer to get from station to office than to make the 27-mile rail journey.

Over all hangs the dark cloud of how to make the railroads go on losing money. This involves what one of our correspondents calls a deadly cycle: Poorer service, higher fares, declining patronage, still poorer service, and so on. Many bus companies appear to be in much the same spot.

The answer seems to be that if rail service is to keep the flow of commuters moving, it will have to be subsidized or wholly maintained, even newly built, by public funds. When faced with these costs, there has been much taxpayer resistance, notably in California but also around Washington, D.C., Atlanta, and Detroit, where large-scale rapid transit systems are being considered. In the Boston, Pittsburgh, and St. Louis metropolitan regions, some plans include making use of abandoned tracks and right of ways which are still available.

But even if adequate rail service were restored the trains couldn't provide all the answers now. With so many industries and offices moving out of the city, more and more people would be unable to get to work by taking a train direct from one point to another. They need their cars to fan out from home to the new places of business that are locating all over the countryside.

Finally, most Americans love automobiles and prefer to drive themselves to work if they can. Out of 56 publishers reporting from all over the country, two-thirds said that commuting by car was the method of choice in the towns they cover —and they speak for hundreds of thousands of commuters. Most often, it is one man to one car (have you ever driven into Detroit on Woodward Avenue on a weekday morning between 8 and 9?), so it's a twice-a-day "bump and grind," mile after fuming mile, to say nothing of the expense and trouble of arranging for all-day parking in the choked city. And while the volume of traffic grows, new road building lags well behind. Total motor-vehicle registration in the United States rose 50%, 1950 to 1960; mileage of surfaced roads rose only 33⅓%.

THE JAM-UPS are real, and they seem likely to continue. From Richfield, Minnesota, we hear that "heroic police work reduces a colossal problem to one that is merely tremendous" on a twice-a-day, five-days-a-week basis. Two cars per family is standard equipment in many places. Group riding, popular during wartime when gas was in short supply, is still used, but sparingly. Grayslake, Illinois, among other places, reports that groups of riders will sometimes buy a special car which they use just for commuting. From points as far apart as La Grange Park, Illinois, and Los Gatos, California, complaints are registered (presumably of feminine origin) that the strains and stresses of the daily struggle on the freeway result in increased martini consumption before dinner can be served.

Delays due to weather conditions are noted in many reports as adversely affecting commutation by car. From Buechel, Kentucky, we hear of "Operation Snow," a plan by the mayor of Louisville in which business firms stagger working hours during bad-weather periods, so no peak volume of traffic is reached during the day.

There is no one answer that fits all the situations, but when you get down to cases there are some bright spots.

Consider the two happy Barringtons—Rhode Island and Illinois. Barrington, Rhode Island, has good, fast motor roads to Providence, also waterways to the city which are open for use all through the fair-weather months, and a helicopter service is coming up for executives of a plant which has moved into the country. Barrington, Illinois, is on the Chicago & North Western, one of the few railroads which do a good job for commuters and still manage to break even, by using freight-hauling diesel locomotives for commuter service in between long-distance freight runs.

LA GRANGE PARK, ILLINOIS, speaks well of the Burlington's service; the Southern Pacific gets a pat on the back from Redwood City, California; and Somerville, New Jersey, has a love affair with the Jersey Central, which is shared by other communities along that line.

Many of the publishers we queried feel that new freeways are the best answer for their local jams, and certainly they will help absorb some of the pressure, especially as more employment opens up in the suburbs, making a more flexible pattern and reducing congestion on the road net that centers on the city. Yet from Shaker Heights, Ohio, which has a fine rapid-transit line right into downtown Cleveland, we hear that "all the eastern suburbs are now battling to prevent the building of unwanted, unneeded freeways by the county engineer, that would butcher the communities these freeways would profess to serve. We prefer our lakes, homes, and woodlands to concrete ribbons which are proposed just because Federal funds are available to take care of 90% of the cost."

move over land or water on a bubble of air, requiring no expensive right of ways.

But for right now, the commuter must ride the rails or ride the roads, and if he travels by car to a job in the city, he has to face the question of parking when he gets to town. For many, the twice-a-day rush hour remains part of the price of suburban living—and more and more seem willing to pay the price cheerfully and even to see the ante raised if that has to happen.

A famous doctor says

We Need More Bicycle Paths— Let's Go!

BY PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, M. D.
with Curtis Mitchell

Dr. White

OUR SOUL is in our brain — a fact to which our clergy and psychiatrists should pay more attention. Our brain is nourished by our heart and our active muscles. Bicycles are an answer for both brain and body. If more of us rode them, we would have a sharp reduction in the use of tranquilizers and sleeping pills.

As a physician, I have recommended cycling to many patients as a way of keeping fit, provided their condition is suitable and provided they can cycle safely. And I advise cycling for healthy people to help keep them healthy.

In the first place, it is an aid to good muscle tone, much needed by the American people today. It aids the circulation, and thereby the heart and its work, by keeping the blood moving.

It aids the lungs through good tone of the diaphragm and makes it easier to bring oxygen into the body and pump out carbon dioxide.

It aids the nerves by improving sleep and maintaining equanimity and sanity.

It aids our digestion and it may even protect against peptic ulcers provided we don't try to establish a new speed record every day.

It aids our weight control if, at the same time, we keep the caloric and fat content of our diet where they belong.

It probably aids our longevity (like any other healthful exercise) in reducing the amount of high blood pressure, coronary thrombosis, and diabetes which have engulfed us, although the certainty of this must be further determined by research.

And there are other benefits:

The bicycle costs little to own and operate. It can stand hard use. It requires no fuel. It can traverse all types of roads; if a road is blocked, the rider can walk and remount at the next clearing. Accidents are rare. And it saves acres of parking space, too.

Most important, I feel, is that the bicycle permits us to become acquainted again with the beauties of nature and with people. Though we get places fastest by airplane, it is a common experience that we see the least en route. But the bicycle, of all methods of transportation, gives us a chance to enjoy the countryside through which we ride and to meet its citizens.

I speak from personal experience. As a boy, I had a bicycle and used it in play and in going to school and doing errands. In those days, 50 or more years ago, there were few automobiles in the streets and cycling was relatively safe. As a freshman going to college, I used to ride my bicycle to Cambridge from where I lived in Roxbury and back again, a distance of five miles each way, and this was easy and practical. In later years, I took many bicycle trips with my wife in Europe, where they had developed much better facilities. This was especially true in Holland where we spent a week cycling around the country on paths both broad and narrow reserved entirely for cyclists.

Finally, in our personal experience, our family continues to ride bicycles, although more in the country where we have a small place at Harvard, Massachusetts, 35 miles outside Boston. During recent summers, my son and I have cycled around Martha's Vineyard. We put our bicycles on the train leaving Boston for Woods Hole, transport them across a short bit of water by boat to Vineyard Haven, and after a good night's sleep, we start off and cycle via Tisbury, Squibnocket, and Gay Head to Edgartown, where we spend the second night. One day's ride covers about 35 miles. It is easy and pleasant and because we are not accustomed to cycling very much, it leaves us pleasantly tired at the end of the day.

Which brings me to the vital issue. How do we get such trips? How can this wonderful means of transportation and exercise be made safe today and tomorrow?

OBVIOUSLY, we need many more bicycle paths. We need them in every town, in every park, municipal or national, and in every state. When my father was a young man, he and his friends once rode from Boston to Albany to New York and back to Boston, completing a triangular journey of hundreds of miles. It is impossible to conceive of such a trip today, with trucks and motorcars roaring along at 70 miles per hour. But a similar opportunity should be re-established, though on the less-traveled ways.

It can be done and it is being done in small beginnings in many places. A case in point is Homestead, Florida, where just one bicycle-riding couple became imbued with the idea of establishing safe routes through their town for exercise and

1. Put the chicken wing drums on rack on an aluminum foil-lined baking sheet or broiler pan; sprinkle with salt.

2. Mix remaining ingredients together thoroughly; brush sauce generously on wing drums.

3. Roast at 350°F about 1 hr., or until wing drums are golden brown and tender, turning and brushing the chicken pieces frequently with the sauce. Cool.

4. For easy toting to the picnic, pile appetizers into a casserole and cover. About 10 servings

HAM WITH CREAMY FROSTING

1 tablespoon cold water
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
1½ teaspoons unflavored gelatin
1½ cups dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon water
½ cup snipped water cress
Canned ham, chilled

2. Meanwhile, blend together the next four ingredients and a mixture of the dry mustard and ¼ teaspoon water.

3. Add dissolved gelatin gradually, stirring until thoroughly blended. Chill until mixture begins to gel (becomes slightly thicker). If chilled over ice and water, stir frequently; if chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally.

4. When gelatin mixture is of desired consistency, blend in the water cress thoroughly.

5. Spread frosting evenly over the sides and top of a canned ham. One frosted ham
(About 1¾ cups frosting)

Note: The ham may be frosted at home and kept chilled until time for the picnic, or the ham and frosting may be packed separately and the ham frosted just before serving.

BRINGING UP BABY,®
HINTS COLLECTED
BY MRS. DAN GERBER
MOTHER OF FIVE

who's an adventurer?

Your baby, of course. As you watch his progress you'll see how daring your darling can be... reaching, grabbing, pushing, pulling, rolling over, sitting up, "fourwalking," standing. Know any adult who has so many projects going?

Adventures in eating

According to a baby expert I know, babies in the 4-to-18-months group are more apt to be adventurous about trying new food varieties than those in the 2-to-3-year group. What better reason for serving a variety of Gerber taste delights to develop a future "gourmet"? And, if you rotate colors and kinds of food you really stimulate appetite interest.

Meat of the matter

Adventurers need plenty of get-up-and-grow foods. Protein foods, the big contributors to growth and strength. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are high in protein, also offer significant amounts of iron and B-vitamins. Made from special cuts selected by Armour, they're carefully processed to preserve true-meat flavors and insure a smooth, moist texture. Nine strained and seven junior meats, including Meat and Chicken Sticks.

P.S. For a rather nice change of taste, you might try mixing baby's meat with mashed potato. For a toddler, any junior meat added to a stuffed baked potato is marvelous.

Specialty Story

As a mother, it should be reassuring to know that your baby's meats are the result of the efforts of two specialists – Gerber, famous for fine baby foods and Armour, famous for fine meats. Together they developed an exclusive cooking method that makes these meats so gloriously good. Together Gerber and Armour experts control the quality during every step of processing.

ARMOUR

Up and at 'em

Once your baby gets the least bit mobile, assorted bumps, plops and bruises are unavoidable. Comfort is in order but it isn't wise to oversympathize. Being too protective may actually instill a fear of trying new adventures.

Variety review

Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods – infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods – to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Where in the World Are the BIG ONES?

The rainbows weighed 10 . . . 20 . . . 30 pounds—take an armchair trip with this truthful fisherman

BY CHARLES R. MEYER

THE WORLD is small now and the fish are big—just as it should be. And I believe any fisherman in his senses should contemplate fantastic prospects—the crystal rivers of New Zealand, Lake Titicaca, the misty Deeside—because these great fishing grounds, after all, are as near in time as our own north woods, and contemplation might very well end with a vaccination and a passport and a trip you'll never regret.

Where, for instance, would you go fishing?

I'd head for New Zealand as fast as a plane or one of the cruise ships will travel. You'll get there most quickly by jet, of course. On the other hand, consider the pleasures of the "slow-down" approach, sailing across the Pacific and stopping at Hawaii, Tahiti, and Samoa.

Zane Grey called New Zealand the angler's "El Dorado" when he explored the area years ago. Having just got back from a long fishing trip of my own, I know he was right—those rainbows and browns give you the best of all trout fishing.

The most popular angling area is Lake Taupo on North Island and nearby Rotorua. In a normal season, over five hundred tons of trout are taken from Taupo and its tributaries! The lake is 25 miles long and 17 miles at its widest point with a depth averaging about 400 to 500 feet. Draining into the waterway through scrub and brush are rivers like the Tongariro, famous for its beautiful and productive trout pools.

New Zealanders, nicknamed "Kiwis" after a flightless bird found in the country, troll deep in the lake and fly-cast the rivers. Four-pound fish are average; 20- and 30-pound rainbows are not unknown. I have seen a brown weighing 13 pounds, caught one tipping the scales at 10, and lost a few that might (and might not) have been bigger.

How do they grow so big? Perhaps the size of the fishing population is part of the answer. The Kiwi population, fewer than 2,000,000, makes little impression on fish inhabiting the countless waterways of a country covering over 100,000 square miles.

As an angler goes south, brown trout become more plentiful. In rivers like the Clinton and the Cleddau, where the waters run crystal clear, you can see them against the sandy beds. Quinnat salmon run in the streams from the Southern Alps to the Canterbury Plains—the Waimakariri, Hurunui, Rakaia, Rangitata, and Waitaki. The Atlantic salmon is confined to the Waiau River system with the best sport to be found at the outlets from Lakes Te Anau and Manapouri.

IT'S A GORGEOUS prospect, but you may not make the most of it your first time down under because there's a ski run in the Mt. Cook area that starts with an airplane ride and ends after a 15-mile run down the face of a glacier . . . a huge underground chamber at Waitomo that's dimly lit by the glow of a small worm called Arachnocampa luminosa . . . a waterfall in the Milford Sound region that cascades in great leaps in a two thousand-foot drop . . . a section in the Southern Alps with 27 peaks soaring over 10,000 feet . . . a golf course in almost every town and village . . . and horse and trotting races almost every day of the year.

Tasmania is 1,000 miles due east of Wellington, and once you're in the area, maybe you should go there. It's one of the most mountainous islands in the world, but much of the landscape bears a close resemblance to the English countryside, hawthorn hedges included. The lower Mersey River and Lake Crescent produce 15-pound trout annually. In this part of the world the big ones are all around you. You could do equally well, for that matter, in Australia, in the Snowy Mountain region of New South Wales.

For another great fishing trip I recommend Lake Titicaca — the Incas thought it was sacred, and to fishermen it should be. Lying to the west of La Paz, Bolivia, about three hours by car or train, it is the highest navigable body of water in the world and the largest lake on the continent. There are the ruins of lost civilizations moldering in the jungles round its shores, and in its depths you'll find 20- to 30-pound rainbows waiting.

Gordon's & Tonic: English invention for coping with the noonday sun.

A retired English colonel, vividly recalling the heat of India, created the first Gin & Tonic nearly 75 years ago. Did he use Gordon's? Undoubtedly. For Gordon's had already been a favoured English gin for over a century. Since then, gin-drinkers have found Gordon's & Tonic refreshing as a sun-downer, too. And they have found that Gordon's is the indispensable ingredient in a host of summer drinks, from Tom Collinses to Orange Blossoms. Not to mention the cocktail-for-all-seasons, the glorious Gordon's Martini. Hot enough for you? Tell the man "Gordon's", the biggest-selling gin in England, America, the world.

Since there are few insects at this high altitude, the trout show more preference for spoons and plugs than flies. Boats are available at the Bolivian Yacht Club at Huatajata; Indian reed craft at Tiquina Narrows or Copacabana. Breathing the thin high-country air at altitudes where the native Aymaran Indians have developed outsize lungs in order to survive, you may be content with trolling rather than wading the tributary streams.

For that matter, don't expect record fish in most of South America without considerable physical discomfort. Aside from isolated spots like Titicaca and such Chilean lakes as Villarrica or the San Pedro River, the best fishing is way off the beaten track. If you visit Argentina, by all means try the Nahuel Huapi Lake on the Andean border near Chile. The Llao-Llao Hotel runs a charter service, guaranteeing trout as well as an occasional salmon.

FINALLY, I DON'T KNOW ANY PLACE in the world where I'd rather fish than the British Isles. Perhaps it's the picturesque surroundings and creature comforts; perhaps the long and cherished tradition of sports and the out of doors. The old snobbery and waterway restrictions have largely been eliminated and the tourist-angler is welcomed now—really welcomed. You can take salmon in Scotland on the Tweed, Tay, Dee, Spey, and Helmsdale. In Wales, try the Wye, Usk, Welsh Dee, Dovey, Teifi, Clwyd or the Towy. Northern Ireland has the Claudy, Agivey, the feeders of the Lough Neagh such as the Main. The Glens of Antrim rivers have good runs.

Wherever you go fishing, make your plans for your vacation abroad well in advance so that you have reservations before arriving. Ask your travel agent and the government bureau for all the help you can get. Carry your own basic tackle since replacement parts and lures won't be easy to secure in some spots. As a last word of advice, when you start out on a foreign stream, stick a chocolate bar or a few sourballs in your fishing jacket. Time has a way of slipping by when the fish are rising or a red sunset lights up the sky on the rim of the horizon, and you may prefer to miss a few meals rather than leave. You might even need an energy bracer to help you land an enormous trout. I sincerely hope you do.

Obviously, your pool sanitizer should protect the kids against bacteria and algae. But that's not all it should do.

It should also leave an effective chlorine residual you can measure quickly with a simple test kit.

And, it should be cheap and simple to handle.

And, if the pH level is O.K., it should let you jump in a few minutes after you chlorinate, without irritating your eyes, your nose or your skin.

But, it shouldn't add any unpleasant taste, color or odor of its own. Or change the effect of other chemicals in the water. Or eat away at the pool finish, equipment or accessories.

There are pool sanitizers that come up to some of these standards.

But HTH,® Olin's sanitizer, makes the grade on all counts.

HTH is chlorine in dry form. It's delivered to your door in a 100-lb. steel drum.

(It can't break, spill, leak or stain.)

One phone call to your pool supply dealer (he's listed in the Yellow Pages) at the beginning of the season takes care of all your chlorine shopping for the whole year.

glass or paper lanterns give a lovely light, as Edna St. Vincent Millay remarked. Lights attract insects, it is true, but if you use the kerosene lamps, add a teaspoonful of citronella to each oil tank in order to repel mosquitoes and other insects as the oil burns.

If you plan for more than a few outdoor lights, whether temporary or permanent, it is, of course, wise to consult your electrician about the advisability of a circuit separate from your house panel. But don't call him till you've made your experiments with degrees of light, with placing, and with equipment, and discovered how to display grounds and garden for the best effect.

Three Quick Tricks in Outdoor Lighting

PROBABLY even in Roman times outdoor lighting was old stuff—witness the sculptured alabaster head with a lamp inside that an archaeologist dug up in a Pompeian garden. What is new today, however, is the way we are using lights to create moods of peace, of drama, of excitement. We pick out a good feature and highlight it, sometimes using colored light to enhance the effect. We see our way clear after dark, thanks to lighted terraces, steps, and walks, and we improve the cool night hours with good lights on croquet lawns and shuffleboard beds. There's the right light for every purpose, and here are three tips to help you get started:

1. Avoid "Hot Spots": A series of widely spaced brilliant lights can be very trying to the eyes. A big hot glare of light (if used head-on) may flatten out your picture. It is better to use lamps of varying intensity, sidelighting the features —bright on one side, soft on the other— to bring out modelling and to give depth to the composition with a subtle play of light and shadow. Don't attempt to simulate daylight. Half the charm of night lighting lies in contrasting the statue, the irregular tree, the flower bed, with the mystery of the darkness beyond it.

Conceal light sources as much as possible, placing lamps high in trees, on poles, in boxes on or below ground, or behind shrubbery in planting beds, or use indirect lighting, often most effective of all. Try a weatherproof fluorescent light fixture or a series of small spotlights trained on the base of a wall or fence. Lamps are concealed by day by the shrubbery; at night the plants are silhouetted against the glow on the wall. Garden pools can gleam softly at night with waterproof underwater lights enhancing water lilies and other aquatic plants.

2. Place Your Lights Carefully: Experiment first with portable lamps to be sure the effects are right before you make the lighting permanent. Steps, walks, low flower beds, and other plantings are best illuminated below eye level. Any of the wide-shaded or "mushroom" lights are good for this purpose, using only a 25- or 50-watt bulb. Recessed lighting units can be set into walls of houses or set into risers for ground-level lighting of paths, steps, etc.

For general illumination, use floodlights. A new sort recently introduced has a well-designed housing with a plastic diffuser; it fits on poles or it can be mounted on buildings or clamped on pipes. It can be used at terrace level. The other type of outdoor floodlight most frequently used is a 150-watt bulb which screws into a weatherproof outdoor housing. Placed 10 to 20 feet above ground, the light should be concealed in a tree or mounted on a high pole or pipe. A clamp-on louvered shield will protect the eyes of persons below and reduce the glare in the lighted area. Use floodlights to pick out a picturesque tree or shrub or to bring out a good architectural feature; for this purpose colored 100-watt spotlight bulbs are often effective. Be careful to set lamps at least a foot away from evergreens or other plants, otherwise the heat the light generates could injure leaves and branches.

3. Take Advantage of the Novelties: Generally white light is best for bringing out nature's colors, but subtleties can be obtained by the use of colored light. A green or blue-green light on lawns or shrubs enables a gardener to catch up on neglected work or to do chores in the cool of evening hours. Clip-on portables will allow you to experiment with different effects or to move lights to bring out each particular treasure as the season advances. You can use strings of outdoor Christmas lights to provide a gay party atmosphere any time, using all one color or mixing lights in confetti fashion. White strings give a soft illumination, while yellow ones strung among trees and high shrubs produce a starry brilliance that is most pleasant to see.

Kerosene-burning lamps on poles which can be set in the lawn give a lovely, soft flickering glow and can be moved at will. They can be bought in garden centers and you can also make your own holders— ask for a free pattern in the sheet-aluminum section of your hardware store. Don't save these party cottons just for big evenings, either—splurge, and wear them for your family, too. Just the right thing for dishing up the ice cream at an important five-year-old's birthday party, for instance, and he'll be so pleased to have you all dressed up for him.

higher than your neighbor's? This is the total of all fruits, vegetables, herbs, and nuts that you raise in a year. As surprising as it may seem, there are still neighborhoods in this country where a peck of tomatoes counts more than a variegated tuberous-root begonia.

You can keep careful notes and arrive at a total annual yield, but a more effective method of scoring high on GNP is to give boxes, baskets, and bowls of your garden produce to neighbors.

This warmhearted gesture lets them know that you're thinking of them and that what you're thinking is that they couldn't raise an edible carrot on a bet.

If you intend to dominate—and you do—you can't afford to neglect the battle for the birds which is raging in neighborhoods across the country. The grim fact is that there are just so many birds in this world, and every one your neighbor has is one you have not.

Feathering Your Nest

There is an effective bird-winning technique, but it should be used only in desperation. It requires some electrical conduit and a little work.

Install two electrodes in some soft, lush spot in the lawn or garden, and hook them up to a switch in the house. Then invite the neighbors over for a cookout.

An hour before they arrive, flip the switch, and when the first guests show, turn the electrodes off. By that time, you will have galvanized all the worms to the surface, and you'll have so many birds descending on this crawly feast that the neighbors will not only be impressed, they'll lose their appetites and save you a lot of hamburger money.

So much for the major battles. Once you have mechanized the tool shed, excelled in the war of words over chemicals, raised your gross natural product (and won credit for this yield with effective propaganda), and enticed all the local birds, then you will probably be envied and/or admired by all the neighbors, regardless of how your lot actually looks.

How to Stay on Top

Be prepared, though, to drop everything to meet an unexpected challenge, however small. For example, one small but important contest is the camouflage of garbage cans. The garbage man spent three minutes searching for our neighbor's cans, according to Joan, the nonautomatic sprinkler and wife at our house, and I knew we were in trouble: our cans were still faintly visible, on clear winter days, behind a screen of yew and forsythia. At the risk of bragging, I can report that before dawn the next morning I had bought and installed an in-the-ground can with a green lid.

As you parry and thrust, keep calm. Try to appear relaxed at all times. In fact, resolve to take a day or two each summer to be relaxed.

After all, the real purpose of lawn and garden puttering is your own leisure-time enjoyment. The rest of life may be demanding and frustrating, one long series of thwarted hopes.

When you garden, however, forget the rest of life, the frustrations and defeats; when you garden, win, and you'll really enjoy it.

There's a stowaway in the new KitchenAid dishwasher

It's a box of Calgonite® dishwasher detergent. Try it—it's free. Know how that Calgonite gets inside? The KitchenAid people pack stowaway sample boxes of Calgonite in all their 1964 dishwashers because they're sure you'll want your new dishwasher ready to go as soon as it's installed. And they're certain you'll like the combination of Calgonite and KitchenAid for sparkling clean glassware and china. KitchenAid has been recommending Calgonite for years.

When You Garden,

How to make yourself the envy and

"LIFE HAS BECOME so competitive," our next-door neighbor sighed. "You struggle and strain to get ahead in your job, to buy everything that everybody else thinks you should have. You worry about who's ahead in the space race, the education race, the political race, and the National League. It's hell. But when you get to scruff around in your own lawn and garden, your whole outlook changes."

Smart man, our neighbor. But not quite smart enough. If he thinks a cheap trick like that is going to throw us off guard, he's mistaken, as he'll soon learn when he finds that we've wedged an herb garden between our rose garden and perennial bed while he was away for the weekend.

You have to stay on your toes every minute to keep the jump on your fellow gardeners. You have to sleep with one eye open and your trowel close by.

The Technological Race

Some homeowners imagine, when they step outside with a 15-year-old lawn rake or a hose with friction tape over the leaks, that contemptuous gazes are fixed on their shoddy equipment from behind curtains and pfitzer clumps throughout the neighborhood. They're right.

They are being snickered at because they have fallen behind in the escalating house-to-house competition in lawn and garden technology. Pitchforks and sickles may have frightened a few British regulars at Concord Bridge, but they're no match for a neighbor with a self-propelled four-horsepower rotary mower with a grass catcher and a leaf mulcher.

Spraying the hydrangea on a Saturday morning with a window-cleaner bottle is just as damaging to your rank and stature as having bagworms in your saplings or chinch bugs in your vetch.

What complicates this struggle for prestige is the unwritten law that you never buy a piece of equipment that is identical to one that your neighbor already owns. You have to leapfrog. They get a power mower; you get a self-propelled power mower; they get a sit-down mower with a 24-inch blade; you get a small tractor with a gang mower. If they get a goat, you may have to move away, but the other neighbors will know that you won.

Keeping Up Appearances

If you have a flair for the dramatic and are willing to take a chance, try showing up with a hypodermic needle ("it kills ragweed painlessly") or mention that you've developed a new insecticide from common household products such as table salt, corn starch, powdered gelatin, ammonia, and carbon tetrachloride or that you're using a spraying mixture enriched with heavy hydrogen, so that the weeds will grow upside-down and never reach the surface. The risk is that one of the neighbors who has studied a little chemistry might cause an ugly scene.

How's Your GNP?

But don't let chemical warfare take up all your time. There are other battles to be waged. How do you stand in the production race, for example?

Is your gross natural product

enjoyment. After discussing it with several neighbors, they formed a small committee. Next, they enlisted the aid of the city administration and business, school, and civic groups. With this support, they went directly to the public, asking for the establishment of marked bikeways.

When they brought the matter before the town government, it was approved. Engineers and traffic experts laid out bikeways and 300 large blue-and-white metal markers were installed. The total cost was $1,000, raised by subscription, candy sales, and carnivals.

When the routes were confirmed, maps were printed and given to every school child, along with literature on safe riding and rules of the road. It was my pleasure to assist last year in opening the Homestead Bikeways and to bicycle through the town accompanied by scores of other enthusiastic cyclists.

Is the project a success? Is Homestead satisfied?

I am told that the parents of younger bicyclists now enjoy a peace of mind they have never known. More students are riding to school because the bikeway has become the best and quickest way to travel. Mothers like it because they are relieved of the burden of serving as family chauffeur. Fathers like it because they save money on oil and gas and tires. Given the choice of driving or biking to a shopping center, adults are using bikes more because they have discovered that it can be a safe and comfortable way to travel.

A SIMILAR PROGRAM can be introduced anywhere. All it takes for a starter is a dedicated person or an enthusiastic couple who enjoy riding. In Holyoke, Massachusetts, I am glad to say, young and old are using the new Healthway Bicycle Paths recently laid out around the reservoir. Chicago has opened 36 different bicycle paths along its famous lake shore, and Boston has granted a sidewalk bike path to Cambridge along the Charles River.

If cycling can be fully restored to the daily life of all Americans, it can become a vital step toward rebuilding health and vigor in all of us for the important days ahead.

Let us bequeath our children more than the gadgets that surround us. The bicycle alone will not do this, but it can become a symbol of the red-blooded vigor, personal independence, and healthy mind in a healthy body that are so much needed in our beloved country today.

Handsome as a car

Useful as a truck

The broad appeal of Chevrolet El Camino

How often have you loaded something into your car wishing you had a truck?

Or how often have you been caught short for personal transportation with only a commercial vehicle handy, which you were reluctant to use?

There's no question about it. There was a very definite need for Chevrolet El Camino—the beautiful double purpose pickup with the Fisher Body. The way El Caminos are being ordered now is further confirmation that their beauty and usefulness are needed by all sorts of families and businesses.

As you can see, El Camino is so handsome you can drive it anywhere, any time, on any occasion. And at the same time, it's strong enough to handle up to 1,200 lbs. of payload.

You can order El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish. Some of its extra-cost options are bucket seats, 4-speed transmission, air conditioning, power windows, tinted glass, transistorized radio and a 250-hp V8 engine. . . .
